

YOU WILL ALWAYS BE MY FRIEND

BY DHARVI SHAH

You were my best friend.
We did everything with each other.
We shared every tear
And felt each other's fear.
You listened to all that I said
And never complained.
You truly understood me
And always knew what to say.
But somewhere along the road
We drifted miles apart.
It broke my heart
And made me cry.
Suddenly we were two different people with nothing
the same,
But neither of us could be blamed.
It was like having a lock without its key,
A shoe without its lace.
You made new friends
And fortunately so did I.
But that could not mend my heart.
The grief of losing you tore me apart.
Things do change,
But they do not need to end.
We both have changed,
But you will always be my friend.

chapter introduction Naithani describes Chaube's relationship to Crooke and the essential role he played in Crooke's work as both a native informant and a trained scholar. By unearthing the fragmented story of Chaube's life, Naithani gives voice to a new identity of an Indian folklore scholar in colonial India. The publication of these tales and the discovery of Chaube's role in their collection reveal the complexity of the colonial intellectual world and problematize our own views of folklore in a postcolonial world.
