Perspectives On Our Age Revtr:

A Study of the Relationship Between Age and Shifting Self-perspectives Elizabeth Arnold Cutler, 1951 Age and the Reach of Sociological Imagination Dale Dannefer, 2021-08-09 The dominant narratives of both science and popular culture typically define aging and human development as self contained individual matters failing to recognize the degree to which they are shaped by experiential and contextual contingencies Our understandings of age are thereby boxed in and constricted by assumptions of normality and naturalness that limit our capacities to explore possible alternative experiences of development and aging and the conditions both individual and social that might foster such experiences Combining foundational principles of critical social science with recent breakthroughs in research across disciplines ranging from biology to economics this book offers a scientifically and humanly expanded landscape for apprehending the life course Rejecting familiar but false dichotomies such as nature vs nurture and structure vs agency it clarifies the organismic fundamentals that make the actual content of experience so centrally important in age and development and it also explores why attention to these fundamentals has been so resisted in studies of individuals and individual change and in policy and practice as well In presenting the basic principles and reviewing the current state of knowledge Dale Dannefer introduces multi levelled social processes that shape human development and aging over the life course and age as a cultural phenomenon organizing his approach around three key frontiers of inquiry that each invite a vigorous exercise of sociological imagination the Social Structural Frontier the Biosocial Frontier and the Critical Reflexive Frontier Successful Aging as a Contemporary Obsession Sarah Lamb, 2017 Successful Aging as a Contemporary Obsession exposes and complicates contemporary readings of successful aging questioning and defamiliarizing Western visions of the place of old age in the life course This volume brings fresh insight and international perspectives that expand our collective imagination about what it is to age and by extension to live *Positive Aging * A SMART Living 365 Guide To Thriving and Wellbeing At Any Age* Kathy Gottberg, 2017-09-04 Do you have a positive view of getting older It matters Like many baby boomers her age Kathy Gottberg started wondering if it was all down hill after turning 60 Instead she gladly discovered that how each of us views the aging process strongly influences our health and happiness in the years to come Now rather than seeing her advancing years from the perspective of decline and disease Kathy is happy to share in the pages of this book how the vast majority of people can and do remain reasonably healthy active and thriving for the remainder of their lives How did we get it wrong Until recently most studies of people as they aged came from insurance companies drug companies or doctors who specialized in geriatric care Like the psychology field research in the past often focused on pathologies what didn't work or what went wrong Fortunately that is changing Now many groups organizations and scientists are looking into what makes for a long and healthy future no matter what the age Instead of only seeking ways to make our final years merely comfortable the attention is now being put on what helps us to continue to grow and thrive When we choose to see aging from this new positive perspective each of us is granted the opportunity to celebrate the many benefits of what is now being called the third age of life Who will benefit from reading this book Certainly those at age 50 and beyond will find inspiration But those just hitting midlife should also find encouragement After all the more we tell those younger than us that aging can be wonderful fulfilling and liberating the better Then instead of worrying about what is coming as we age holding a positive perspective is sure to keep our minds and options open to the possible And as the saying goes like fine wine we will just get better with age

Positive Aging A SMART Living Guide 365 to Thriving Wellbeing At Any Age is a collection of blog posts written by Kathy Gottberg on her blog SMART Living 365 com during the last five years These articles address some of her best ideas about the topic and tie into how each of us can fearlessly embrace our age and look forward to the days to come The AgeTech Revolution Keren` Etkin,2022-05-31 Have you ever thought what your life may be like as you age and what technology will be available to you at that time In The AgeTech Revolution A Book about the Intersection of Aging and Technology author Keren Etkin takes us on a journey to understand the social political economical and physical implications of aging and its impact on the world of technology Etkin interviews older adults tech start up founders and designers and entrepreneurs amongst others to discover what the landscape today looks like and what the hope is five ten fifteen years down the road We learn that in the past older adults have been left out of the equation Technology has been made for their use but without including them in the design process This is gradually changing Technology is becoming a must not a maybe Our eyes will be opened to what the future could might hold in the world of technology AgeTech Revolution provides us with the data and perspective necessary to help change our communities to be more inclusive and supportive of older adults The Crisis of Our Age Pitirim Aleksandrovič forme avant 2007 Sorokin,1967
