The Portable Irish Reader Diarmuid Russell, 1946 The Irish Reader Diarmuid Russell, 1956-05-10 The Portable James Joyce James Joyce, 1947 The Portable Chekhov; Ed., and with an Introd., by Avrahm Yarmolinsky Anton Pavlovich Chekhov, 1947 The Portable Mark Twain Mark Twain, 1946

Satirist, novelist, and keen observer of the American scene, Mark Twain remains one of the world's best-loved writers. This delightful collection of Twain's favorite and most memorable writings includes selected tales and sketches such as "The Celebrated Jumping Frog of Calaveras County," "How I Edited an Agricultural Journal," "Once Jim Baker's Blue Jay Yarn," and "A True Story." It also features excerpts from his novels and travel books, including "Roughing It," "The Innocents Abroad," and "Life on the Mississippi," among others.

autobiographical and polemical writings as well as selected letters and speeches.

Culture and Comfort Katherine Grier, 2013-09-03

In Culture and Comfort, Katherine C. Grier shows how the design and furnishings of the mid-nineteenth-century parlor reflected the self-image of the Victorian middle class. Parlors provided public facades for formal occasions and represented an attempt to resolve the often opposing ideals of gentility and sincerity to which American culture aspired. The book traces the fortunes of the parlor and its upholstery from its early incarnations in palace hotels, railroad cars, steamships, and photographers' studios through its mid-century heyday, when even remote frontier homes could boast suites of red plush sofas and chairs, to its slow, uneven metamorphosis into the more versatile living room. The author argues that even as the home increasingly was seen as a haven from industrialization and commercialization, its ties to industry and commerce in the form of more affordable machine-made furniture and drapery became stronger. By the 1920s, the parlor's decline signaled both a blurring of the Victorian distinctions between public and private manners and the transfer of middle-class identity from the home to the automobile. Describing the deportment a parlor required, the activities it sheltered, and the marketing and manufacturing breakthroughs that made it available to all, Culture and Comfort reveals the full range of cultural messages conveyed by nineteenth-century parlor materials.

In 1970, Ross Macdonald wrote a letter to Eudora Welty, beginning a thirteen-year correspondence between fellow writers and kindred spirits. Though separated by background, geography, genre, and his marriage, the two authors shared their lives in witty, wry, tender, and at times profoundly romantic letters, each drawing on the other for inspiration, comfort, and strength. They brought their literary talents to bear on a wide range of topics, discussing each other's publications, the process of translating life into fiction, the nature of the writer's block each encountered, books they were reading, and friends and colleagues they cherished. They also discussed the world around them: the Vietnam War, the Nixon-Carter and Reagan presidencies, and the environmental threats facing the nation. The letters reveal the impact each had on the other's work, and they show the personal support Welty provided when Alzheimer's destroyed Macdonald's ability to communicate and write. The editors of this collection who are the definitive biographers of these two literary figures have provided extensive commentary and an introduction They also include Welty's story fragment Henry which addresses Macdonald's disease With its mixture of correspondence and narrative Meanwhile There Are Letters provides a singular reading experience a prose portrait of two remarkable artists and one unforgettable relationship More Conversations with Eudora Welty Eudora Welty, 1996 Collections of interviews with notable modern writers Author and Agent Michael Kreyling, 1992-06 Correspondence between Eudora Welty and her agent of three decades Diarmuid Russell offers insight to their special relationship world events literary trends and the course of American publishing The Problem of Ireland in Tudor Foreign Policy, 1485-1603 William Palmer, 1994 His thesis is simple English policy in Ireland was shaped to a greater extent than has previously been realized by foreign policy and the power politics of the Counter Reformation A brief but important book CHOICE Dr Palmer explores the role of sixteenth century Ireland in considerable depth examining how it changed during times of crisis abroad and how the tensions provoked by the Reformation in England introduced an ideological element into international politics He shows how the failure of Henry's invasions of Scotland and France in the 1540s led to greater involvement in Ireland by these countries which in turn led to the entry of more and more English officials into Ireland and the implementation of increasingly aggressive policies This study thus shows that Tudor rule in Ireland reflected wider international politics with significant implications WILLIAM PALMER is Professor of History at Marshall University in Huntington West Virginia Tell about Night Flowers Julia Eichelberger, 2015-07-08 Tell about Night Flowers presents previously unpublished letters by Eudora Welty selected and annotated by scholar Julia Eichelberger Welty published many of her best known works in the 1940s A Curtain of Green The Wide Net The Robber Bridegroom Delta Wedding and The Golden Apples During this period she also wrote hundreds of letters to two friends who shared her love of gardening One friend Diarmuid Russell was her literary agent in New York the other John Robinson was a high school classmate and an aspiring writer who served in the Army in WWII and long the focus of Welty's affection Welty's lyrical witty and poignant discussions of gardening and nature are delightful in themselves they are also figurative expressions of Welty's views of her writing and her friendships Taken together with thirty five illustrations they form a poetic narrative of their own chronicling artistic and psychic developments that were underway before Welty was fully conscious of them By 1949 her art like her friendships had evolved in ways that she would never have predicted in 1940 Tell about Night Flowers not only lets readers glimpse Welty in her garden it also reveals a brilliant and generous mind responding to the public events people art and natural landscapes Welty encountered at home and on her travels during the 1940s This book enhances our understanding of the life landscape and art of a major American writer 1950 Edition of the Basic Book List and a Suggested List of Juvenile Books ... American Booksellers Association, 1950 Information Circular University of Illinois at Chicago Circle. Transatlantic Renaissances Kathryn Stelmach Artuso, 2013 The impulses that fired the Southern Literary Renaissance echoed the impetus behind the Irish Literary Revival at the turn of the twentieth century when Ireland sought to demonstrate its cultural equality with any European nation and disentangle itself from English imposed stereotypes Seeking to prove that the South was indeed the cultural equal of greater America despite the harsh realities of political defeat economic scarcity and racial strife Southern writers embarked on a career to re imagine the American South and to re invent literary criticism Transatlantic Renaissances Literature of Ireland and the American South traces the influence of the Irish Revival upon the Southern Renaissance exploring how the latter looked to the former for guidance artistic innovation and models for self invention and regional renovation While Deleuze and Guattari s model for minor literature refers to minority or regional authors who work within a major language for purposes of subversion Artuso modifies their term along generic and thematic lines to refer to errant female juveniles within subsidiary genres whose nonconformist development threatens to disrupt the dominant patriarchal culture of a region or nation Using the themes of initiation and maturation to anchor the book Artuso analyzes how the volatile development of young women in revivalist texts often reflects or questions larger growth pangs and patterns including the evolution of the literary revival itself and the development of a regional minority group that must work within a dominant culture language and nation while seeking methods of subversion With minor literature as the container for undervalued genres such as popular fiction and short stories often considered an author s juvenilia this work investigates not only how these texts challenge the authoritative claims of the novel but also scrutinizes the renaissance trope of female rebirth as the revivalists often figured cultural national or regional regeneration through the metamorphoses or maturation of female protagonists such as Cathleen n Houlihan Scarlett O Hara and Virgie Rainey Drawing upon New Historical New Critical and postcolonial approaches Artuso examines works by Lady Gregory Margaret Mitchell Eudora Welty Elizabeth Bowen Jean Toomer and James Joyce
