Perspectives On Agrarian Bengal:

Perspectives on Agrarian Bengal Chittabrata Palit,1982 Perspectives in Social Sciences Three Studies on the Agrarian Structure in Bengal 1850-1947 Sen A.,1982 Modern Approaches and Critical Perspectives in Indian Historiography Dr. R.Rajeshwari,Dr. T. Santhi,2025-04-25

Modern Approaches and Critical Perspectives in Indian Historiography offers a thoughtful exploration of how India's past has been interpreted, questioned and reimagined over time. The book examines evolving methodologies, debates and theoretical frameworks that have shaped the study of Indian history. It engages with both traditional narratives and contemporary critiques, encouraging readers to reflect on history as a dynamic and contested field. Through detailed analysis and fresh perspectives, this work serves as an essential resource for scholars, students and anyone interested in understanding the complexities of historical writing in India. A significant contribution to the evolving discourse of historiography.

Linking Destinies Peter Boomgaard,Dick Kooiman,Henk Schulte Nordholt,2008-01-01

Trade flows, cities and kinship relations can all be seen as elements of complex networks. In this collection of essays, all of which deal with Asia, we argue that there are good reasons to envisage them as various dimensions of the same networks. Nevertheless, it is fairly rare to find trade, cities and kinship relations as intimately linked as we have portrayed them in this volume, because they are usually classified within different sub-disciplines of history, whose practitioners are all too often not inclined to talk to people outside their own field. The Australian-born historian Heather Sutherland, who recently retired from the VU university in Amsterdam, is an exception in this respect, because most of her work gravitates towards an approach which aims to integrate this trinity of topics. This collection of essays, written by a number of her students and close colleagues, has taken its cue from her approach. It is not the case that all the contributions deal with all three topics, but they, as a collective, demonstrate how flows of trade, cities, both as urban centres and nodes in wider networks, and kinship relations hang together, and how the study of one topic opens new vistas on the other two, revealing causal links that otherwise would have remained hidden. Thus, the essays in this collective volume support the idea that trade, towns and kin, although often dealt with quite separately, can be viewed as various aspects of the same networks, connecting people, places and commodities.

CRITICAL PERSPECTIVES ON NEOLIBERAL GLOBALIZATION, DEVELOPMENT AND EDUCATION IN AFRICA AND ASIA Dip Kapoor,2011-10-30

This interdisciplinary collection of readings pertaining to schooling, higher education, adult and community development, education, indigenous education and social movement learning in the African and Asian regions is a contribution to anti-critical colonial scholarship in comparative international education and the sociology of education. The political and analytical standpoint that weaves through the text considers the imbrications of the colonial and imperial projects currently referenced as neoliberal globalization, globalization of capitalism and development, compulsory Eurocentric modernization and their attendant and mutual implications for education social reproduction and hegemony Counter anti hegemonic and indigenous education projects and pre existing alternatives are registered in the critique At last a remarkable collection of essays written by a range of scholars mostly originating from Asia and Africa demonstrating with admirable clarity how policies and practices of neo liberal globalization in those regions cannot be adequately understood without appreciating how they are a product of the exploitative histories of colonialism Written with conceptual sophistication personal knowledge and deep conviction these essays represent a major scholarly intervention in contemporary debates about globalization and education

Toyin Falola University Distinguished Professor Frances Higginbotham Nalle Centennial Professor University of Texas at Austin

This volume well crafted by Dip Kapoor one of the finest scholars in the postcolonial education field brings together writers who examine processes of learning and education more broadly within the context of the dominant discourses of globalisation and development They unveil the underlying neocolonial neoliberal tenets of these processes strongly echoing what Hardt and Negri would call Empire In short another important reading resource provided by Dip Kapoor and colleagues

Peter Mayo Professor Chair Educational Studies University of Malta

Finally a much awaited intervention on neoliberal globalization from Asian and African perspectives This book makes a compelling case for a historically grounded regionally specific analysis of globalization The contributions are extraordinary for their textured and embedded analysis of neoliberal globalization One of those rare books that deserve to be read across the social sciences

Rethinking State Politics in India Ashutosh Kumar, 2012-03-12 Focusing on the twin issues of identity and development that are often signifiers of the unravelling politics in the federal polity the book make a concerted attempt to look at and beyond the states by exploring the specificities of the regions within these states It does so through a comparative study from the vantage point of democratic politics as it unfurls in recent India Emphasising that regions within the states are not merely politico administrative instituted constructs but are also imagined or constituted among others in historical geographic economic sociological or cultural terms it argues that any meaningful comparative study of the regions would naturally straddle the disciplinary boundaries of social sciences The book attempts to go beyond the states and look at the regions within them as a distinctive analytical category for an in depth study of the democratic politics of identity and development unfolding at the state level

Law and the Economy in Colonial India Tirthankar Roy, Anand V. Swamy, 2016-09-20 By accessibly recounting and analyzing the unique experience of institutions in colonial India which were influenced heavily by both British Common Law and indigenous Indian practices and traditions Law and the Economy in Colonial India sheds new light on what exactly fosters the types of institutions that have been key to economic development throughout world history more generally The culmination and years of research the book goes through a range of examples including textiles opium tea indigo tenancy credit and land mortgage to show how economic laws in colonial India were shaped neither by imported European ideas about how colonies should be ruled nor indigenous institutions but by the practice of producing and trading The book is an essential addition to Indian history and to some of the most fundamental questions in economic history

Caste and Equality in India Akio Tanabe, 2021-07-29 This book presents an alternative view of caste in Indian society by analysing caste structure and change in local communities in Orissa from historical and anthropological perspectives Focusing on the agricultural society in the Khurda district of Orissa between the eighteenth century and 2019 the book links discussions on the current transformation of society and politics in India with analyses of long term historical transformations The author suggests that beyond status and power there is another value which is important in Indian society namely ontological equality which functions as the politico ethical ground for asserting respect and concern for the life of others The book argues that the value of ontological equality has played an important role in creating and affirming the diverse society which characterises India It further contends that the movement towards vernacular democracy which has become conspicuous since the second half of the 1990s is a historically groundbreaking event which opens a path beyond the postcolonial predicament supported by the affirmation of diversity by subalterns based on the value of ontological equality This important contribution to the study of Indian society will be of
