V. Hughes,2018-12-01 In A London Girl of the Eighties which was first published in 1936 British author Molly Hughes vividly evokes the small everyday pleasures of a close family life in Victorian London joyful Christmases blissful holidays in Cornwall escapades with her brothers and schooldays under the redoubtful Miss Buss Her intensive recollection of college life at Cambridge and her first teaching jobs creates an easy intimacy with the reader and provides a fascinating glimpse into another world full of everyday period detail vividly and humorously told NONE of the characters in this book are fictitious The incidents if not dramatic are at least genuine memories Expressions of jollity and enjoyment of life are understatements rather than overstatements We were just an ordinary suburban Victorian family undistinguished ourselves and unacquainted with distinguished people It occurred to me to record our doings only because on looking back and comparing our lot with that of the children of today we seemed to have been so lucky In writing them down however I have come to realize that luck is at one s own disposal that there is nothing either good or bad but thinking makes it so Bring up children in the conviction that they are lucky and behold they are But in our case high spirits were perhaps inherited as my story will show DON PEDRO In faith lady you have a merry heart BEATRICE Yea my lord I thank it poor fool it keeps on the windy side of care

Where Is the Key? Sheila Brook, 2011-06-01 Description This book follows on from when the story of my childhood told in Child of the Thirties ended I begin this memoir in the summer holidays after I left school in 1945 free time in those days is very different from free time today My mother was still in a psychiatric hospital I have tried to contract the events of over sixty years into a single book giving a personal view of some the many changes that have occurred in society together with some incidents in my personal life I discuss a number of issues concerning the changes in care of the mentally ill There are many contrasts made between aspects of life during the past sixty years with expectations and aspirations of today Constancy is a theme that occurs throughout the book The constancy of my father s concern for my mother his regular visiting and unsuccessful attempt to have her living at home again his lonely life was impressed upon me as I wrote In 1959 I met m mother again and saw her for the first time in twenty years From then on I kept in constant touch my mother visiting her regularly until she died in 1992 About the Author Sheila Brook was born in 1931 and lived in Middlesex for many years Long periods of her early childhood were spent living in other people s homes owing to her mother s recurrent episodes of mental illness Shortly before the outbreak of the Second World War her mother was again admitted to a psychiatric hospital Twenty years passed before she and her mother met again Sheila has lived in Hertfordshire for over forty years and when her children were older she began a new career as a primary school teacher Severe long standing facial neuralgia forced her to take early retirement after some years of teaching and the satisfaction she had in her chosen career made this hard to bear Her first book Child of the Thirties covered the first fourteen years of her life and her story now continues in Where is the Key as she describes many of the changes that have occurred in her own life and in society in general through the second half of the twentieth century Sheila has suffered from various forms of severe neuralgic pain but has managed to maintain an active life playing tennis until she had turned seventy and then enjoying a weekly Keep Fit class She is an avid reader when time permits and loves her garden She used to enjoy cooking but finds this less satisfying since her husband s death in 2007 She enjoys doing jigsaw puzzles when time permits but her writing has taken up all her spare time in recent years The constant pain she suffers made worse when sitting down and also her acute sensitivity to loud noise now limit her involvement in many social activities Sheila wrote her first book in her maiden name of Brook as a tribute to her late parents Her mother features with affection in her second book As she continued her story she appreciated how much anxiety and sorrow her father had suffered and how mental illness had deprived her mother of her home her family and her freedom

The Boys' School Girls: Abby's Shadow Lil Chase,2015-02-05 Hillcrest High Boys School has admitted girls for the first time but with only ten girls in the school it hasn't been an easy start for Abby Tara and their new friends. With her sister still very ill, Abby's had it tougher than most. When she has the chance to go on holiday for half term, she's excited to get away from everything. And even more thrilled to meet a new friend, Gerry. Abby has never felt cool or popular, but Gerry makes her feel special. Together they have a blast. But it's not long before Gerry starts behaving strangely and soon Abby is forced to wonder what if befriending Gerry was the biggest mistake she's ever made.

Under the Magnolia Trees Rebecca Morgan, 2011-06-01 Description Using diaries written from an early age, Rebecca gives an evocative portrayal of her childhood in Hertfordshire. She reflects on her upbringing with her parents and her four siblings and tries to trace the origins of her mental health problems. She acknowledges the difficulties in her past, such as her father's heavy drinking and the stresses within the family which pervade into her grown-up self. Many of the memories are happy ones, but there is an underlying insecurity and anxiety which linger into her adult life. About the Author Rebecca Morgan was born in Hertfordshire in 1951. She obtained a degree in Modern History and Politics from Sheffield University in 1973, followed by a Post Graduate Diploma in Librarianship from Birmingham Polytechnic in 1975. In 1978 she became a Chartered Librarian and has worked for 20 years for Sheffield Libraries, Archives and Information Service. She has experienced severe depression, postnatal depression, and psychotic illness during her life. Rebecca is married with one son and lives in Sheffield. This is her second book, following her vivid picture of her years of mental illness in Hertfordshire and Sheffield portrayed in her first book The Nest of Sanity, also published by Chipmunk Publishing. Rebecca Morgan is a pseudonym.

The Crusader, 1922 Hidden Demons David Clive Price Ph.D., 2020-06-03 David has crafted a beautiful narrative of what it means to be an addict. He takes a fearless moral inventory of his life without being cynical or grandiose. He shares tools and techniques based on personal experience and painful self-investigation that really matter and more importantly work. All of us fail and dishonour ourselves at times in worlds of our own making. We throw away our potential that resides in every sunrise whilst mourning at sunset the loss of our days. We are all free to change our stories and the world we have made for ourselves. David shows us how. Paul Sinclair, emotional intelligence and addiction coach, NLP Master. This book is written 100 per cent from the heart and if like me you have read some of David's other books, you too will find that he writes in a way that you feel he is talking to you personally. Hidden Demons doesn't hold back on the graphic past of his life, however hard to digest, and perfectly reflects the message it portrays so effectively: accept the truth, for only then will you be able to change. Tony Jeton Selimi, human behaviour expert specialising in the psychology of maximising human potential, TEDx speaker, co-creator of Living My Illusion documentary series and Amazon international bestselling author of A Path to Wisdom, <http://tonyselimi.com>. In his work with senior leaders and in his powerful books, David shows us that the vulnerable future is already upon us, more open and connected societies, more outreach and more resilient and responsive leaders. John Mattone, bestselling author and world's top executive coach, Global Gurus 30.
