Perspectives On Strategic Defense Westview Special Studies In National Security And Defense Policy:

National Legal Bibliography ,1988 United States Technology Export Control Douglas E. McDaniel,1993-03-17
This is a broad ranging study of U S strategic export control policy In particular this book analyzes and evaluates the effectiveness of export controls in delaying the acquisition of militarily sensitive high technology by the Soviet Union and its allied states Furthermore the question of whether or not U S economic competitiveness in various high technology sectors has been unduly undermined by export controls is also evaluated Numerous official government studies and reports supplemented by a host of interviews with government officials businesspeople and analysts in the United States and Europe are utilized in drawing conclusions and posting policy recommendations The consequences for export control policy of the revolutionary political upheavals in Eastern Europe and the former U S S R are also addressed The study concludes that the strategic security goal of utilizing controls to hinder and delay the acquisition of militarily significant high technology by the former Soviet Union and its allied states was generally effective More controversially McDaniel argues that export controls per se have not been a significant determinant of lagging U S competitiveness in high technology However this conclusion is qualified by the observation that while overall trends in U S high technology exports to important trading partners do not suggest that controls by themselves have unduly hurt U S exporters individual sectors and small firms may be disadvantaged Finally the study cautions that U S policy must adapt or risk becoming outmoded and increasingly ineffective This book will be of interest to scholars and students of international relations international political economy and international business

Military Review ,1985 Professional Journal of the United States Army ,1985 The Technology, Strategy, And Politics Of Sdi Stephen J Cimbala,2019-06-25 The Strategic Defense Initiative SDI to develop a ballistic missile defense BMD system has both short range and long range risks as well as potential benefits For the most part however strategic technological and political issues relevant to SDI have been analyzed in isolation from one another This book provides a more inclusive framework for assessing the possible development and deployment of a BMD system by the United States or the Soviet Union Contributors discuss the risks for arms race stability probable reactions of the Soviet Union to any U S space based defense system and implications for the stability of extended deterrence commitments to NATO European allies They also evaluate Soviet research and development programs in missile defense that must be considered in any extrapolation of the requirements for U S deterrence in the next several decades Review of Current Military Literature ,1985

Books in Series, 1876-1949 R.R. Bowker Company,1982 Military Industry and Regional Defense Policy Timothy D. Hoyt,2017-07-05 Military Industry and Regional Defense Policy re examines military industrialization in the developing world focusing on policy making in producer states and the impact of security perceptions on such policy making Timothy D Hoyt reassesses the role of regional state sub systems in international relations and recent historical studies of international technology and arms transfers Looking at Israel Iraq and India the three most powerful regional powers in the Cold War era

he presents an expert analysis of the three sided phenomena of the regional hegemony the regional competitor and the small over achiever This new book breaks away from existing literature on military industries in the developing world which has focused on their economic and development costs and benefits These past studies have used primitive methodologies that focus on the production of complete weapons systems a misleading gauge in a world of growing international defense cooperation They have also ignored empirical evidence of the impact of local military industrial production on Cold War regional conflict and of the defence planning and concerns that drove development of indigenous military industries in key regional powers This new text delivers an incisive new perspective

US Military Strategy and the Cold War Endgame Stephen J. Cimbala,1995 The transition from the end of the Cold War to a new world order is both promising and perilous The US and its NATO allies were caught largely unprepared by the rapid collapse of the Warsaw Pact the sudden demise of the Soviet Union and the reunification of Germany events that redrew the map of East Central Europe and shifted US security concerns eastward in Eurasia They also redefined security as a condition based more on the prevention or containment of regional and civic conflicts compared with the Cold War expectations of global or nuclear war The next century is certain to strain US and NATO strategy considerably if indeed NATO survives at all A new group of interstate institutions for European security will compete for the right to claim pre eminence in security issues International peace keeping and peace enforcement whether United Nations directed or regionally sponsored will also challenge traditional definitions or military missions Changes will also occur in the role of nuclear weapons in military strategy US and Russian strategic nuclear forces will be drastically reduced and both states will take other steps to dampen the nuclear arms race The antagonists of the Cold War will be the collaborators of the next century in seeking to stabilize conflicts inside and outside Europe

China's Military Procurement in the Reform Era Yoram Evron,2015-06-26 The decisions that shape the policy of weapons procurement are an important area of national security policy This is all the more true for China which during recent decades has vacillated between different sources and directions of military build up This book explores the politics of military procurement in China under the successive leaderships of Deng Xiaoping Jiang Zemin and Hu Jintao It shows how China s political and military leaders have sought to adjust military procurement policy to meet China s strategic objectives to relate it to non military needs to strike a balance between the import of weapons and indigenous production and to determine the connections between hardware and other components of military power Exploring in detail five major shifts in the nation s military procurement it traces the considerations and negotiations among China s civilian and military leaderships By doing so it offers both a conceptual framework and empirical grounds for evaluating the factors that shape China's military procurement directions as well as their limitations prospects and operational implications As the first book to study comprehensively and systematically the attributes shaping China's military procurement it will be of great interest to students and scholars of Chinese politics Chinese history and military and strategic studies

Defence Industries in the 21st Century Çağlar Kurç, Richard A. Bitzinger, Stephanie G. Neuman, 2021-05-14 Defence Industries in the 21st Century explores the transformation in the global defence industrial production through examining the interaction between international and domestic factors With the global defence industry and arms market likely continue to expand and mature the ways in which this progression could influence international politics remain obscure In practice as the contents of this book show the defence industrial bases and arms export policies of emerging states display significant variance This variance is the result of a unique balance between domestic and international factors that has shaped the defence industrialisation behaviour and policies of the less industrialised states One of the most important conclusions of the book is that the interplay between domestic and international factors clearly influences the variation in the emerging states defence industrialisation policies as well as their success or failure While international factors create opportunities they also limit the options available to emerging economies Domestic factors also play an important role by shaping the policy choices of the states decision makers Exploring the balance between international and domestic factors and the ways in which they influence defence industrialisation in emerging states Defence Industries in the 21st Century will be of great interest to scholars of Defence Industries Arms Manufacturing and Defence Strategic and Security Studies more generally The chapters were originally published in Defence Studies Comparative Strategy and All Azimuth
