Mares,David Scott Palmer,2012-06-15 In January 1995 fighting broke out between Ecuadorian and Peruvian military forces in a remote section of the Amazon It took more than three years and the interplay of multiple actors and factors to achieve a definitive peace agreement thus ending what had been the region s oldest unresolved border dispute This conflict and its resolution provide insights about other unresolved and or disputed land and sea boundaries which involve almost every country in the Western Hemisphere Drawing on extensive field research at the time of the dispute and during its aftermath including interviews with high ranking diplomats and military officials Power Institutions and Leadership in War and Peace is the first book length study to relate this complex border dispute and its resolution to broader theories of conflict The findings emphasize an emerging leadership approach in which individuals are not mere captives of power and institutions In addition the authors illuminate an overlap in national and international arenas in shaping effective articulation perception and selection of policy In the new democratic Latin America that emerged in the late 1970s through the early 1990s historical memory remains influential in shaping the context of disputes in spite of presumed U S post Cold War influence This study offers important broader perspectives on a hemisphere still rife with boundary disputes as a rising number of people and products including arms pass through these borderlands Toward High-quality Education in Peru ,2007 This book has three main recommendations First it is necessary to generate basic standards quality goals and quality measurement systems Second once quality can be measured a clear system of accountability should be implemented based on these standards and quality goals The clients will play a central role in these systems by demanding their rights to quality services this will only become possible once there are standards and goals that clarify clients rights Third once there are standards and systems of accountability investment is needed to strengthen the institutional capacity of the providers
