Prophets, Pastors and Public Choices Roger Hutchinson, 2006-01-01 The Mackenzie Valley natural gas pipeline debate included many actors This is the first in depth study in comparative religious ethics to examine the debate with a particular focus on the role of the Canadian churches In 1974 twenty seven of the world s largest oil and natural gas companies applied for permission to build a pipeline through the Mackenzie Valley to transport Alaskan and northern Canadian gas to large southern markets Many northern native peoples opposed the proposal and called for a moratorium on major northern development projects until native land claims had been settled The mainline Canadian Christian churches supported the call for a moratorium and through the interchurch coalition Project North campaigned against the pipeline However some native peoples supported the proposal to build the pipeline and many of the pipeline s proponents were members of churches that called for a moratorium on the project This case study in comparative religious ethics though written from a pro moratorium stand attempts to clarify the debate Conflicting responses to the pipeline proposal are assessed in relation to hard facts concerning the need for northern gas in the South social scientific findings regarding the impact of the pipeline on native communities the rights of native peoples to participate in decisions affecting their lives assumptions about the way of life of non native people in the South and the role of religious convictions in public choices This thoroughly researched study reveals the inner workings and influences of the Canadian churches involved and illustrates their commitment on behalf of the northern natives opposed to the project Doing Ethics in a Pluralistic World Helen M. Buss, Roger Hutchinson, Canadian Corporation for Studies in Religion, 2002-05-30 Annotation A collection of essays in honour of the man who encouraged and participated in shaping a Canadian contextual social ethics Doing Ethics in a Pluralistic World Phyllis D. Airhart, Marilyn J. Legge, Gary L. Redcliffe, 2002-05-30 Doing Ethics in a Pluralistic World is an apt title for this collection of essays in honour of Roger C Hutchinson who over many decades has encouraged and participated in shaping a Canadian contextual social ethics His abiding interest in social ethics and in religious engagement with public issues is reflected in his life s work seeking the consensus and self knowledge required to achieve cooperation in the search for a just participatory and sustainable society One of Roger Hutchinson s many notable accomplishments is his development of a method of dialogue for ethical clarification in situations of diversity Some of the essays collected here apply this method to specific issues while others discuss how religious persons and organizations can and do co operate in a pluralistic world to achieve social and ecological well being All essays are of keen interest to those concerned with the role and function of ethics at the matrix of religious conviction and social transformation For nearly three decades Roger Hutchinson has been based at

