MASTER DIBBLE, COB

When we first met Master Dibble, or Dibby, he was standing diffidently at the back of his stable, as though hoping not to be noticed. A 10-year-old piebald cob of 16 hands or so, he had a quiet dignity and gentle dark eyes that spoke volumes. His owner wanted something a little faster on which to compete and was parting with him after four or five years.

It only took one hack across the nearby common, including a pop over a fallen log, to decide to buy him. After flying through the vetting and a tearful farewell, he arrived at his new home.

Soon clipped and hogged, he celebrated the loss of his heavy coat with a canter, buck and roll, a pattern repeated joyously on every future clip.

across country, he competed in one-day events at beginners' level and won many rosettes.

Like many coarse-coated cobs, he suffered badly from sweet itch. He would relieve this by scratching on whatever was available. He was a powerful creature and over-energetic rubbing demolished an aged field shelter in our first yard and damaged a stable at the next.

Owning Dibby brought with it the privilege and gift of sharing his company for daily quiet periods during hands-on tasks like baths and grooming.

Such time spent with Dibby was like a tonic or counselling; it made one feel less stressed, as though breathing in his calm.

LIKES: apples, mints, rolling in the dust

DISLIKES: itching, horseflies
FINEST HOUR: winning the Mini One-Day Event at Solihull and a silver cup at Shrewley
