Abstract

Violent conflicts involving non-State armed groups challenge conventional perceptions of war and armed conflict. Criminal enterprises (transnational organized criminal groups including gangs and cartels) are involved in violent competition for both profit and territorial control in many parts of the world. This paper examines the situation in Mexico and Brazil as case studies to assess the legal challenges to criminal armed violence when criminal groups battle among themselves and the State. The paper focuses on the operational challenges and considerations facing police, military, and security forces and justice institutions to illuminate the legal challenges.

Keywords: criminal armed groups, non-State armed groups, crime wars, criminal insurgencies, non-international armed conflicts.

Perspectives on Armed Politics in Brazil Henry H. Keith, Robert Ames Hayes, 1976 Perspectives on Armed Politics in Brazil Henry Keith, Robert Hayes, 1976-01-01 The Military in South American Politics George Philip, 2024-10-31 First published in 1985 The Military in South American Politics analyses the nature of military involvement in politics in Latin America The author presents many original arguments in the course of his discussion of the key issues These include the civil military system whereby the military exert power and influence even when they are not in government how this system and also military professionalism have developed over time how the corporatist ethic of South America military differs from the partisan ethic of the military in Central American and Caribbean countries and the consequences of this how there are different types of coups how the military find it difficult to disengage how the military often intervene to exercise the principle of guardianship in order to preserve the fabric of society and economy which in South America are remarkably stable despite the many coups Throughout the author draws on examples from all Latin American countries from the middle of the nineteenth century onwards and summarises the existing literature to support his rich and convincing arguments The book concludes with a summary of the arguments and with a discussion of trends and the prospects for real democratisation It is a must read for students and researchers of Latin American politics and military studies Fear and Memory in the Brazilian Army and Society, 1889-1954 Shawn C. Smallman, 2003-04-03 For more than half a century the Brazilian army used fear and censorship to erase aspects of its history from public memory and to create its own political myths Although the military had remarkable success in promoting its version of events recent democratization has allowed scholars access to new materials with which to challenge the official story Drawing on oral histories secret police documents memoirs of dissident officers army records and other sources only recently made available Shawn Smallman crafts a compelling revisionist interpretation of Brazil's political history from 1889 to 1954 Smallman examines the topics the Brazilian military wished to obscure racial politics and terror campaigns institutional corruption and civil military alliances political torture and personal rivalries to understand the army's growing involvement in civilian affairs Among the myths he confronts are the military's idealized rendition of its racial policies and its portrayal of itself as above the corruption associated with politicians His account not only illuminates the origins of the military government's repressive and often brutal actions during the 1960s and 1970s but also carries implications for contemporary Brazil as the armed forces debate their role in a democratic country Public Administration, Sixth Edition, A Comparative Perspective. Ferrel Heady, 2001-02-13 Continuing in the standard of excellence set by previous editions this sixth edition assesses the bureaucracies and development of governments around the world providing helpful and revealing analyses of the relationships between bureaucracies and political regimes With over 1000 literature references tables and drawings the book has been updated to reflect changes in the political systems of the former Soviet Union Eastern Europe and the developing world The editor clearly articulates recent developments in the facilitating industrialization than others An answer to this question is developed by focusing both on patterns of state construction and intervention aimed at promoting industrialization Four countries are analyzed in detail South Korea Brazil India and Nigeria over the twentieth century The states in these countries varied from cohesive capitalist mainly in Korea through fragmented multiclass mainly in India to neo patrimonial mainly in Nigeria It is argued that cohesive capitalist states have been most effective at promoting industrialization and neo patrimonial states the least The performance of fragmented multiclass states falls somewhere in the middle After explaining in detail as to why this should be so the study traces the origins of these different state types historically emphasizing the role of different types of colonialisms in the process of state construction in the developing world

US Army Military History Institute, Claude C. Sturgill, 1986

Soldiers of the Pátria Frank D. McCann, 2004 This book provides an authoritative history of the Brazilian army from the army's overthrow of the monarchy in 1889 to its support of the coup that established Brazil's first civilian dictatorship in 1937 The period between these two events laid the political foundations of modern Brazil a period in which the army served as the core institution of an expanding and modernizing Brazilian state The book is based on detailed research in Brazilian British American and French archives and on numerous interviews with surviving military and civilian leaders It also makes extensive use of hitherto unused internal army documents as well as of private correspondence and diaries It is thus able to shed new light on the army's personnel and ethos on its ties with civilian elites on the consequences of military professionalization and on how the army reinvented itself after the collapse of its command structure in the crisis of 1930 a reinvention that allowed the army to become the backbone of the post 1937 dictatorship of Getulio Vargas

Ideas and Armaments David M. Schwam-Baird, 1997 In the short space of 20 years Brazil emerged from relative technological backwardness to become a major exporter of tanks rockets and aircraft This book examines the various ideologies strategies and conflicts of Brazil's military leaders of the period that lay behind this phenomenon Building upon two schools of thought this book explains the phenomenal emergence of the Brazilian arms industry The first school of thought attributes its success to the implementation of the National Security Doctrine by many of Brazil's leading officers The other attributes the success to the pursuit of the corporate interests of the military A discussion both of the articulated ideology found in the National Security Doctrine and the corporate ideology of the Brazilian military set against the development of governmental policy and factional infighting among groups of officers will reveal that neither of these theories alone provide an adequate explanation A third element the corporate ideology of the civilian technocrats must also be taken into account

Philosophy of Violence: A Multidisciplinary Perspective John Sodiq Sanni, Charles Mathurin

Villet, 2024-04-24 This volume explores the role of violence generally but with specific reference to African concepts and themes and the significance they have for social redress. The contributors interpret African concepts and themes to include accounts of violence explicitly or implicitly construed from indigenous axiological resources like Ubuntu or personhood and from those works that are not African in origin but have become central in African moral, political and legal thought such as Hannah Arendt's On Violence and Walter Benjamin's Critique of Violence. The volume contributes to moral philosophy, social philosophy, African philosophy and political philosophy theory. It situates itself within the Global South, specifically the African perspective, to explore, articulate and defend or even critique African conceptions of violence. This volume also takes seriously the need to tap into the intellectual resource of the African and diasporic African episteme, truththinkers such as Steve Biko, Frantz Fanon and Reiland Rabaka. It appeals to students and researchers working in philosophy and related disciplines on violence in Africa and the postcolonial context.
