Perspectives Anthropology:

Perspectives Nina Brown, Thomas Forsyth McIlwraith, Laura Tubelle de González, 2020 This textbook is a collection of chapters on the essential topics in cultural anthropology Different from other introductory textbooks this book is an edited volume with each chapter written by a different author Each author has written from their experiences working as an anthropologist and that personal touch makes for an accessible introduction to cultural anthropology The authors approach to cultural anthropology is holistic They see the interconnectedness of cultural practices and in all of the chapters they emphasize the comparison of cultures and the ways of life of different peoples BCcampus website Perspectives Nina Brown, Laura Tubelle de Gonzalez, Thomas McIlwraith, 2018-04-13 This textbook is a collection of chapters on the essential topics in cultural anthropology Different from other introductory textbooks this book is an edited volume with each chapter written by a different author Each author has written from their experiences working as an anthropologist and that personal touch makes for an accessible introduction to cultural anthropology BC Campus website Perspectives Nina Brown, Thomas McIlwraith, Laura Tubelle de González, 2019-12-20 Welcome to the second edition of Perspectives and Open Access Anthropology An electronic version of this textbook is available free of charge at the Society for Anthropology in Community Colleges webpage here <http://perspectives.americananthro.org> Perspectives Nina Brown, Laura Gonzalez, Thomas McIlwraith, 2017 Marxist Perspectives in Archaeology Matthew Spriggs, 1984-02-23 Marxist theory has been an undercurrent in western social science since the late nineteenth century It came into prominence in the social sciences in the 1960s and 1970s and has had a profound effect on history sociology and anthropology This book represents an attempt to gather together Marxist perspectives in archaeology and to examine whether indeed they represent advances in archaeological theory The papers in this volume look forward to the growing use of Marxist theory by archaeologists as well as enriching archaeology as a discipline they have important implications for sociology and anthropology through the addition of a long term historical perspective This is a book primarily for undergraduates and research students and their teachers in departments of archaeology and anthropology but it should also be of interest to historians sociologists and geographers Perspectives in Cultural Anthropology Herbert A. Applebaum, 1987-01-01 Designed as a reader for courses this anthology presents an array of theories and interpretations in the field of modern cultural anthropology It provides a deeper understanding of the major theoretical orientations which have historically guided and currently guide anthropological research Made to Be Seen Marcus Banks, Jay Ruby, 2012-08-01 Made to be Seen brings together leading scholars of visual anthropology to examine the historical development of this multifaceted and growing field Expanding the definition of visual anthropology beyond more limited notions the contributors to Made to be Seen reflect on the role of the visual in all areas of life Different essays critically examine a range of topics art dress and body adornment photography the built environment digital forms of visual anthropology indigenous media the body as a cultural phenomenon the relationship between experimental and ethnographic film and more The first attempt to present a comprehensive overview of the many aspects of an anthropological approach to the study of visual and pictorial culture Made to be Seen will be the standard reference on the subject for years to come Students and scholars in anthropology sociology visual studies and cultural studies will greatly benefit from this pioneering look at the way the visual is inextricably threaded through most if not all areas of human activity      Perspectives In U.s. Marxist Anthropology David J. Hakken,Hanna Lessinger,1987-07-08

