Perspectives In Literature Of Non Fiction 2:

The Mind of the Holocaust Perpetrator in Fiction and Nonfiction Erin McGlothlin, 2021-05-04 Examines textual representations of the consciousness of men responsible for committing Holocaust crimes The Mind of the Holocaust Perpetrator in Fiction and Nonfiction examines texts that portray the inner experience of Holocaust perpetrators and thus transform them from archetypes of evil into complex psychological and moral subjects Employing relevant methodological tools of narrative theory Erin McGlothlin analyzes these unsettling depictions which manifest a certain tension regarding the ethics of representation and identification Such works she asserts endeavor to make transparent the mindset of their violent subjects yet at the same time they also invariably contrive to obfuscate in part its disquieting character The Mind of the Holocaust Perpetrator in Fiction and Nonfiction contains two parts The first focuses on portraits of real life perpetrators in nonfictional interviews and analyses from the 1960s and 1970s These works provide a nuanced perspective on the mentality of the people who implemented the Holocaust via the interventional role of the interviewer or interpreter in the perpetrators performances of self disclosure In part two McGlothlin investigates more recent fictional texts that imagine the perspective of their invented perpetrator narrators Such works draw readers directly into the perpetrator's experience and at the same time impede their access to the perpetrator's consciousness by retarding their affective connection Demonstrating that recent fiction featuring perpetrators as narrators employs strategies derived from earlier nonfictional portrayals McGlothlin establishes not only a historical connection between these two groups of texts whereby nonfictional engagement with real life perpetrators gradually gives way to fictional exploration but also a structural and aesthetic one The book bespeaks new modes of engagement with ethically fraught questions raised by our increasing willingness to consider the events of the Holocaust from the perspective of the perpetrator Students scholars and readers of Holocaust studies and literary criticism will appreciate this closer look at a historically taboo topic

Illustration: A Theoretical and Contextual Perspective

Alan Male, 2007-07-25 Successful forward thinking illustrators no longer operate the way many did and still do as merely colouring in technicians receiving briefs that are heavily directed and prescribed regarding content and overall visual concept Nowadays illustrators need to be educated socially and culturally aware communicators having knowledge understanding and insight regarding the context within which they are working the subject matter that they are engaged with and to be able professionals working within the parameters and needs of the market place and target audiences They need to utilise a breadth of intellectual and practical skills some that might once be regarded as transferable from other disciplines but are now considered essential if the illustrator has ambitions to transcend the basic role of commissioned hack This book introduces the concept of the illustrator as a specialist or authority on a particular subject or as an originator of either fiction and or non fiction material Examples include effective and creative written communication and authorship academic research art direction and design management The book focuses on illustration education and theory in particular the latter stages of undergraduate development and post graduate study and research such as theoretical and intellectual processes research and visual language Definitions and philosophies of what illustration is are also featured together with a relevant historical overview

Mimesis in a Cognitive Perspective Nicolae Babuts, 2017-07-05 Mimesis is a critical and philosophical term going back to Aristotle It carries a wide range of meanings including imitation representation mimicry the act of expression and the presentation of self In modern literary criticism mimesis has received renewed attention in the last two or three decades and been subject to wide ranging interpretations Nicolae Babuts looks at the concept of mimesis from a cognitive perspective He identifies two main strands the mimetic relation of art and poetry to the world defined in terms of reference to an external reality and the importance of memory in the making of plots or storytelling Babuts suggests that there is a material identity we cannot know beyond the limits of our senses and intellect and a symbolic or coded identity that is processed by memory All writers including Mallarmé in his esoteric poetry Flaubert in his realist narratives and Mihai Eminescu the Romanian poet in his romantic poems rely on mimetic strategies to link the two identities the images in memory to the outside reality All order their narratives in accordance with the dynamics of memory Babuts describes this phenomenon with great insight showing how new traditions are formed

Literary History: Towards a Global Perspective Anders Pettersson, Gunilla Lindberg-Wada, Margareta Petersson, Stefan Helgesson, 2011-12-22 Literary History Towards a Global Perspective is a research project funded by the Swedish Research Council Vetenskapsrådet Initiated in 1996 and launched in 1999 it aims at finding suitable methods and approaches for studying and analysing literature globally emphasizing the comparative and intercultural aspect Even though we nowadays have fast and easy access to any kind of information on literature and literary history we encounter more than ever the difficulty of finding a credible overall perspective on world literary history Until today literary cultures and traditions have usually been studied separately each field using its own principles and methods Even the conceptual basis itself varies from section to section and the genre concepts employed are not mutually compatible As a consequence it is very difficult if not impossible for the interested layperson as well as for the professional student to gain a clear and fair perspective both on the literary traditions of other peoples and on one's own traditions The project can be considered as a contribution to gradually removing this problem and helping to gain a better understanding of literature and literary history

by means of a concerted empirical research and deeper conceptual reflection The contributions to the four volumes are written in English by specialists from a large number of disciplines primarily from the fields of comparative literature Oriental studies and African studies in Sweden All of the literary texts discussed in the articles are in the original language Each one of the four volumes is devoted to a special research topic

Disciplinary Literacy and Explicit Vocabulary Teaching: A whole school approach to closing the attainment gap Kathrine Mortimore, 2020-12-15 Firmly rooted in research evidence of what works within the classroom for our most disadvantaged students Disciplinary Literacy and Explicit Vocabulary Teaching offers teachers and school leaders practical ways in which those students who are behind in their literacy capabilities can make excellent progress Building on the work of Geoff Barton in his influential book Don't Call it Literacy Kathrine Mortimore outlines the unique literacy challenges posed by specific subject areas for those with weaker literacy skills and more importantly how these challenges can be addressed and overcome A student's GCSE results are vital in giving them the choices they deserve in order to go on to the next stage of their academic careers This book draws on the success stories of schools and subjects that have made significant improvements in the outcomes of the children they teach regardless of their starting points From the inevitable success of Michaela Community school to the gains made by the English department at Torquay Academy and the rapid reading improvements at Henley Bank this book draws on both whole school initiatives and subject specific strategies which have had proven success This book places a wide and balanced knowledge rich curriculum at the centre of any school improvement strategy designed to improve literacy and illustrates the role that all subjects must combine to play in building the vital background knowledge and vocabulary that young people need in order to read independently This curriculum must then be delivered using those teaching methods that have had the greatest impact on disadvantaged learners and this book sets out how the methodology of direct and explicit instruction can be adopted within each subject area Alongside this is a useful summary of staff development and inset which offers practical ways in which teachers adoption of these effective strategies can be facilitated There are also useful sections on creating a whole school dictionary of essential vocabulary creating a culture of reading and writing and also those key literacy barriers experienced by those students with some of the most common special educational needs