Victoria University in Toronto first in religious studies then at Emmanuel College where he completed his teaching career as professor of church and society while serving as principal from 1996 to 2001 Political Islam, Citizenship, and Minorities Andrea Zaki Stephanous, 2012-07-10 Political Islam Citizenship and Minorities discusses the relationship between religion and politics in the Middle East and the future of political Christianity The emergence of political Islam and the recent changes in political Christianity in the region have both contributed to a new perception of the role of Arab Christians Political Christianity is a part of the political discourse in the Middle East it makes a major contribution to the political life of the region This book explores Arab political participation in general and particularly examines the role of minorities The author considers both the impact of political Islam on politics and the concept of a political system based on religious principles The Copts of Egypt and the Maronites of Lebanon are compared in order to examine the nature of political participation by Arab Christians and to consider the political theologies behind both communities Arabism as a broad concept that includes Islam and other faiths is our concern A new vocabulary and fresh concepts for the effective political participation of Arab Christians are introduced in this book and a new concept of dynamic citizenship that is based on the development of civil society and learns from the problems of the past is developed The Right to Development and International Economic Law Isabella D Bunn, 2012-03-01 The United Nations is commemorating the 25th anniversary of the 1986 Declaration on the Right to Development which proclaimed the right to be an inalienable human right by virtue of which every human person and all peoples are entitled to participate in contribute to and enjoy economic social cultural and political development in which all human rights and fundamental freedoms can be realized The UN now aims to mainstream the right into its policies and operational activities and is reviewing prospects for an internationally binding legal instrument The evolution of the right to development however has been dominated by debates about its conceptual validity and practical ramifications It has been hailed as the cornerstone of the entire human rights system and criticized as a distracting ideological initiative Questions also persist about the role of the right in reforming the international economic order This book examines the legal and moral foundations of the right to development addressing the major issues It then considers the right to development in the global economy noting the challenges of globalization and identifying key principles such as differential treatment of developing countries participation and accountability It relates the right to broad objectives such as the Millennium Development Goals the human rights based approach to development and environmental sustainability Implications for international economic law and policy in the areas of trade development finance and corporate responsibility are assessed The conclusion looks to the legal and ethical contributions and limitations of the right to development in this new context With an academic and professional background in international law human rights and moral theology the author brings a unique interdisciplinary focus to this timely project Toward a Theology of Struggle Eleazar S. Fernandez, 2009-02-01 The Theology of Struggle is a genuinely popular Phillipino theology rooted in the history and culture of a people who have endured colonial oppression at the hands of Spain North America and Japan as well as neo colonialism and home grown dictatorship Because Christianity has played a role in assisting the history of oppression in the Phillippines a theology of struggle must include a struggle in theology to wrest Christian symbols from the hands of the oppressors and return them to the poor This theology which is otherwise expressed in articles poems art and action receives its first systematic treatment in Toward a Theology of Struggle In Part On Fernandez establishes the historical and cultural context out of which the Theology of Struggle has emerged Part Two represents Fernandez s own constructive work in which he shows how a theology of struggle must address the quest for identity and peoplehood In Part Three Fernandez explores the question of theological method outlining the areas of convergence and distinction between the Theology of struggle and other Third World theologies as well as setting forth the distinctive challenge that this theology of the Philippines poses to the authority and dominance of Western theology as a whole The Journal of the Siam Society Siam Society,1983

Christian Ethics Hak Joon Lee,2021-11-09 In this capacious and accessible introduction to Christian ethics Hak Joon Lee advances a renewed vision of Christian life that is liberative grace centered and justice and peace oriented in nature Responding to key ethical questions of today Lee applies the moral meaning and implications of the New Covenant in Jesus Christ to twenty first century life characterized by fluidity fragmentation division and violence Christian Ethics begins by introducing covenant as the central drama and storyline of Scripture that culminates in the New Covenant of Jesus It presents shalom the wholeness and flourishing of creation as God s ultimate purpose and God s covenant as God s organizing mechanism of community that mediates God s work of liberation and restoration Lee proposes a creative model of Christian ethics based on the New Covenant of Jesus and its organizing patterns reconstructing the key categories of ethics agency norms authority of Scripture ethical discernment etc and drawing out four practices communicative engagement just peacemaking grassroots organizing and nonviolence The result is a new model of Christian ethics that is inclusive egalitarian ecological and justice and peace oriented which overcomes the limitations of traditional covenantal ethics In the second part of the book Lee systematically applies New Covenant ethics to the most urgent and controversial social issues of our time democratic politics economic ethics creation care criminal justice race sex and marriage medicine and war and peace Through his deep pastoral and irenic inquiries into these difficult topics Lee demonstrates a pattern of covenantal moral reasoning that undercuts the dominant neoliberal ethos of individualism and transactional relationship that more and more influences Christian moral decisions His conclusion is that as covenant has been at the heart of modern democracy human rights civil society and civic formation a renewed understanding of covenant centered in Jesus can help to heal our broken society and imperiled planet and to reorganize the fragmented human life in the era of globalization and digitization

Arabic Christian Theology Zondervan,2019-03-19 Theology is not done in a vacuum Our theology is affected by the culture in which we live and our theology can have unexpected effects on the lives of Christians who live thousands of miles away This point emerges clearly as we listen to seven Arabic evangelical theologians address issues that are of critical importance to Christians living as minorities in the Muslim world North American readers may find that many of their assumptions are challenged as they see how respected Christian thinkers from a very different context address issues of biblical interpretation national and international politics culture and gender