Anthropological Perspectives on Technology Michael B. Schiffer,2001 These fourteen original essays accept a dual premise technology pervades and is embedded in all human activities By taking that approach studies of technology address two questions central in anthropological and archaeological research today accounting for variability and change These diverse yet interrelated chapters show that to understand human lives researchers must deal with the material world that all peoples create and inhabit Therefore an anthropology of technology is not a separate discrete inquiry instead it is a way to connect how people make and use things to any activity studied ranging from religion to enculturation to communication to art Each contributor discusses theories and methods and also offers a substantial case study These detailed inquiries span human societies from the Paleolithic to the computer age By moving beyond the usual approach of examining ancient technologies particularly chipped stone and low fired ceramics this volume probes for the construction of meaning in the material world across millennia The authors of these essays find technology to be an inclusive and flexible topic that merges with studies of everything else in human activity A provocative and powerful discussion of the role of technology in human cultures At a time when archaeology has become less focused on theory and archaeology and social anthropology seem to fracture farther and farther apart the book is a breath of fresh air Professor John Douglas University of Montana      Human Diet and Nutrition in Biocultural Perspective Tina Moffat,Tracy Prowse,2010-12-01 There are not many areas that are more rooted in both the biological and social cultural aspects of humankind than diet and nutrition Throughout human history nutrition has been shaped by political economic and cultural forces and in turn access to food and nutrition has altered the course and direction of human societies Using a biocultural approach the contributors to this volume investigate the ways in which food is both an essential resource fundamental to human health and an expression of human culture and society The chapters deal with aspects of diet and human nutrition through space and time and span prehistoric historic and contemporary societies spread over various geographical regions including Europe North America Africa and Asia to highlight how biology and culture are inextricably linked      Global Perspectives on Soft Power Management in Business Kankaew, Kannapat,2023-10-09 Global Perspectives on Soft Power Management in Business provides a comprehensive exploration of the impactful role of soft power in influencing socio economic dynamics In today s interconnected world soft power drives economic growth through the dissemination of beliefs cultures shared norms and popular trends creating a country s brand image This edited volume brings together scholars from diverse academic backgrounds to objectively discuss and analyze the sustainable management design thinking and integration of soft power. The book delves into the pros and cons of soft power impact, explores soft power knowledge management in different industries, examines soft power marketing and presentation strategies, and investigates the relationship between technology and soft power. Moreover, it emphasizes that success in the global marketplace is not solely reliant on technological advancements but also on the added value of products through sophisticated services, a concept encompassed by soft power. This book proves invaluable to undergraduate and graduate students studying business, cultural, and hospitality management, as well as professionals in public and private organizations, universities, professors, and lecturers, policy makers, and those in the film and music industry.

Dental Perspectives on Human Evolution Shara E. Bailey, Jean-Jacques Hublin, 2007-09-26
 S E BAILEY Department of Human Evolution Max Planck Institute for Evolutionary Anthropology Deutscher Platz 6 D 04103 Leipzig Germany and Center for the Study of Human Origins Department of Anthropology New York University 25 Waverly Place New York NY 10003 USA sbailey@nyu.edu
 J J HUBLIN Department of Human Evolution Max Planck Institute for Evolutionary Anthropology Deutscher Platz 6 D 04103 Leipzig Germany hublin@eva.mpg.de

When faced with choosing a topic to focus on, teeth represent by far the most abundant biological material documenting different species of hominins. In Human Evolution at the Max Planck Institute for Evolutionary Anthropology, Leipzig, a paleoanthropological perspective on human primate and hominin evolution is based on dental anthropology, a natural choice. Teeth make up a disproportionate number of fossils discovered. They represent physical anthropology's most strongly mineralized organs of compact shape and thus allow better preservation in geological information about humans including deposits and archaeological sites than any cultural treatment, pathology, morphological, or other part of the skeleton. As a result, variation and development of teeth since the discoveries of the first fossils of culturally induced wear, toothpick grooves, in extinct species of vertebrate paleontology has for example reveals something about what been built primarily on analyses of teeth.

Shifting Perspectives in Tribal Studies Maguni Charan Behera, 2019-06-25
 This book brings together multidisciplinary desirability and possibility of consilience of borderline studies which are topically diverse and methodologically innovative. It includes contemporary tribal issues within anthropology and other disciplines. In addition, the chapters underline the analytical sophistication, theoretical soundness, and empirical grounding in the area of emerging core perspectives in tribal studies. The volume alludes to the emergence of tribal studies as an independent academic discipline of its own rights. It offers the opportunity to consider the entire intellectual enterprise of understanding disciplinary and interdisciplinary dualism to move beyond interdisciplinarity of the science/humanities divide and to conceptualise a core of theoretical perspectives in tribal studies. The book proves an indispensable reference point for those interested in studying tribes in general and who are engaged in the process of developing tribal studies as a discipline in particular.

