My Life Story Fadhma Aïth Mansour Amrouche, 1988 Selvbibliografi af berber kvinden Fadhma Amrouche 1882 1967 der blev en bermt sangerinde i Paris med sange fra hendes hjemegn Kabylien The Story of My Life Fadhma Aïth Mansour Amrouche, 2009 This moving autobiography of a Berber woman from the village of Tizi Hibel in the Kabylie Mountains of Algeria is unique on a number of levels Illegitimate Fadhma Amrouche would have been killed with her mother to preserve the honour of the family but for the intervention of the French authorities Because of this she received an education and eventually married a Christian convert although they remained closely linked to their families of origin Her account of battling poverty illness and exile is a gripping story Fadhma's fight for an education in a world of almost universal female illiteracy was nothing short of heroic She and her children moved from the harsh fixed hierarchies of a traditional Berber village with archaic means of production to become cosmopolitan Parisians The journey was filled with heartbreak and Fadhma never overcame her nostalgia for what she had lost but never doubted that the journey had to be made Her unassuming narrative throws an unforgettable light on Berber life women's position in traditional societies and the tensions between governed and governors in the colonial world Women, Autobiography, Theory Sidonie Smith, Julia

Watson, 1998 The first comprehensive guide to the burgeoning field of women's autobiography Essays from 39 prominent critics and writers explore narratives across the centuries and from around the globe A list of more than 200 women's autobiographies and a comprehensive bibliography provide invaluable information for scholars teachers and readers

Women in World History Bonnie G. Smith, 2019-10-31 Women in World History brings together the most recent scholarship in women's and world history in a single volume covering the period from 1450 to the present enabling readers to understand women's relationship to world developments over the past five hundred years Women have served the world as unfree people often forced to migrate as slaves trafficked sex workers and indentured laborers working off debts Diseases have migrated through women's bodies and women themselves have deliberately spread religious belief and fervor as well as ideas They have been global authors soldiers and astronauts encircling the globe and moving far beyond it They have written classics in political and social thought and crafted literary and artistic works alongside others who were revolutionaries and reform minded activists Historical scholarship has shown that there is virtually no part of the world where women's presence is not manifest whether in archives oral testimonials personal papers the material record evidence of disease and famine myth and religious teachings and myriad other forms of documentation As these studies mount the idea of surveying women's past on a global basis becomes daunting This book aims to redress this situation and offer a synthetic world history of women in modern times A Social History Of Women And Gender In The Modern Middle East Margaret Lee

Meriwether, 2018-02-12 Synthesizing the results of the extensive research on women and gender done over the last twenty years Margaret L Meriwether and Judith E Tucker provide an accessible overview of the scholarship on women and gender in the nineteenth and twentieth century Middle East The book is organized along thematic lines that reflect major focuses of research in this area gender and work gender and the state gender and law gender and religion and feminist movements and each chapter is written by a scholar who has done original research on the topic Dictionary of African Biography

Emmanuel Kwaku Akyeampong, Professor Henry Louis Gates, Jr., 2012-02-02 From the Pharaohs to Fanon Dictionary of African Biography provides a comprehensive overview of the lives of the men and women who shaped Africa's history Unprecedented in scale DAB covers the whole continent from Tunisia to South Africa from Sierra Leone to Somalia It also encompasses the full scope of history from Queen Hatsheput of Egypt 1490 1468 BC and Hannibal the military commander and strategist of Carthage 243 183 BC to Kwame Nkrumah of Ghana 1909 1972 Miriam Makeba and Nelson Mandela of South Africa 1918 Women and the War Story Miriam Cooke, 2023-09-01 In a book that radically and fundamentally revises the way we think about war Miriam Cooke charts the emerging tradition of women's contributions to what she calls the War Story a genre formerly reserved for men Concentrating on the contemporary literature of the Arab world Cooke looks at how alternatives to the master narrative challenge the authority of experience and the permission to write She shows how women who write themselves and their experiences into the War Story undo the masculine contract with violence sexuality and glory There is no single War Story Cooke concludes the standard narrative and with it the way we think about and conduct war can be changed As the traditional time space organization and representation of war have shifted so have ways of describing it As drug wars civil wars gang wars and ideological wars have moved into neighborhoods and homes the line between combat zones and safe zones has blurred Cooke shows how women's stories contest the acceptance of a dyadically structured world and break down the easy oppositions home vs front civilian vs combatant war vs peace victory vs defeat that have framed and ultimately promoted war In a book that radically and fundamentally revises the way we think about war Miriam Cooke charts the emerging tradition of women's contributions to what she calls the War Story a genre formerly reserved for men Concentrating on the contemporary literature

