Beyond Fake News Justin P. McBrayer, 2020-09-22 The world is swimming in misinformation Conflicting messages bombard us every day with news on everything from politics and world events to investments and alternative health The daily paper nightly news websites and social media each compete for our attention and each often insist on a different version of the facts Inevitably we have questions Who is telling the truth How would we know How did we get here What can we do Beyond Fake News answers these and other queries It offers a technological and market based explanation for how our informational environment became so polluted It shows how purveyors of news often have incentives to mislead us and how consumers of information often have incentives to be misled And it chronicles how as technology improves and the regulatory burdens drop our information scape becomes ever more littered with misinformation Beyond Fake News argues that even when we really want the truth our minds are built in such a way so as to be incapable of grasping many facts and blind spots mar our view of the world But we can do better both as individuals and as a society As individuals we can improve the accuracy of our understanding of the world by knowing who to trust and recognizing our limitations And as a society we can take important steps to reduce the quantity and effects of misinformation

Gambling on Humanitarian Intervention Alan Kuperman, Timothy Crawford, 2014-06-03 Does humanitarian military intervention save lives as intended Or does it perversely embolden rebels and ignite the spiral of violence that it seeks to prevent Such questions lie at the heart of a new and lively controversy in international politics Gambling on Humanitarian Intervention explores whether the emerging norm of intervention backfires in conflicts such as Kosovo exacerbating the ethnic cleansing and killing of innocent civilians Leading academics investigate this problem including when and where it is most likely to occur and how to avert the unintended consequences without abandoning intervention Sceptics weigh in as well pointing out potential errors in blaming intervention for civil violence and offering alternative explanations Several authors conclude with prescriptions to ensure that future interventions mitigate violence as intended rather than tragically worsening it This book was previously published as a special issue of Ethnopolitics Curing the Cancer in U.S. Healthcare Dr. Deane

Waldman, MD, MBA, 2019-01-08 Fixing our critically ill healthcare system starts with the root cause cancer in the federal bureaucracy The cure for that cancer is called StatesCare The states know best how to provide health care for their people The states should decide how to provide that care Any solution from Washington is one size that most definitely does not fit all California wants single payer Texas wants market based healthcare Why should the federal government tell them No Can Do The answer is StatesCare where states decide healthcare for themselves and We the People are in charge A model of market based healthcare system is described that the Lone Star State and others might favor Neither Washington nor third party insurance is in charge as the patient decides both spending and medical care The Lone Star market based system called TexasCares offers both affordable and readily accessible health care States might choose a different approach StatesCare lets them decide what they want not what Washington mandates for them The Front-end of Large Public

Democratic Economic Planning Robin Hahnel, 2021-05-31 Democratic Economic Planning presents a concrete proposal for how to organize carry out and integrate comprehensive annual economic planning investment planning and long run development planning so as to maximize popular participation distribute the burdens and benefits of economic activity fairly achieve environmental sustainability and use scarce productive resources efficiently The participatory planning procedures proposed provide workers in self managed councils and consumers in neighbourhood councils with autonomy over their own activities while ensuring that they use scarce productive resources in socially responsible ways without subjecting them to competitive market forces Certain mathematical and economic skills are required to fully understand and evaluate the planning procedures discussed and evaluated in technical sections in a number of chapters These sections are necessary to advance the theory of democratic planning and should be of primary interest to readers who have those skills However the book is written so that the main argument can be followed without fully digesting the more technical sections Democratic Economic Planning is written for dreamers who are disenchanted with the economics of competition and greed want to know how a system of equitable cooperation can be organized and also for sceptics who demand hard proof that an economy without markets and private enterprise is possible

Management and administration of contracted employment programmes Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Work and Pensions Committee,2010-03-18 This report examines contracted employment programmes and focuses in particular on the prevention of fraud the treatment of subcontractors and ensuring fair treatment of customers The Committee found that levels of detected fraud in contracted employment programmes are low but feels that there is no room for complacency the frauds uncovered to date have highlighted the existence of weaknesses in the system which could be exploited Processes for the detection of fraud must be rigorous and robust In addition the financial penalties for providers who have fraud in their organisation are not severe enough The report calls for customer rights to be given a much higher priority and for a universal monitored and enforceable customer charter to be introduced It also calls on the Department to carry out a Customer Survey of customers of contracted employment programmes to enable standards of customer service to be compared between providers and with Jobcentre Plus The quality of provision to vulnerable groups particularly those with disabilities is another area of concern as providers are having to work with customers with more severe barriers than they had anticipated The Report examines several examples of potential mistreatment of sub contractors including allegations of the operation of a cartel and notes that while it does not know how widespread unfair treatment of subcontractors is neither does the Department

The Samaritan's Dilemma Clark C. Gibson,Krister Andersson,The late Elinor Ostrom,Sujai Shivakumar,2005-09-08 What s wrong with foreign aid Many policymakers aid practitioners and scholars have called into question its ability to increase economic growth alleviate poverty or promote social development At the macro level only tenuous links between development aid and improved living conditions have been found At the micro level only a few programs outlast donor support and even fewer appear to achieve lasting improvements The authors of this book argue that much of aid s failure is related to the institutions that structure its delivery These institutions govern the complex relationships between the main actors in the aid delivery system and often generate a series of perverse incentives that promote inefficient and unsustainable outcomes In their analysis the authors apply the theoretical insights of the new institutional economics to several settings First they investigate the institutions of Sida the Swedish aid agency to analyze how that aid agency's institutions can produce incentives inimical to desired outcomes contrary to the desires of its own staff Second the authors use cases from India a country with low aid dependence and Zambia a country with high aid dependence to explore how institutions on the ground in recipient countries also mediate the effectiveness of aid Throughout the book the authors offer suggestions about how to improve aid's effectiveness These suggestions include how to structure evaluations in order to improve outcomes how to employ agency staff to gain from their on the ground experience and how to engage stakeholders as owners in the design resource mobilization learning and evaluation processes of development assistance programs
