Between Sex and Power Göran Therborn,2004-07-31 The institution of the family changed hugely during the course of the twentieth century In this major new work G ran Therborn provides a global history and sociology of the family as an institution and of politics within the family focusing on three dimensions of family relations on the rights and powers of fathers and husbands on marriage cohabitation and extra marital sexuality and on population policy Therborn s empirical analysis uses a multi disciplinary approach to show how the major family systems of the world have been formed and developed Therborn concludes by assessing what changes the family might see during the next century This book will be essential reading for anybody with an interest in either the sociology or the history of the family     Sephardi Family Life in the Early Modern Diaspora Julia Rebollo Lieberman,2010-12-14 Groundbreaking essays on Sephardic Jewish families in the Ottoman Empire and Western Sephardic communities     Ageing Without Children Philip Kreager, Elisabeth Schröder-Butterfill,2005-03-01 Rapid fertility declines and improved longevity are now shifting the overall balance of population towards older ages in many parts of the world Within this growing population of older people there are many groups with particular needs about which relatively little is known This collection focuses on one such sub population the elderly without children Few would deny that childlessness poses potential human and welfare problems for older people without them What is less well known is that comparative anthropological and historical demographic research indicates that childlessness is a recurring social phenomenon that has affected 1 in 5 older women in many cultures and historical periods High levels of childlessness arise not solely or primarily from biological factors like primary sterility but from a combination of actors Many like non marriage delayed childbearing and pathological sterility reflect the interaction of social and biological influences Also of major importance are factors that remove the support of children from elders lives migration mortality divorce remarriage family enmity social mobility and the pressing demands of family and career on younger generations The papers collected in this volume employ a mixture of quantitative and qualitative methods to define and characterize the experience of ageing without children     Gender Inequalities in Southern Europe Maria Jose Gonzalez,Teresa Jurado,Manuela Naldini,2014-01-14 Presenting studies of the situation on gender inequalities and associated pattern of work and welfare in all southern European countries this work focuses on the interaction of the three major societal institutions the State the family and the labour market     The Changing Spanish Family Tiffany Trotman,2011-08-31 Despite centuries of Catholic conservatism Spain stands among the Western countries that have recently embraced non traditional families A decline in the dominance of extended families the upswing in single parent households and an increase in the number of working mothers have all transformed what it means to be a Spanish family Many factors have prompted this change including the end of Franco s dictatorship the liberalization of society economic reforms Spanish feminism and recent Socialist constitutional reforms recognizing the rights of same sex partners This collection of essays examines how authors filmmakers and playwrights are engaging with changes to Spanish culture exploring the very redefining of Spanish society     Sociology of Family Life David Cheal,2020-06-03 This lucid and accessible introductory text from a highly regarded author provides students who are encountering the sociology of the family for the first time with a systematic and stimulating way of thinking about the subject based on a core set of analytical questions Coherent and persuasive it blends theory with empirical examples drawn from all over the world thus offering valuable insights into the differences and commonalities between families in quite diverse social and cultural contexts

Demographic Transition Theory John C. Caldwell, 2007-09-21 This book has a strong theoretical focus and is unique in addressing both mortality and fertility over the full span of human history It examines the demographic transition in the change in the human condition from high mortality and high fertility to low mortality and low fertility It asks if fluctuating populations is a new phenomenon or if there has long been an inherent tendency in Man to maximize survival and to control family size

Land, Proto-Industry and Population in Catalonia, c. 1680-1829 Julie Marfany, 2016-04-22 This monograph makes a fresh contribution to a longstanding but far from exhausted debate concerning the transition to capitalism in Europe The work investigates key aspects of this transformation the changes on the land the origins of the industrial revolution the modern rise of population and the growth of markets It does so from a new perspective however by focusing on an area of southern Europe Catalonia Catalonia s interest as an area for study lies in its precocity within a southern European context as one of the few regions on the European periphery to industrialise in comparable ways and at the same time as areas of northern Europe Population growth was similarly rapid The study engages critically with several important debates in economic and social history such as the transition to agrarian capitalism whether or not sharecropping should be viewed as a backwards form of agricultural production theories of proto industrialisation and theories of population change It also questions claims that the nuclear family of north western Europe was a superior model for industrialisation than the more extended family structures prevalent in southern Europe Not only could the extended family be as dynamic as the nuclear family when required but more importantly attention needs to be paid to other institutions and factors that may have conditioned family forms and decision making processes The approach taken by this work is a micro study of one community Igualada an important proto industrial centre but also situated within the viticultural region It grew rapidly over the eighteenth century from around 1 700 inhabitants in 1717 to 4 900 in 1787 and around 7 700 by 1830 Only at the micro level is it feasible for an individual study to reconstruct networks of relationships and patterns of decision making at the household level At the core of the book therefore is a family reconstitution of 8 700 families supplemented by a wide body of additional sources such as landholding contracts tax records manorial surveys inventories marriage contracts and letters

The Ties That Bind Sara E. Cooper, 2004-04-30 The Ties That Bind comprises the first collection of critical essays that explore the family system in Spanish and Latin American culture This thought provoking volume addresses the intersection of language narrative structure social reality and family dynamics through examples from a diverse range of literary works including Cervantes Don Quijote Reinaldo Arenas Celestino antes del alba and the Chicano film My Family Mi Familia Issues of feminism gender and sexuality abuse trauma and communication take the forefront in this ground breaking book which takes psychological literary criticism a step beyond traditional psychoanalytical approaches

Careers of Couples in Contemporary Society : From Male Breadwinner to Dual-Earner Families Hans-Peter Blossfeld, Sonja Drobnic, 2001-10-04 This is the first systematic international comparative study of the transformation of couples careers in modern societies The countries included are Germany the Netherlands the Flemish part of Belgium Italy Spain Great Britain the United States Sweden Denmark Poland Hungary and China Using longitudinal data this book explores what has and what has not changed for couples in various countries due to women s greater involvement in paid employment It provides evidence that despite substantial improvement in women s educational attainment and career opportunities in all the countries studied dimensions of role specialization in dual earner couples have not undergone transformation to the same extent Gender role change within the family has generally been asymmetric so that housework and childcare primarily remain women s work There are however also significant institutional differences among modern societies which determine a country s timing speed and pattern of change from the traditional male breadwinner to the dual earner family model In particular the impact of males resources on their female partners employment careers is dependent on the welfare state regime In conservative and Mediterranean welfare state regimes women s paid employment is negatively correlated with the occupational position of their husbands In liberal welfare state regimes no impact of husbands resources on their wives labour force participation could be detected In the social democratic welfare state regime and generally in former socialist countries husbands resources have a positive effect on their wives employment so that occupational resources cumulate in dual earner families

Autonomy and Dependence in the Family Rita Liljestrom, 2003-09-02 The width of this problematic is skillfully illustrated in this volume where scholars sociologists and psychologists from countries at the opposite edges of the European continent Turkey and Sweden discuss the structural conditions and moral
