Materialism, Minds, and Cartesian Dualism Robert Francis

Almeder,2022-03-11 Materialism Minds and Cartesian Dualism offers a history of how philosophers and scientists have thought about mind body problems especially as it concerns the question of consciousness after death This book interrogates the last thirty years of scientific research on reincarnation considering a series of case studies impossible to explain in any other way than persisting consciousness after death Although this book does not attempt to argue why or how some people reincarnate and how long they reincarnate It argues that these case studies demonstrate in compelling ways that some people have indeed to some degree reincarnated Therefore the philosophical materialist position that only physical objects exist is refuted Naturalism and Its Challenges Gary N. Kemp, Ali Hossein Khani, Hossein Sheykh Rezaee, Hassan

Amiriara,2024-11-25 This volume features new essays on the application justification and role of naturalism in philosophical inquiry It serves as an important update on current controversies about naturalism The contributors include leading figures who have written on naturalism and its relevance to a wide range of issues across philosophical subdisciplines The chapters discuss how naturalism can be properly employed in different philosophical areas such as epistemology metaphysics philosophy of mind philosophy of language philosophy of religion philosophy of time philosophy of science philosophy of mathematics philosophy of memory cognitive science ethics meta ethics and normativity Naturalism and Its Challenges will be of interest to scholars and advanced students working in a wide range of philosophical disciplines SEE! Kai

Vöckler,2012 By drawing on the experience of different independent initiatives and associations in southeastern Europe it is possible to draft and collate typical development and qualification strategies for periods of urban transformation in post conflict situations along with applying these to similar urban situations elsewhere This book presents different approaches to this topic and answers the question with an absolute yes The book offers contributions from local initiatives throughout southeastern Europe and looks forward to enhancing debate and action with both local and international impact Series ERSTE Foundation Vol 2 Remembering and Forgetting in the Digital Age Florent Thouvenin, Peter Hettich, Herbert

Burkert, Urs Gasser,2018-08-24 This book examines the fundamental question of how legislators and other rule makers should handle remembering and forgetting information especially personally identifiable information in the digital age It encompasses such topics as privacy data protection individual and collective memory and the right to be forgotten when considering data storage processing and deletion The authors argue in support of maintaining the new digital default that personally identifiable information should be remembered rather than forgotten The book offers guidelines for legislators as well as private and public organizations on how to make decisions on remembering and forgetting personally identifiable information in the digital age It draws on three main perspectives law based on a comprehensive analysis of Swiss law that serves as an example technology specifically search engines internet archives social media and the mobile internet and an interdisciplinary perspective with contributions from various disciplines such as philosophy anthropology sociology psychology and economics amongst others Thanks to this multifaceted approach readers will benefit from a holistic view of the informational phenomenon of remembering and forgetting This book will appeal to lawyers philosophers sociologists historians economists anthropologists and psychologists among many others Such wide appeal is due to its rich and interdisciplinary approach to the challenges for individuals and society at large with regard to remembering and forgetting in the digital age

Depending on Strangers David P Levine, 2021-03-01 We live in a world where our livelihood depends on our ability to relate to strangers The central quality that defines strangers is that they are unknown Because strangers are unknown they represent in the world outside the unknown self within The unknown self is the core of the personality considered as a potential to become something yet to be determined To be already known is to be determined prior to and independently of our presence in our lives At the outset of the process of taking form the individual is in a sense a stranger to self and to others The more this is the case the greater the openness of the process of self formation and the more marked the role of freedom from predetermination in that process Freedom from predetermination exists along three dimensions the free movement of thoughts and ideas or inner freedom the freedom to relate which is also the freedom not to relate and freedom in relating which is the possibility of maintaining secure self boundaries in relations with others In exploring freedom understood in this way Professor Levine considers such topics as the nature of inner freedom and its relationship to deliberation and choice stranger anxiety and its connection to group dynamics and social connection the internal factors that enable us to make the decisions that shape our lives and through our actions realize the ends embedded in our decisions how our memories shape our thought processes and therefore the choices we make and the lives we lead that result from them what makes it possible for us to live comfortably with and depend on people we do not know concern for the welfare of strangers and how our welfare can be secure in a world where we do not care about others and they do not care about us

Jungian Archetypes Robin Robertson, 2016-06-28 Twenty five hundred years ago Pythagoras taught that the simple counting numbers are the basic building blocks of reality A century and a half later Plato argued that the world we live in is but a poor copy of the world of ideas Neither realized that their numbers and ideas might also be the most basic components of the human psych archetypes This book traces the modern evolution of this idea from the Renaissance to the 20th century leading up to the archetypal hypothesis of psychologist C G Jung and the mirroring of mathematical ideas of Kurt G del

Autobiographical Memory and the Validity of Retrospective Reports Norbert Schwarz, Seymour Sudman, 2012-12-06 Autobiographical Memory and the Validity of Retrospective Reports presents the collaborative efforts of cognitive psychologists and research methodologists in the area of autobiographical memory The editors have included an esteemed group of researchers whose work covers a wide range of issues related to autobiographical memory and the validity of retrospective reports reflecting the diverse traditions in cognitive psychology and survey research The first part of the book provides different theoretical perspectives on retrospective reports along with supporting experimental evidence The second part of this volume focuses specifically on retrospective reports of behaviors including recall of the frequency and intensity of physical pain of the number of cigarettes smoked of dietary habits and of child support payments The following sections address the cognitive processes involved in event dating and time estimation and a discussion of the differences between self and proxy reports The final part extends the discussion of autobiographical memories in different directions including the impact of autobiographical memories on individuals assessment of their current life the assessment of social change on the basis of retrospective reports and the issue of collective memories This book an indispensable and timely resource for researchers and students of cognitive psychology as well as to survey methodologists and statisticians demonstrates the considerable progress made in understanding the cognitive dynamics of retrospective reports

