disparities among this population With chapters written primarily by African American women drawing on years of research interviews and practical experience with this demographic each section explores current evidence on engagement approaches descriptions of agencies programs addressing specific issues fathers face and case studies documenting typical clients and approaches to addressing their diverse needs Offering an expansive overview of issues affecting African American fathers the book explores such important topics as public child and mental health education parenting employment and public initiatives among others Engaging and Working with African American Fathers is a key resource for social work public health education students researchers practitioners policymakers and members of communities who are challenged by meeting the diverse needs of African American fathers Critical Multicultural Practice in Social Work Charlotte Williams, 2020-07-16 Critical multicultural practice rather than being a specialism is integral to Australian social work Drawing on critical race theory critical multiculturalism intersectionality and critical reflection as practice theory this major new edited collection challenges many of the dominant assumptions of cross cultural social work and provides instead a new model of transformative engagement Key concepts are considered including identity culture diversity and superdiversity how power and privilege shape everyday interactions and what is meant by citizenship in the contemporary context Part One explores the changing nature of multicultural practice in Australia including our society's changing demographic profile the impact of asylum and refugee migrations race and racism and cultural identity Indigenous perspectives and the relationship with multicultural practice are examined together with the ethical and legal basis for multicultural practice This part concludes with an outline of the editors framework for critical multicultural practice Part Two draws on contributions from a range of practitioners and offers new perspectives on diverse fields including child protection mental health disability ageing homelessness and rural and regional practice Featuring case studies and insights drawn from across the spectrum of practice this book is a vital resource for all social workers practising in Australia today A rich and nuanced analysis of what is happening at the interfaces of our work and the lives of Australian citizens it articulates ways forward that are genuine bold and empathetic From the foreword by Professor Kerry Arabena The University of Melbourne A Constant Burden Margaret Voysey Paun, 2017-11-30 First published in 1975 A Constant Burden was a truly ground breaking text in the field of medical sociology and has since become an undisputed classic Over thirty years later this revised edition gives new life to this important work It contains the same seminal study of families with a disabled child based on an analysis of interviews with parents about the effects of their child's disability on their family life Whereas much of the contemporary research assumed that the presence of such a child must constitute a problem and attempted to read parents responses as indicators of the family's psychological and social adjustment to this reality Voysey Paun's analysis takes a radically different stance She shows that what parents say should rather be understood as socially constructed accounts of normal parenting which induce others to identify them as properly fulfilling their responsibilities as good parents Voysey Paun's approach to the analysis and interpretation of interview responses has become a much more central theme for sociological research instrumental in changing theories about the nature of disability and the family as expressed by sociologists social workers and other agencies The revised edition contains a new introduction which puts the study in its intellectual context It will be essential reading in the sociology of health and illness and will also be of interest to social workers and other professionals concerned with disability and family life
