

Social Justice in Panchayati Raj in India

Dr. Irsad Ali Khan

Lecturer, Political Science, Government Bangal College, Dabra, Rajasthan, India

ABSTRACT

The Constitution of India is the best known for its magnificent social initiative, begins with the glorious preamble which guarantees the key-concepts as liberty, equality, justice and fraternity to the entire people of the country. These expressions postulate an unwritten pledge that everyone will do justice to one another especially for the common man – for the man on the street and in the farms, for the driver of the bullock-cart and for other suppressed and neglected sections. This was the reason why the Founding Fathers had chosen to prefer justice to Liberty, Equality and Fraternity for placement in order; again social justice was assigned a preferential place over economic and political. Otherwise the expression in the preamble – “We the people of India give unto our selves this Constitution” loses its meaning and import, as much as the promise in Article 38 – (The State) shall strive to promote the welfare of the people by securing and protecting as effectively as it may a social order in which justice – social, economic and political shall inform all institutions of national life. Thus, Social Justice in a comprehensive sense must permeate in depth and permeate in its widest spectrum to all aspect of social life, including the stigmatized untouchability and the so-called members of the Backward classes. The concept of Social Justice must take within its sweep the objective of removing all inequalities and affording equal opportunities to all citizens in social and economic affairs. Our country is not a utilitarian State, but a Democratic Republic with committed to welfareism. The problems enumerated above which concern the overwhelmingly large number of the citizens, could never be successfully tackled unless the State uses its most effective ameliorating devices against socio-economic and socio-legal instrumentalities that necessarily calls for a total reform for balancing economic structure and thereby relieve the body-politic of the tension. In the process, the new era of Social Justice in the Democratic Republic of India could be surely ushered, when our condition favours introduction of democracy at the grass-root level i.e., the creation of Panchayati Raj Institutions (PRIs) which embodied in Article 40 of the Constitution). The basic conviction that Village Panchayats could play an important role in the social transformation and implementation of development programmes. In this paper, an attempt has made here for the Village Panchayat contributed for achieving the empowerment of women.

INTRODUCTION

In the history of human development, woman has been as important as man. In fact the status, employment and work performed by women in society is the indicator of a nation's overall progress. Without the participation of women in national activities, the social, economic or political progress of a country will be stagnated. The fact is that most of the women's domestic role is combined with economic activities and utilization of their skill and labour to earn extra income for the family, which makes the family to lead a decent life. Women are regarded as the “better half” of the society and at par with the men.[1,2] Efforts are being made to realize that women are real “better half” in men's life. They

Behind the Veil Sunita Dhaka,Rajvir S. Dhaka,2005 The UN Millennium Development Goals MDGs reflect widespread international acknowledgement that empowerment of women and the achievement of gender equality are matters of human rights and social justice Today gender disparity and empowerment have come to occupy the centre stage of development debate Since independence a number of legislative enactments have helped alleviate the status of women in India but still a lot remains to be achieved The place and status of women in decision making apparatus needs to be evaluated and empowerment strategies formulated The enactment of 73rd Amendment Act was a major step towards women s empowerment The problem of participatory management of welfare schemes can be solved only when the marginalised section of the society come to play a major role in decision making The scheduled castes in general and the scheduled castes women in particular continue to lead a life of misery and deprivation Even though seats have been reserved in favour of SCs women but very little has changed at the ground level This book is an outcome of a study conducted in Haryana and focuses on the status and participation of scheduled castes women in decision making institutions at the local level i e Panchayati Raj Institutions A number of factors have been identified which help in understanding the problems in a proper perspective The case studies which form part of the book have made this book very valuable In short this bok helps in undestanding the various issues at stake due to which the scheduled castes women continue to remain out of decision making institutions at the local level This book is useful to policy planners administrators researchers and students of Decentralized Governance and Gender Justice Call of the Individual S.
