Short History Of The Shadow:

Short History of the Shadow Victor I. Stoichita, 1997-08 Looks at the depiction and meaning of shadows in the history of Western art A Short History of the Shadow Charles Wright, 2014-07-22 Luminous new poems from the author of The Appalachian Book of the Dead Landscape as Wang Wei says softens the sharp edges of isolation Don't just do something sit there And so I have so I have the seasons curling around me like smoke Gone to the end of the earth and back without a sound Body and Soul II This is Charles Wright's first collection of verse since the completion of his Appalachian Book of the Dead the trilogy of trilogies hailed as one among the great long poems of the century James Longenbach Boston Review Wright speaks in these poems with characteristic charm restlessness and wit writing again and again I sit where I always sit only to reveal himself in a new setting every time In A Short History of the Shadow Wright's return to the landscapes of his early work finds his art resilient in a world haunted by death and the dead Short History of the Shadow Victor I.

Stoichita, 1997-08-01 Stoichita's compelling account untangles the history of one of the most enduring challenges to beset Western art the depiction and meanings of shadows discriminating inspired interrogation dazzling analysis Marina Warner Tate Magazine Ambitious and a pleasure to read a thoroughly worthwhile book Times Higher Education Supplement A

Short History of the Shadow Victor Ieronim Stoichita, 1997 The Semiotics of Light and Shadows Piotr Sadowski, 2017-12-28 Lighting and shadows are used within a range of art forms to create aesthetic effects Piotr Sadowski's study of light and shadow in Weimar cinema and contemporaneous visual arts is underpinned by the evolutionary semiotic theories of indexicality and iconicity These theories explain the unique communicative and emotive power of light and shadow when used in contemporary indexical media including the shadow theatre silhouette portraits camera obscura photography and film In particular Sadowski highlights the aesthetic and emotional significance of shadows The cast shadow as an indexical sign maintains a physical connection with its near present referent such as a hidden person stimulating a viewer's imagination and provoking responses including anxiety or curiosity The cinematic shadow plays a stylistic role by enhancing image texture depth of field and tonal contrast of cinematic moments Such enhancements are especially important in monochromatic films and Sadowski interweaves the book with accounts of seminal Weimar cinema moments Sadowski's book is distinctive for combining historical materials and theoretical approaches to develop a deeper understanding of Weimar cinema and other contemporary art forms The Semiotics of Light and Shadows is an ideal resource for both scholars and students working in linguistics semiotics film media and visual arts A short history of natural science Arabella Burton

Fisher, 1883 A Short History of Opera Donald Jay Grout, Hermine Weigel Williams, 2003 The fourth edition incorporates new scholarship that traces the most important developments in the evolution of musical drama After surveying anticipations of the operatic form in the lyric theater of the Greeks medieval dramatic music and other forerunners the book reveals the genre's beginnings in the seventeenth century and follows its progress to the present day Jacket A Short History of Film, Fourth Edition Wheeler Winston Dixon, Gwendolyn Audrey Foster, 2025-10-14 This updated and expanded edition of A Short History of Film provides an accessible overview of the major movements, directors, studios and genres from the 1880s to the present. Succinct yet comprehensive with more than 250 rare stills and illustrations, it brings readers face to face with many of the key players and films that have shaped the industry. Beginning with the precursors of moving pictures, Wheeler Winston Dixon and Gwendolyn Audrey Foster lead a fast-paced tour through the invention of the kinetoscope, the introduction of sound and color between the two world wars, and ultimately the computer-generated imagery of the present day. They detail significant periods in world cinema, including the creation of early major industries in Europe, the dominance of the Hollywood studio system in the 1930s and 1940s, and the French New Wave of the 1960s. They also highlight independent efforts in developing nations and the corresponding more personal independent film movement that briefly flourished in the United States. Along the way, the authors incorporate the stories of women and other minority filmmakers who have often been overlooked in other texts. Compact and easily readable, this is a vital history of international cinema, a one-stop resource for students, teachers, and general readers alike.

Six Poets from the Mountain South John Lang, 2010-04-20 In the most extensive work to date on major poets from the mountain South, John Lang takes as his point of departure an oft-quoted remark by Jim Wayne Miller: Appalachian literature is and has always been as decidedly worldly, secular, and profane in its outlook as the region's traditional religion appears to be spiritual and otherworldly. Although this statement may be accurate for Miller's own poetry and fiction, Lang maintains that it does not do justice to the pervasive religious and spiritual concerns of many of the mountain South's finest writers, including the five other leading poets whose work he analyzes along with Miller's: Fred Chappell, Robert Morgan, Jeff Daniel Marion, Kathryn Stripling Byer, and Charles Wright. Lang demonstrates all write poetry that explores, sometimes with widely varying results, what they see as the undeniable presence of the divine within the temporal world. Like Blake and Emerson before them, these poets find the supernatural within nature rather than beyond it. They all exhibit a love of place in their poems, a strong sense of connection to nature and the land, especially the mountains. Yet while their affirmation of the world before them suggests a resistance to the otherworldliness that Miller points to, their poetry is nonetheless permeated with spiritual questing. Dante strongly influences both Chappell and Wright, though the latter eventually resigns himself to being simply a God-fearing agnostic, whereas Chappell follows Dante in celebrating the love that moves the sun and other stars. Byer, probably the least orthodox of these poets, chooses to lay up treasures on earth, rejecting the transcendent in favor of a Native American spirituality of immanence, while Morgan and Marion find in nature what Marion calls a vocabulary of wonders, akin to Emerson's conviction that nature is the language of the spiritual. Employing close readings of the poets' work and relating it to British and American Romanticism as well as contemporary eco-theology and eco-criticism, Lang's book is the most ambitious and searching foray yet into the worlds of these renowned post-World War II Appalachian poets.
