William Mure,1832 A Dissertation on the Calendar and Zodiac of Ancient Egypt W. Mure,2016-08-19 Excerpt from A Dissertation on the Calendar and Zodiac of Ancient Egypt With Remarks on the First Introduction and Use of the Zodiac Among the Greeks That a system combining and resting upon so many obscure and enigmatical details should be restored at once complete in all its parts was not to be expected for several obvious reasons among others for this very simple one that the department of antiquarian science to which this inquiry belongs is still in its infancy many of the facts or monuments which have afforded the most striking illustrations of our subject having only been brought to light within these few years some even since these researches were first undertaken and at this moment others are or may be in course of publication which may help to fill the remaining gaps in the circumference of the egyptian astrological sphere About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works DISSERTATION ON THE CALENDAR AND ZODIAC OF ANCIENT EGYPT W. MURE,2018 The Greek Papyrologist's Wall Calendar 2021-2022 Benjamin Kantor,2021-08-22 The Greek Papyrologist's Wall Calendar is designed for those students and scholars of ancient Greek papyri who want to become more familiar with the ancient calendar in use by the authors and recipients of the texts they are reading One of the challenges in designing such a resource however comes in the desire to both authentically represent an ancient calendar and present it in such a way that makes it practical for the modern user The Greek Papyrologist's Calendar thus achieves something of a compromise by laying out the ancient Egyptian Alexandrian calendar in a modern wall calendar format coordinated with Roman modern dates so that a modern student or scholar can practically use the ancient calendar in their daily life with modern dates Although there were numerous calendars in use in antiquity that are attested in the papyri Egyptian Macedonian Greek Roman etc the Egyptian calendar was chosen for The Greek Papyrologist's Wall Calendar because Egypt plays such a central role in the field of papyrology and the Egyptian calendar is prominent in the papyrological material The Egyptian calendar is made up of 12 months of 30 days with 5 intercalary days at the end of each year The format of the calendar is as follows Each upper page of a month in the calendar lists the name of the Egyptian Alexandrian month in Greek at the top along with some facts about the month including ancient Egyptian festivals Each lower page of the calendar presents the ancient calendars in modern format with Egyptian Alexandrian dates listed in blue and Roman modern dates listed in red Each day is written as a Greek numeral along with how the day would have been referred to in ancient times in Greek whether simply the twenty first of Thoth or six before the Ides of March By using this system the student or scholar will be able to see both how the date would have likely been written in the papyri and how a Greek speaker would have referred to the day of the month whether in the Egyptian or Roman system believe not disputed and indeed is placed beyond a doubt as well by the internal evidence which they themselves afford of their connexion with the ancient language and religion of the country as by the constancy and harmony of the tradition by which they have been handed down through ages as such I have given below in the notes references to the authors in whose works the most important varieties of these names have been preserved as well in the greek as the Coptic idiom To the coptic orthography the greatest weight is in most instances to be attached as representing the pronunciation of the old dialect of Egypt for the most part it may reasonably be assumed pure and unaltered Occasional allusion has also been made to the analogy of the Copto arabic s According to the greek orthography see generally Ptolem de Apparent ap Petav Uranol in op de doct temp vol iii p 42 Antholog graec 1 i c 91 Fabricii Menolog p 22 According to the Coptic orthography Kircher Ling aegypt restitut Seals magna p 63 et Prodrum Copt p 140 Tuki Rudim ling copt p 391 sqq Croze Lexic aegypt in vv Jablonski Collectio vocum aegyptiarum in v v Opusc vol i et ap Steph Thes ling grsec edit Valpy vol i initio Young append ad Tatham Egypt gramm p 5 Croz Thesaurus epistolicus
