Towards the Indonesian Republic: Marxist Lineages in the National Revolution Geoffrey Gunn, 2025-05-22 Drawing on little known archival sources this work brings to the fore the salience of a schism in the Indonesian communist movement between pro Moscow loyalists and national communists reaching back to the 1920s which survived even the Japanese occupation and surfaced in the throes of the National Revolution 1945-49 At the heart of the rift lay contrasting visions of revolutionary tactics the salience of Islam in an Islamic majority society the vexed question of alliance between leftists and other anti colonial forces and even the concept and definition of state and national ideology As such we cannot ignore the lineages of Marxism in the National Revolution which trace their roots to the pioneer actions on Java by Dutch communists themselves influenced by the Bolshevik Revolution Contrary to the image of a non revolutionary peasantry and a nationalist leadership broken or tamed by colonial carceral practices the picture that emerges is one of acute agency on the part of an awoken population at a critical historical moment at the end of World War II There is no more complicated period in the history of the Indonesian national revolution than that of 1945-49 during the war with the Dutch colonial armies nor a more complicated strand in Indonesian history than that of its Marxist lineage Dr Gunn's book is a truly unique and fascinating account of both fusing perspectives from a range of colonial as well as indigenous sources Sukarno Hatta Sjahrir Amir Sjariffudin all appear but none more so than Tan Malaka It is as provocative a read as any well researched historical novel but it is not fiction but reality It is very well documented and needs to be read at least twice Max Lane Visiting Senior Fellow Indonesia Studies Programme ISEAS Yusof Ishak Institute There have been numerous books on Indonesian independence movements that led to the birth of the Republic of Indonesia Nevertheless this book by Geoffrey Gunn differs from previous ones in the sense that it focuses on the role of Marxist radical movements especially that of Tan Malaka in the Indonesian anti colonial struggle It begins with the emergence of the Communist movement failed rebellions of 1926-27 the Japanese occupation the Madiun Affair and ends with the international recognition of Indonesia's independence in 1949 Using various newly available archives including that of the Russian and recently published articles and books on the subject the author has presented a revisionist history of Indonesian independence with a fresh perspective Leo Suryadinata Visiting Senior Fellow ISEAS Yusof Ishak Institute formerly Professor in Political Science National University of Singapore

the nationalist cause that Britain was playing a Dutch game

Histories of Scale: Java, the Indies and Asia in the Imperial Age, 1820-1945. Vincent Houben, 2021-08-19 This major study explores the spatial history of the Dutch East Indies as an imperial formation between the early nineteenth century and the end of empire It consists of six in depth case studies on pertinent themes such as rural capitalism indirect colonial rule border politics coolie circulations un modern nationalism and the beginning of Indonesian independence These studies are set within a novel theory which connects local intra imperial transimperial and global history in the format of specific topochrones As such this book is a contribution both to Indonesian transcultural history and the field of New Area Studies

Indonesia Taufik Abdullah, 2009 This book traces the beginning of the process of nation formation the struggle for independence the hopeful beginning of the new nation state of Indonesia only to be followed by hard and difficult ways to remain true to the ideals of independence In the process Indonesia with its sprawling archipelago and its multi ethnic and multi religious nation has to undergo various types of crisis and internal conflicts but the ideals that have been nurtured since the beginning when a new nation began to be visualized remain intact Some changes in the interpretation may have taken place and some deviations here and there can be noticed but the literal meaning of the ideals continues to be the guiding light In short this is a history of a nation in the continuing effort to retain the ideals of its existence

After the Fact Clifford Geertz, 1996-10-01 Suppose Clifford Geertz suggests having entangled yourself every now and again over four decades or so in the goings on in two provincial towns one a Southeast Asian bend in the road one a North African outpost and passage point you wished to say something about how those goings on had changed A narrative presents itself a tour of indices and trends perhaps a memoir None however will suffice because in forty years more has changed than those two towns the anthropologist for instance anthropology itself even the intellectual and moral world in which the discipline exists And so in looking back on four decades of anthropology in the field Geertz has created a work that is characteristically unclassifiable a personal history that is also a retrospective reflection on developments in the human sciences amid political social and cultural changes in the world An elegant summation of one of the most remarkable careers in anthropology it is at the same time an eloquent statement of the purposes and possibilities of anthropology s interpretive powers To view his two towns in time Pare in Indonesia and Sefrou in Morocco Geertz adopts various perspectives on anthropological research and analysis during the post colonial period the Cold War and the emergence of the new states of Asia and Africa Throughout he clarifies his own position on a broad series of issues at once empirical methodological theoretical and personal The result is a truly original book one that displays a particular way of practicing the human sciences and thus a particular and particularly efficacious view of what these sciences are have been and should become

Women and Sharia Law in Northern Indonesia Dina Afrianty, 2015-05-01 This book examines the life of women in the Indonesian province of Aceh where Islamic law was introduced in 1999 It outlines how women have had to face the formalisation of conservative understandings of sharia law in regulations and new state institutions over the last decade or so how they have responded to this forming non governmental organisations NGOs that have shaped local discourse on women s rights equality and status in Islam and how these NGOs have strategised demanded reform and enabled Acehnese women to take active roles in influencing the processes of democratisation and Islamisation that are shaping the province The book shows that although the formal introduction of Islamic law in Aceh has placed restrictions on women s freedom paradoxically it has not prevented them from engaging in public life It argues that the democratisation of Indonesia which allowed Islamisation to occur continues to act as an important factor shaping Islamisation s current trajectory that the introduction of Islamic law has motivated women s NGOs and other elements of civil society to become more involved in wider discussions about the future of sharia in Aceh and that Indonesia s recent decentralisation policy and growing local Islamism have enabled the emergence of different religious and local adat practices which do not necessarily correspond to overall national trends

