Philosophical Thought in Russia in the Second Half of the 20th Century is the first book of its kind that offers a systematic overview of an often misrepresented period in Russia s philosophy Focusing on philosophical ideas produced during the late 1950s early 1990s it reconstructs the development of genuine philosophical thought in the Soviet period and introduces those non dogmatic Russian thinkers who saw in philosophy a means of reforming social and intellectual life Covering such areas of philosophical inquiry as philosophy of science philosophical anthropology the history of philosophy activity approach as well as communication and dialogue studies the volume presents and thoroughly discusses central topics and concepts developed by Soviet thinkers in that particular fields Written by a team of internationally recognized scholars from Russia and abroad it examines the work of well known Soviet philosophers such as Mikhail Bakhtin Evald Ilyenkov and Merab Mamardashvili as well as those important figures such as Vladimir Bibler Alexander Zinoviev Yuri Lotman Georgy Shchedrovitsky Genrich Batishchev Sergey Rubinstein and others who have often been overlooked By introducing and examining original philosophical ideas that evolved in the Soviet period the book confirms that not all Soviet philosophy was dogmatic and tied to orthodox Marxism and the ideology of Marxism Leninism It shows Russian philosophical development of the Soviet period in a new light as a philosophy defined by a genuine discourse of exploration and intellectual progress rather than stagnation and dogmatism In addition to providing the historical and cultural background that explains the development of the 20th century Russian philosophy the book also puts the discussed ideas and theories in the context of contemporary has been preserved in deeply buried deposits of mud and silt Their analysis and reconstruction is opening new insights into the decorative schemes of seventeenth century gardens There is coverage of other gardens of the period and their surviving features as well as an examination of early science and how gardens impacted on its development in many ways

Psychology in Twentieth-Century Thought and Society Mitchell G. Ash, William R. Woodward, 1989-11-24 A Short History of Scientific Thought John Henry, 2011-11-28 An essential introductory textbook that shows students how science came to be such an important aspect of modern culture Lively and readable it provides a rich historical survey of the major developments in scientific thought from the Ancient Greeks to the twentieth century John Henry also explains how new scientific theories have emerged and analyses their impact on contemporary thinking This is an ideal core text for modules on the History of Science Medicine and Technology or the History and Philosophy of Science or a supplementary text for broader modules on European History or Intellectual History which may be offered at the upper levels of an undergraduate History Philosophy or Science degree In addition it is a crucial resource for students who may be studying the history of science for the first time as part of a taught postgraduate degree in European History Intellectual History Science or Philosophy Science Progress in the Twentieth Century, 1907 Scientific Authority & Twentieth-century America Ronald G. Frank, 2017-07-05 A fresh contribution to the ongoing debate between Kunstwissenschaft scientific study of art and Kunstgeschichte art history this essay collection explores how German speaking art historians of the late nineteenth and early twentieth century self consciously generated a field of study Prominent North American and European scholars provide new insights into how a mixing of diverse methodologies took place in order to gain a more subtle and comprehensive understanding of how art history became institutionalized and legitimized in Germany One common assumption about early art historical writing in Germany is that it depended upon a simplistic and narrowly defined formalism This book helps to correct this stereotype by demonstrating the complexity of discussion surrounding formalist concerns and by examining how German speaking art historians borrowed incorporated stole and made analogies with concepts from the sciences in formulating their methods In focusing on the work of some of the well known fathers of the discipline such as Alois Riegl and Heinrich Wölfflin as well as on lesser known figures the essays in this volume provide illuminating and sometimes surprising treatments of art history's prior and understudied interactions with a wide range of scientific orientations from psychology sociology and physiognomics to evolutionism and comparative anatomy Twentieth-Century Western Philosophy of Religion 1900-2000 Eugene Thomas Long, 2012-12-06 In the fall of 1994 Hendrik Jan van Leusen an acquisitions editor from Kluwer Academic Publishers visited me in my home to discuss a proposal for a handbook in the philosophy of religion He reported that he had been talking about this with philosophers of religion at several universities and that the response to the idea had been quite favorable I suggested that given the different approaches to the philosophy of religion it might be good for him to meet with philosophers representing different philosophical traditions at an upcoming meeting of the Eastern Division of the American Philosophical Association Jude Dougherty Joseph Kockelmans Robert Neville William Rowe and Merold Westphal kindly agreed to attend that meeting They made many substantial and helpful suggestions and a summary of the discussions was sent to van Leusen Some months later he wrote to inquire whether I might consider editing the series and writing the first volume which was to provide a historical map of twentieth century western philosophy of religion Although I could imagine myself editing the series I was initially reluctant to undertake the task of writing a volume that would take me across the lines of many different philosophical traditions By coincidence I had been asked some months earlier to contribute an essay on the philosophy of religion for a conference being held at the Catholic University of America on the general topic One Hundred Years of Philosophy
