Linking Literacy and Libraries in Global Communities Marlene Asselin, Ray Doiron, 2016-05-06 Libraries in today s global world have emerged as key players in building a culture for reading in communities while enhancing the literacy development of children youth adults and seniors Whether one lives in a modern city with sophisticated library services or in a remote region of the world where access to books and literacy services may be limited librarians and libraries are contributing to the development of learning communities This book captures some of the essence of this work in libraries in order to inspire and support all those who value the role of libraries in building global communities The authors highlight the emerging role of libraries and community partners in literacy development and provide concrete examples via case studies drawn from global communities demonstrating how libraries are working to support local literacies They also suggest recommendations for supporting the critical role for libraries in supporting global literacies The book will become essential reading for all those interested in literacy and libraries throughout the world Negotiating Critical Literacies with Teachers Vivian Maria Vasquez, Stacie L.

Tate, Jerome C. Harste, 2013-03-05 How can teacher educators engage pre service and in service teachers in learning about and framing their teaching from a critical literacy perspective What does this mean Why is it important To address these questions this book offers a theoretical framework and detailed examples pedagogical resources and insights into ways to build critical literacies with teachers in and out of school Its unique contribution is to bridge critical literacy theory and teacher education Participants in teacher education programs and professional development settings are often reminded of the need to build curriculum using children s inquiry questions passions and interests but generally this message is delivered only through telling lectures or showing examples from other people s classrooms This book advances critical literacy by explaining and illustrating how teacher educators can do much more by creating opportunities for pre service and in service teachers to live critical literacies through experiencing firsthand what it is like to be a learner where the curriculum is built around teachers own inquiry questions passions and interests Innovation, Literacy, and Arts Integration in