Historical Atlas of Indonesia Robert Cribb,2013-02-01 This pioneering volume traces the history of the region which became Indonesia from early times to the present day in over three hundred specially drawn full colour maps with detailed accompanying text In doing so the Atlas brings fresh life to the fascinating and tangled history of this immense archipelago Beginning with the geographical and ecological forces which have shaped the physical form of the archipelago the Historical Atlas of Indonesia goes on to chart early human migration and the changing distribution of ethnic groups It traces the kaleidoscopic pattern of states in early Indonesia and their gradual incorporation into the Netherlands Indies and eventually into the Republic of Indonesia

Raiding the Land of the Foreigners Danilyn Rutherford,2021-01-12 What are the limits of national belonging Focusing on Biak a set of islands off the coast of western New Guinea in the Indonesian province of Irian Jaya Danilyn Rutherford s analysis calls for a rethinking of the nature of national identity With the resurgence of separatism in the province Irian Jaya has become the focus of fears that the Indonesian nation is falling apart Yet in the early 1990s the fieldwork for this book was made possible by the government s belief that Biaks were finally beginning to see themselves as Indonesians Taking in the dynamics of Biak social life and the islands long history of millennial unrest Rutherford shows how practices that indicated Biaks submission to national authority actually reproduced antinational understandings of space time and self Approaching the foreign as a focus of longing in cultural arenas ranging from kinship to Christianity Biaks participated in Indonesian national institutions without accepting the identities they promoted Their remarkable response to the Indonesian government and earlier polities laying claim to western New Guinea suggests the limits of national identity and modernity writ large This is one of the few books reporting on the volatile province of Irian Jaya It offers a new way of thinking about the nation and its limits one that moves beyond the conventions of both scholarship and recent journalism It shows how people can belong to a nation yet maintain commitments that fall both short of and beyond the nation state

National Integration in Indonesia Christine Drake,2019-03-31 Indonesia s great size and diversity and its history of regional dissension have made its struggle for national integration particularly complex Christine Drake presents an informed and balanced picture of past and present developments in this struggle offering readers a realistic assessment of the current status and future prospects of national integration in Indonesia By addressing historical political social and economic issues in conjunction with statistical analysis Professor Drake argues that the spatial pattern of integration is far more complex than the commonly accepted core periphery model of Indonesian integration and development The author examines the effectiveness of Indonesian government policies in promoting national integration and concludes that in general they have led to greater national unity although many serious problems remain Merdeka Harry Poeze, Henk Schulte Nordholt, 2005-10-01 Under the slogan Merdeka the Republic of Indonesia rushed into a battle for independence a struggle of which no one could predict the outcome Harry Poeze and Henk Schulte Nordholt provide a new narrative about the revolution one that focuses not only on the fight against the Dutch but also on the precarious rise of the Republic After the horrors of the Japanese occupation the Republican leaders needed to somehow build a new state From the Dutch side they had to deal with short sighted politicians and warmongering soldiers On its own side the Republic was confronted with wayward and combative youths autonomous military leaders conservative federalists revolutionary communists and radical Muslims Coup d tats a civil war and two Dutch military attacks threatened the survival of the Republic That is why the victory finally achieved by the Indonesian leaders is the revolution s greatest miracle Driven by Growth James William Morley, 2015-04-08 A thoroughly revised and updated edition of the

Together Edward R. Kantowicz, 2000 An independent scholar and former history professor addresses the post WWII period in Volume 2 of his narrative history of the 20th century His account revolves around two dominant global events the Cold War and the revolt against imperialism showing how these events both drove nations apart while creating political and regional alliances Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR Asian Labor in the Wartime Japanese

Empire Paul H. Kratoska, 2014-12-18 During the Pacific War the Japanese government used a wide range of methods to recruit workers for construction projects throughout the occupied territories Mistreatment of workers was a major grievance both in widely publicized cases such as the use of prisoners of war and forced Asian labor to construct the Thailand Burma Death Railway and in a very large number of smaller projects In this book an international group of specialists on the Occupation period examine the labor needs and the recruitment and use of workers whether forced military or otherwise throughout the Japanese empire This is the first study to look at Japanese labor policies comparatively across all the occupied territories of Asia during the war years It also provides a graphic context for examining Japanese colonialism and relations between the Japanese and the people living in the various occupied territories The Women's Movement in

Postcolonial Indonesia Elizabeth Martyn, 2004-11-10 This book examines women's activism in the early years of independent Indonesia when new attitudes to gender nationalism citizenship and democratization were forming It questions the meaning of democratization for women and their relationship to national sovereignty within the new Indonesian state and discusses women's organizations and their activities women's social and economic roles and the different cultural regional and ethnic attitudes towards women while showing the failure of political change to fully address women's gender interests and needs The author argues that both the role of nationalism in defining gender identity and the role of gender in defining national identity need equal recognition

The Making of Middle Indonesia Gerry van Klinken, 2014-01-30 What holds Indonesia together A strong leader is the answer most often given This book looks instead at a middle level of society Middle classes in provincial towns around the vast archipelago mediate between the state and society and help to constitute state power Middle Indonesia is a social zone connecting extremes The Making of Middle Indonesia examines the rise of an indigenous middle class in one provincial town far removed from the capital city Spanning the late colonial to early New Order periods it develops an unusual associational notion of political power Soft modalities of power included non elite provincial people in the emerging Indonesian state At the same time growing inequalities produced class tensions that exploded in violence in 1965-1966
