Perspectives On Death And Dying Crosscultural And Multidisciplinary Views:

Perspectives on Death and Dying Arthur S. Berger, 1989 Death and Dying John F. Szabo, 2009-11-02 While it can be traced to the 1700s the term thanatology has gained traction in recent decades to refer to the study of death Because of the breadth of the published material and the challenges of discovery in large bibliographic databases and catalogs finding and identifying monographic material on death dying grief and bereavement can be extremely challenging Although there have been several bibliographical resources published on thanatology those titles were incomplete limited in scope or leaned heavily toward one area of the field In Death and Dying An Annotated Bibliography of the Thanatological Literature John F Szabo provides more than 2 200 citations of monographs on the science and study of death and dying Among the areas this volume addresses are the psychological philosophical and attitudinal aspects coping and dealing with the burdens of caregiving and working in the helping professions instructional and educational topics for practitioners primarily health care providers cultural differences in bereavement rituals and grief mourning and loss In addition notable titles on or relating to death and dying in popular culture death themes in literature methods of death or specific ethical policy or public issues are also included when they contribute important information to subject areas on which the book focuses This book will be helpful to students researchers academics caregivers health care professionals psychologists social workers and anyone with an interest in death dying bereavement or the care of the terminally ill The Developing Person Through the Life Span Kathleen Stassen Berger, 2005 The Developing Person Through the Life Span Sixth Edition presents theory research practical examples and policy issues in a way that inspires students to think about human development and about the individual's role in the community and the world Review the new edition and you'll find Berger's signature strengths on display the perceptive analysis of current research the lively and personal writing style and the unmistakable commitment to students You'll also find a wealth of new topics plus a video based Media Tool Kit that takes the teaching and learning of human development to a new level Routledge Library Editions: Jung Various, 2021-07-27 Routledge Library Editions Jung brings together as one set or individual volumes a series of previously out of print titles originally published between 1927 and 1993 Covering a variety of areas this set reflects the continued interest in Jung and analytical psychology showing how Jungian theory can have influence in many walks of life It provides in one place a number of reference sources from a range of authors showing the development of Jung's theories over time Drawings from a Dying Child (RLE: Jung) Judith Bertoia, 2014-07-11 Does a dying child understand death How can we help children who are dying Originally published in 1993 this book concerns a young girl Rachel terminally ill with leukaemia The book describes a series of drawings she made and shows how they reveal her inner experience how she became fully aware that she was dying and even came to accept death The result is a moving and informative story that will be invaluable to caregivers and families with a dying child It provides new understanding of the experience of a dying child and suggests practical strategies for coping A Social History of Dying Allan

Kellehear,2007-02-12 Our experiences of dying have been shaped by ancient ideas about death and social responsibility at the end of life From Stone Age ideas about dying as otherworld journey to the contemporary Cosmopolitan Age of dying in nursing homes Allan Kellehear takes the reader on a 2 million year journey of discovery that covers the major challenges we will all eventually face anticipating preparing taming and timing for our eventual deaths This book first published in 2007 is a major review of the human and clinical sciences literature about human dying conduct The historical approach of this book places our recent images of cancer dying and medical care in broader historical epidemiological and global context Professor Kellehear argues that we are witnessing a rise in shameful forms of dying It is not cancer heart disease or medical science that presents modern dying conduct with its greatest moral tests but rather poverty ageing and social exclusion

Handbook of Death and Dying Clifton D. Bryant,2003-10 Dying is a social as well as physiological phenomenon Each society characterizes and consequently treats death and dying in its own individual ways ways that differ markedly These particular patterns of death and dying engender modal cultural responses and such institutionalized behavior has familiar economical educational religious and political implications The Handbook of Death and Dying takes stock of the vast literature in the field of thanatology arranging and synthesizing what has been an unwieldy body of knowledge into a concise yet comprehensive reference work This two volume handbook will provide direction and momentum to the study of death related behavior for many years to come Key Features More than 100 contributors representing authoritative expertise in a diverse array of disciplines Anthropology Family Studies History Law Medicine Mortuary Science Philosophy Psychology Social work Sociology Theology A distinguished editorial board of leading scholars and researchers in the field More than 100 definitive essays covering almost every dimension of death related behavior Comprehensive and inclusive exploring concepts and social patterns within the larger topical concern Journal article length essays that address topics with appropriate detail Multidisciplinary and cross cultural coverage