Social

Science and Historical Perspectives Jack David Eller, 2016-10-04 This accessible book introduces the story of social science with coverage of history politics economics sociology psychology anthropology and geography Key questions include How and why did the social sciences originate and differentiate How are they related to older traditions that have defined Western civilization What is the unique perspective or way of knowing of each social science What are the challenges and alternatives to the social sciences as they stand in the twenty first century Eller explains the origin evolution methods and the main figures literature concepts and theories in each discipline The chapters also feature a range of contemporary examples with consideration given to how the disciplines address present day issues

A History of Anthropological Theory Paul A. Erickson, Liam Donat Murphy, 2008-01-01 This overview of the history of anthropological theory provides a comprehensive history from antiquity through to the twenty first century with a focus on the twentieth century and beyond Unlike other volumes it also offers a four field introduction to theory As a stand alone text or used in conjunction with the companion volume Readings for a History of Anthropological Theory Erickson and Murphy offer a comprehensive affordable and contemporary introduction to anthropological theory The third edition has been updated and fully revised throughout to closely parallel the presentation in the companion reader making it easier to use both books in tandem New original essays by contemporary theorists bring theories to life and portraits of important theorists make it a handsome volume Sources and suggested readings have been updated and glossary definitions have been updated streamlined and standardized

Perspectives on Africa Roy Richard Grinker, Stephen C. Lubkemann, Christopher B. Steiner, 2010-05-17 The second edition of Perspectives on Africa A Reader in Culture History and Representation is both an introduction to the cultures of Africa and a history of the interpretations of those cultures Key essays explore the major issues and debates through a combination of classic articles and the newest research in the field Explores the dynamic processes by and through which scholars have described and understood African history and culture Includes selections from anthropologists historians philosophers and critics who collectively reveal the interpenetration of ideas and concepts within and across disciplines regions and historical periods Offers a combined focus on ethnography and theory giving students the means to link theory with data and perspective with practice Newly revised and updated edition of this popular text with 14 brand new chapters and two new sections Conflict and Violent Transformations and Development Governance and Globalization

Educational Histories of European Social Anthropology Dorle Dracklé, Iain R. Edgar, Thomas K. Schippers, 2003 Aimed at professional anthropologists their students and academic policy makers the contributions to this volume provide an unprecedented array of insights into the current teaching and learning of social anthropology across Europe With case studies from eighteen different countries this volume presents a rich panorama of local histories contexts and experiences which are essential contributions to current debates on the role and significance of anthropology in an era of converging Higher Education policies More practically the volume offers teachers and students the possibility of developing international exchanges supported by a previously unobtainable knowledge of institutional histories and differing local contexts      Biosocial Perspectives on Children Catherine Panter-Brick, 1998-04-30 Childhood is a uniquely human life stage and is both a biological phenomenon and a social construct Research on children is currently of wide ranging interest This book presents reviews of childhood from four major areas of interest human evolution sociology social anthropology bio medical anthropology and developmental psychology to form a biosocial cross cultural understanding of childhood The book places a strong emphasis on how childhood varies from culture to culture offering examples from developed and developing countries as well as from other animal species It will be of interest to students and scholars within the fields of human biology anthropology sociology health studies and developmental psychology      Public Theology Perspectives on Religion and Education Manfred L. Pirner, Johannes Lahnemann, Werner Haussmann, Susanne Schwarz, 2019-01-23 In order to draw out the relationship between publicly oriented Christianity and education this book demonstrates that education is an important method and prerequisite of public theology as well as an urgent object of public theology research's attention Featuring work from diverse academic disciplines including religion education theology philosophy and religious studies this edited collection also contends with the educational challenges that come with the decline of religion on the one hand and its transformation and regained public relevance on the other Taken together the contributions to this volume provide a comprehensive argument for why education deserves systematic attention in the context of public theology discourse and vice versa      Anthropology Phillip Whitten, 2001 This collection of short readings on all aspects of anthropology conveys the excitement and relevance of contemporary anthropology This book organizes readings around the major subdisciplines within anthropology biological anthropology cultural anthropology archaeology and language and communication making it easy to notice trends and themes For anyone with an interest in anthropology
