Perspectives in Vernacular Architecture Camille Wells,1982 Perspectives in vernacular architecture Vernacular Architecture Forum,1982 Perspectives in Vernacular Architecture Camille Wells,1987 Perspectives in Vernacular Architecture Camille Wells,1986 Perspectives in Vernacular Architecture ,2006 Papers presented at various meetings of the forum Perspectives in Vernacular Architecture, III Thomas Carter,1989 Building Environments Kenneth A. Breisch,Alison K. Hoagland,2005 Selected articles originally presented at the Vernacular Architecture Forum conference in Duluth Minnesota 2002 and Newport Rhode Island 2001 The Country Houses of John F. Staub Stephen Fox,2007 This ambitious study of Staub s work by architectural historian Stephen Fox goes beyond a description of Staub s houses Fox analyzes the roles of space structure and decoration in creating defining and maintaining social class structures and expectations and shows how Staub was able to incorporate these elements and understandings into the elegant buildings he designed for his clients In the process he contributes greatly to a fuller understanding of Houston s emergence as a premier American city BOOK JACKET Invitation to Vernacular Architecture Thomas Carter,Elizabeth C. Cromley,2005 Review Invitation to Vernacular Architecture A Guide to the Study of Ordinary Buildings and Landscapes is a manual for exploring and interpreting vernacular architecture the common buildings of particular regions and time periods Thomas Carter and Elizabeth Collins Cromley provide a comprehensive introduction to the field Rich with illustrations and written in a clear and jargon free style Invitation to Vernacular Architecture is an ideal text for courses in architecture material culture studies historic preservation American studies and history and a useful guide for anyone interested in the built environment Jacket People, Power, Places Sally Ann McMurry,Annmarie Adams,2000 From workers cottages in Milwaukee s Polish community to Alaskan homesteads during the Great Depression from early American retail stores to nineteenth century prisons different types of buildings reflect the diverse responses of people to their architectural needs Through inquiry into such topics the contributors to this volume examine a variety of building forms as they assess the current state of vernacular architecture studies Because scholars in vernacular architecture have come to consider thematic questions rather than simply to look at types of structures the essays chosen for this collection address issues of how people power and places intersect They demonstrate not only the inextricable links between people and place but also show how power relationships are defined by spatial organization and how this use of space has helped define the distinction between private and public The essays examine a wide range of forms from camp meetings to trolley cottages to consider what buildings might reveal about their makers users and even interpreters One article for example will give readers a new appreciation of balloon framing in Midwest farmhouses refuting popular notions that it was a single individual s invention Another considers servants quarters in Apartheid era South Africa to explore the relationship between black domestic workers and their white employers Drawn from the Vernacular Architecture Forum conferences of 1996 and 1997 these thirteen essays make significant contributions to the study of design and building processes and the adaptation of architectural forms and spaces over time They help redefine the scope of vernacular and provide new models for better understanding the built environment The Editors Sally McMurry is professor of history at Pennsylvania State University and author of Families and Farmhouses in Nineteenth Century America Annmarie Adams is associate professor of architecture at McGill University and author of Architecture in the Family Way Doctors Houses and Women 1870 1900

Constructing Image, Identity, and Place: Perspectives in Vernacular Architecture, IX, 2003 Everyday Architecture of the Mid-Atlantic Gabrielle M. Lanier, Bernard L. Herman, 1997-07-15 Everyday Architecture of the Mid Atlantic gives proof to the insights architecture offers into who we are culturally as a community a region and a nation American Sanctuary Louis P. Nelson, 2006-03-14 This volume examines a diverse set of spaces and buildings seen through the lens of popular practice and belief to shed light on the complexities of sacred space in America Contributors explore how dedication sermons document shifting understandings of the meetinghouse in early 19th century Connecticut the changes in evangelical church architecture during the same century and what that tells us about evangelical religious life the impact of contemporary issues on Catholic church architecture the impact of globalization on the construction of traditional sacred spaces the urban practice of Jewish space nature worship and Central Park in New York the mezuzah and domestic sacred space and finally the spiritual aspects of African American yard art

The Philadelphia Country House Mark E. Reinberger, Elizabeth McLean, 2015-10-21 A highly readable beautifully illustrated study of the homes built by elite colonial Philadelphians as retreats which balanced English models with developing local taste Colonial Americans if they could afford it liked to emulate the fashions of London and the style and manners of English country society while at the same time thinking of themselves as distinctly American The houses they built reflected this ongoing cultural tension By the mid eighteenth century Americans had developed their own version of the bourgeois English countryseat a class of estate equally distinct in social function and form from townhouses rural plantations and farms The metropolis of Philadelphia was surrounded by a particularly extraordinary collection of country houses and landscapes Taken together these estates make up one of the most significant groups of homes in colonial America In this masterly volume Mark Reinberger a senior architectural historian and Elizabeth McLean an accomplished scholar of landscape history examine the country houses that the urban gentry built on the outskirts of Philadelphia in response to both local and international economic forces social imperatives and fashion What do these structures and their gardens say about the taste of the people who conceived and executed them How did their evolving forms demonstrate the persistence of European templates while embodying the spirit of American adaptation The Philadelphia Country House explores the myriad ways in which these estates which were located in the country but responded to the ideas and manners of the city straddled the cultural divide between urban and rural Moving from general trends and building principles to architectural interiors and landscape design Reinberger and McLean take readers on an intimate tour of the fine fashionable elements found in upstairs parlors and formal gardens They also reveal the intricate working world of servants cellars and kitchen gardens Highlighting an important aspect of American historic architecture this handsome volume is illustrated with nearly 150 photographs more than 60 line drawings and two color galleries The Culture of Building Howard Davis,2006-06-08 In this book of thirteen chapters Howard Davis uses historical contemporary and cross cultural examples to describe the nature and influence of these cultures He shows how building cultures reflect the general cultures in which they exist how they have changed over history how they affect the form of buildings and cities and how present building cultures which are responsible for the contemporary everyday environments may be improved Jacket

Making Place Arijit Sen,Lisa Silverman,2014-02-13 An analysis of how city dwellers interact with their social and materials worlds in everyday life and how this affects their bodies Space and place have become central to analysis of culture and history in the humanities and social sciences Making Place examines how people engage the material and social worlds of the urban environment via the rhythms of everyday life and how bodily responses are implicated in the making and experiencing of place The contributors introduce the concept of spatial ethnography a new methodological approach that incorporates both material and abstract perspectives in the study of people and place and encourages consideration of the various levels from the personal to the planetary at which spatial change occurs The book s case studies come from Costa Rica Colombia India Austria Italy the United Kingdom and the United States Rich diverse and provocative meditations on place and identity formation it builds on the previous scholarship on bodies memory and place while also moving our understanding of this theme in a refreshing and engaging direction Abidin Kusno University of British Columbia Shaping Communities Carter L. Hudgins,Elizabeth C. Cromley,1997 Ed SUNY Buffalo Revised papers from two conferences 1992 and 1993 Two Carpenters J. Ritchie Garrison,2006 Journeyman Performances Urban building Master builder Change Double parlor Cottage and mansion Contractor Monuments Material Culture Kenneth L.