New Models of Bereavement Theory and Treatment George Hagman,2016-03-31 Honoring the centennial of Sigmund Freud s seminal paper Mourning and Melancholia New Models of Bereavement Theory and Treatment New Mourning is a major contribution to our culture s changing view of bereavement and mourning identifying flaws in old models and offering a new valid and effective approach George Hagman and his fellow contributors bring together key psychoanalytic texts from the past 20 years exploring contemporary research clinical practice and model building relating to the problems of bereavement mourning and grief They propose changes to the asocial intra psychic nature of the standard analytic model of mourning changes compatible with contemporary psychoanalytic theory and practice Arguing that the most important goal of mourning is often to preserve rather than give up the relationship to the deceased this book provides a more positive hopeful model Crucially it emphasizes the importance of mourning together rather than alone New Models of Bereavement Theory and Treatment New Mourning will be the go to resource for researchers clinicians and interested lay people seeking a clear accessible overview of contemporary mourning

Death and Spirituality Kenneth Doka,John Morgan,2016-12-05 An elderly Chinese immigrant hospitalized with terminal disease requests to burn incense A 30 year old Roman Catholic gay male dying of AIDS is consumed by deepening moral guilt troubled by beliefs he thought he abandoned years ago A mother whose teenage son died of an aneurism is angry at God over his death yet fearful of expressing that anger lest He punish her again A young widower seemingly has difficulty expressing grief believing it to be a sign of weak faith All of these examples illustrate the kinds of issues that clinicians and counselors constantly encounter For although North American society has long been characterized as secular this does not deny the potency of spiritual concerns and religious values on the individual level Polls affirm that vast majorities of North Americans both believe in God and consider religion important in their lives This is clearly evident when one faces the crisis of dying or bereavement For one of the strengths of belief is that it provides support and succor at a time when secular explanations are largely silent For these reasons educators and clinicians have long recognized the significance that religious and spiritual themes have in counseling with the dying and bereaved Yet in cultures as religiously diverse as the U S and Canada caregivers and educators may feel inadequate to the task Death and Spirituality addresses this need Specifically it seeks to reach two perhaps overlapping audiences First it considers the needs death related counselors and educators seeking to provide them with both a sense of the norm of religious tradition and the religious and spiritual issues that might arise in illness and bereavement as well as suitable interventions approaches and resources that might be useful in assisting clients in examining and resolving such issues The book also speaks to the complementary needs of clergy who also may wish to assist parishioners and others as they face the spiritual and psychological crisis of dying and grief

Vida Después de la Pérdida Raymond A. Moody, Dianne Arcangel, 2002-05-02 El doctor Moody junto a su colega Dianne Arcangel nos muestra el modo en el que el proceso de aflicción por la pérdida de seres queridos puede convertir nuestro temor y dolor en una experiencia espiritual. Una obra capaz de cambiar una vida y una herramienta de inestimable valor para cualquier persona que haya sufrido este tipo de pérdida. Tomado de La contracaratula del libro Hyperculture Stephen Bertman, 1998-04-30 The rampant illnesses of our society including the disintegration of the family, the degradation of the environment, unlimited commercialism, and unrelenting stress are familiar to us all. For the first time, Stephen Bertman attempts to explain these disparate, overwhelmingly negative phenomena with a single unifying principle: that the accelerated pace of American society is eroding the essence of our most fundamental values. In 1970, Alvin Toffler identified a psychobiological disease he called future shock, caused by too much change in too short a time. Now Bertman daringly diagnoses an even more serious condition: hyperculture, a chronic warping of morals and ethics caused by America's addiction to speed. The treatment he argues in this book will require nothing less than a drastic slowdown; we must reassert control over the technologies that now dominate us in order to insure a humane future for our children and ourselves. We live, according to Bertman, in a society ruled by the power of now, a power that gives us instant gratification even as it demands our instantaneous obedience. As a result, we have adapted our lives and values to match the speed of light electronic technologies that surround us. But in so doing, we have paid a high price in spirit and mind. Cut off from the wisdom of the past and too rushed to consider the consequences of our actions, we are caught up in a culture of sensationalism and transience in which the very definitions of personal identity and democracy are being transformed. Hyperculture dares to suggest that the cure for our condition lies not in an information superhighway or third-wave information revolution, but in the radical and painful process of decelerating our lives enough to reclaim them. It is a daunting challenge, to be sure, but one on which our happiness and even our survival depend.

Psychiatric Nursing Ann Wolbert Burgess, 1997 Addressing contemporary mental health issues facing psychiatric nursing today, as well as traditional clinical skills, this reference work links stress, trauma, and behavioural health problems to neurobiological function and immune system depletion. This framework pinpoints assessment and selection of intervention strategies, especially useful in this era of managed care.