Hawaiian by Birth Joy Schulz, 2020-07-01 2018 Sally and Ken Owens Award from the Western History Association Twelve companies of American missionaries were sent to the Hawaiian Islands between 1819 and 1848 with the goal of spreading American Christianity and New England values By the 1850s American missionary families in the islands had birthed more than 250 white children considered Hawaiian subjects by the indigenous monarchy but U S citizens by missionary parents In Hawaiian by Birth Joy Schulz explores the tensions among the competing parental cultural and educational interests affecting these children and in turn the impact the children had on nineteenth century U S foreign policy These children of white missionaries would eventually alienate themselves from the Hawaiian monarchy and indigenous population by securing disproportionate economic and political power Their childhoods complicated by both Hawaiian and American influences led to significant political and international ramifications once the children reached adulthood Almost none chose to follow their parents into the missionary profession and many rejected the Christian faith Almost all supported the annexation of Hawaii despite their parents hope that the islands would remain independent Whether the missionary children moved to the U S mainland stayed in the islands or traveled the world they took with them a sense of racial privilege and cultural superiority Schulz adds children s voices to the historical record with this first comprehensive study of the white children born in the Hawaiian Islands between 1820 and 1850 and their path toward political revolution

Genocide and the Politics of Memory Herbert Hirsch, 2000-11-09 More than sixty million people have been victims of genocide in the twentieth century alone including recent casualties in Bosnia and Rwanda Herbert Hirsch studies repetitions of large scale human violence in order to ascertain why people in every historical epoch seem so willing to kill each other He argues that the primal passions unleashed in the cause of genocide are tied to the manipulation of memory for political purposes According to Hirsch leaders often invoke or create memories of real or fictitious past injustices to motivate their followers to kill for political gain or other reasons. Generations pass on their particular versions of events which then become history. If we understand how cultural memory is created, Hirsch says we may then begin to understand how and why episodes of mass murder occur and will be able to act to prevent them. In order to revise the politics of memory, Hirsch proposes essential reforms in both the modern political state and in systems of education.

Systematic Philosophical Theology, Volume 2a William Lane Craig, 2025-03-25

These volumes are chock full of arguments in a way that stands out in this field. This is a remarkable generational work that will become the resource in philosophical theology. J. P. Moreland, Distinguished Professor of Philosophy, Biola University. An enormous undertaking. However, Craig's past record indicates that he can and will carry it through to completion. Furthermore, his established reputation guarantees that the work will attract wide interest and will have a ready readership.

William Hasker, Emeritus Professor of Philosophy, Huntington University. A transformative journey through Christian doctrine.

Volume IIa: On God: Attributes of God William Lane Craig's Systematic Philosophical Theology is a multi-volume explication of Christian doctrine in the classic Protestant tradition of the loci communes as seen through the lens of contemporary analytic philosophy. Uniquely blending the disciplines of biblical theology, historical theology, and analytic theology, these volumes aim to provide readers with a biblical and philosophically coherent articulation of a wide range of Christian doctrines.

Volume II treats the locus On God in two parts. The first part, Volume IIa: Attributes of God, explores the coherence of theism. Conceiving of God as an infinite and personal being of maximal greatness, Craig carefully defines and explicates the divine attributes of incorporeality, necessity, aseity, simplicity, eternality, omnipresence, omniscience, omnipotence, and goodness. In the second part, Volume IIb: Excursus on Natural Theology, The Trinity, Craig examines six arguments for God's existence, including the argument from contingency, the kalam cosmological argument, the argument from the applicability of mathematics, the argument from cosmic fine-tuning, the moral argument, and the ontological argument, along with the problem of evil. Following the excursus, he transitions to an articulation and defence of Christian theism, formulating a biblical doctrine of the Trinity and offering a model of God as a tripersonal soul.

Contributions from the 4th and the 5th Annual International Forum 2010 and 2011 Within the German Congress on Crime Prevention Marc Coester, Erich Marks, 2012

The German Congress on Crime Prevention (GCOCP) is an annual event that takes place since 1995 in different German cities and targets all areas of crime prevention. Since its foundation, the GCOCP has been open to an international audience with a growing number of non-German speaking participants joining. To give the international guests their own discussion forum, the Annual International Forum (AIF) within the GCOCP was established in 2007. For international guests, this event offers lectures in English language as well as other activities within the GCOCP that are translated simultaneously. This book reflects the outcomes of the 4th AIF (10 and 11 of May 2010 in Berlin) and 5th AIF (30 and 31 of May 2011 in Oldenburg). The articles reflect worldwide views on crime prevention and criminal policy as well as the current status, discussion, research, and projects in crime prevention from different countries Also both the Berlin and Oldenburg Declarations are included reports about the key findings of both congresses Human-Computer Interaction Julie Jacko,Constantine Stephanidis,2003-09-01 This is the second volume in the HCI International Conference Proceedings 2003 See following arrangement for details Prospection, Well-being, and Mental Health Andrew MacLeod,2017 This book reviews the growing evidence for the link between prospection and well being A variety of aspects of prospection are discussed including prediction and anticipation for future events judging how we will feel when events do happen to us and how we feel in the here and now when contemplating what will happen in the future