Contextualizing Theology in the South Pacific Randall G. Prior, 2019-07-10 This book engages with a widespread contemporary dilemma how do we do theology in a context where the cultures of the people are oral and not literate The nations of the South Pacific from their missionary beginnings inherited an approach to theology that was dominated by Western cultural categories The global movement of contextualization began to impact upon Pacific churches in the 1960s and challenged this inherited approach Significant changes have resulted but the dilemma has remained The dominant approach is still one that is defined by and better suited to literate cultures The consequence is that theology remains an alien enterprise distant from the life of the local churches and distant from the hearts and minds of the indigenous people In facing the dilemma this book exposes the fundamental differences between primary oral cultures and primary literate cultures and identifies the key factors that lie at the heart of the theological problem By addressing each of these in turn the author then paves the way ahead He offers a methodology for theology that is rooted within the oral cultural context of the South Pacific and potentially in any context where oral cultures are the norm The consequences for theology and for theological education are profound

Church and State in Historical Perspective James E. Wood, 2005-05-30 The subject of church and state is one intimately associated with the history of Christianity and Western civilization However the subject is one that is by no means limited to any one religious tradition civilization or period of history Rather it is a subject that has historical and universal significance to all cultures and religious traditions throughout the world It is simply undeniable that religion has been and remains a powerful force in the making and shaping of cultures civilizations nations and empires For this reason this volume addresses the broader perspectives of religion and the state in the ancient world as well as in the biblical world of Judaism and Christianity and in other religious traditions than Christianity Attention is given to general works on church and state that treat the subject broadly not limited to any particular nation religious tradition or single aspect of church state relations Additionally there is material on major topics integrally related to church and state such as civil disobedience civil religion liberation theology patriotism and nationalism Finally sources are included on religion in international affairs and interfaith relations both necessarily linked to the subject of church and state as well as religion and the economic order religion and human rights and the effect of religion on war and peace

Justice as Equality Anna Kasafi Perkins, 2010 Justice as Equality makes a unique contribution to the philosophical and intellectual tradition of the English speaking Caribbean by exploring the theory of justice underpinning the life work and writings of former Prime Minister of Jamaica and renowned Third World Statesman the late Michael Manley 1924 1997 Manley s singular Caribbean vision of justice was forged in a post colonial context that he described as being too radically disfigured by inequalities to be improved by mere tinkering This book posits that equality has become unfashionable in social analysis and contemporary politics in part due to the increased significance of values such as identity diversity and difference in tandem with a misunderstanding of the concept of equality It argues for a reclaiming of a multi faceted and complex way of understanding equality in light of Manley s thought Through an engagement with the norms of justice developed within the Catholic social teaching tradition this book examines clarifies and deepens Manley s Caribbean account of justice as equality Manley s theory is a deeply relational theory one of justice and equality that roots fundamental human equality in the relationship to divine transcendence It calls for the dismantling of all relationships of oppression and domination that result when the fundamental equality of all human beings is disregarded It takes account of the multiple dimensions of the human person and calls a society just when it allows for the flourishing of every member specifically through full participation in the life of the society

Home Away from Home Delroy A. Reid-Salmon,2014-12-18 An estimated two thirds of Caribbeans live outside their homeland Home Away from Home identifies the different forms of Caribbean diasporan identity and argues that the faith Caribbean people brought with them into the diaspora plays a central role in their development The study provides a theological interpretation of the diasporan experience and outlines the principles of diasporan theology and the distinctiveness of its church Focusing on the Caribbean diaspora in the US and analysing aspects of the Caribbean British diaspora the book forges a Black Atlantic theology The volume also engages with wider discourse on the Black diaspora to offer an inclusive Caribbean diasporan ecclesiology that overcomes Black African American Euro American binaries