Gender Politics In Sudan Sondra Hale, 2018-10-08 Focusing on the relationship between gender and the state in the construction national identity politics in twentieth century northern Sudan the author investigates the mechanisms that the state and political and religious interest groups employ for achieving political and cultural hegemony Hale argues that such a process involves the transformation of culture through the involvement of women in both left wing and Islamist revolutionary movements In drawing parallels between the gender ideology of secular and religious organizations in Sudan Hale analyzes male positioning of women within the culture to serve the movement Using data from fieldwork conducted between 1961 and 1988 she investigates the conditions under which women's culture can be active generating positive expressions of resistance and transformation Hale argues that in northern Sudan women may be using Islam to construct their own identities and improve their situation Nevertheless she raises questions about the barriers that women may face now that the Islamic state is achieving hegemony and discusses limits of identity politics      French Mediterraneans Patricia M. E. Lorcin, Todd Shepard, 2016-05 While the Mediterranean is often considered a distinct unified space recent scholarship on the early modern history of the sea has suggested that this perspective is essentially a Western one devised from the vantage point of imperial power that historically patrolled the region's seas and controlled its ports By contrast for the peoples of its southern shores the Mediterranean was polymorphous shifting with the economic and seafaring exigencies of the moment Nonetheless by the nineteenth century the idea of a monolithic Mediterranean had either been absorbed by or imposed on the populations of the region In French Mediterraneans editors Patricia M E Lorcin and Todd Shepard offer a collection of scholarship that reveals the important French element in the nineteenth and twentieth century creation of the singular Mediterranean These essays provide a critical study of space and movement through new approaches to think about the maps migrations and margins of the sea in the French imperial and transnational context By reconceptualizing the Mediterranean this volume illuminates the diversity of connections between places and polities that rarely fit models of nation state allegiances or preordained geographies

Smith, 2008 The Encyclopedia of Women in World History captures the experiences of women throughout world history in a comprehensive 4 volume work Although there has been extensive research on women in history by region no text or reference work has comprehensively covered the role women have played throughout world history The past thirty years have seen an explosion of research and effort to present the experiences and contributions of women not only in the Western world but across the globe Historians have investigated women's daily lives in virtually every region and have researched the leadership roles women have filled across time and region They have found and demonstrated that there is virtually no historical social or demographic change in which women have not been involved and by which their lives have not been affected The Oxford Encyclopedia of Women in World History benefits greatly from these efforts and experiences and illuminates how women worldwide have influenced and been influenced by these historical social and demographic changes The Encyclopedia contains over 1 250 signed articles arranged in an A Z format for ease of use The entries cover six main areas biographies geography and history comparative culture and society including adoption abortion performing arts organizations and movements such as the Egyptian Uprising and the Paris Commune womens and gender studies and topics in world history that include slave trade globalization and disease With its rich and insightful entries by leading scholars and experts this reference work is sure to be a valued go to resource for scholars college and high school students and general readers alike orders in Morocco and Algeria while serving as an important counterpoint to the oppositionist Islamist current This is the first book length study to analyze the rise of the modern ethnocultural Berber Amazigh movement in North Africa and the Berber diaspora Bruce Maddy Weitzman begins by tracing North African history from the perspective of its indigenous Berber inhabitants and their interactions with more powerful societies from Hellenic and Roman times through a millennium of Islam to the era of Western colonialism He then concentrates on the marginalization and eventual reemergence of the Berber question in independent Algeria and Morocco against a background of the growing crisis of regime legitimacy in each country His investigation illuminates many issues including the fashioning of official national narratives and policies aimed at subordinating Berbers in an Arab nationalist and Islamic centered universe the emergence of a counter movement promoting an expansive Berber imagining that emphasizes the rights of minority groups and indigenous peoples and the international aspects of modern Berberism
