Architecture in Transition Kelly Crossman, 1987-11-01 However behind the public face of design architectural life in Canada during the 1880s and 1890s was in turmoil The Canadian public had lost confidence in its designers students were forced to study abroad to secure a first class education professional rivalry was unscrupulous architectural competitions a scandal American architects and their architecture were the fashion These things changed but not before the world of the Canadian architect had been turned on its head replaced by one which resembled the world of contemporary architects with professional organisations regulated standards formalised education centred in the universities and the belief that Canadian architecture should reflect local climates culture and geography Kelly Crossman provides the first analysis of this period Beginning with a review of the architectural milieu in Toronto and Montreal in the 1880s he traces the rise of professionalism as an idea and architectural nationalism as a goal His analysis is more a history of architectural ideas than a survey of forms It places the architecture of these years in an historical and ideological context demonstrating that it developed with its own logic in response to national and international factors During the two decades after 1885 Canadian architects grappled with problems whose long term implications they could not have foreseen the role of the architect in industrialised society the need to accommodate and integrate applied science and the need to express their own and their country's personality in architectural form. By the beginning of this century they had begun to find their own voice. The story of this process will be of interest not just to students and scholars but to anyone interested in the development of Canada and its architecture.

Cowichan Chronicles Thomas William Paterson, 2001 On the Street Where You Live Danda Humphreys, 1999 Today the streets of Victoria are busy thoroughfares. Yesterday they were simple trails used by the Hudson's Bay Company men and the First Nations people who traded with them and helped build their fort. Then came the gold miners followed by the bankers and businessmen, sailors and saloon keepers, poets, postmasters, architects and astronomers. They're remembered in Victoria's city's streets and every street name tells a story. Courtney Street is a misspelled memorial to Captain George W. Courtenay whose Constance was one of the first of Her Majesty's vessels to sail into Esquimalt Harbour in the 1840s. Fan Tan Alley provides a tantalizing glimpse into 1800s Chinatown where Fan Tan gambling dens existed alongside brothels and opium factories that fuelled the gamblers' fortunes. Rattenbury Place is named for the ill-fated architect who designed the Empress Hotel and the Parliament Buildings. Danda's knack for colourful, no-nonsense writing makes history come alive. You'll sympathize with the characters she writes about, enjoy them and through their eyes experience 19th-century Victoria in a way you've never experienced it before. A New Westminster Album Gavin Hainsworth, Katherine Freund-Hainsworth, 2005-09-17 From prospectors to politicians, promoters to profiteers, New Westminster's known them all. It is Western Canada's oldest city, aptly named by Queen Victoria as the first capital of the new colony of British Columbia. On the mighty Fraser River, it has survived gold rushes, loss of capital status, fire, flood, the Depression and two world wars. This collection of illuminating black and white photographs, artwork and text shows how its tenacious citizens have thrived. It follows the city's festivals, traditions, organizations, people and neighbourhoods. The city has both witnessed and been the centre of the fascinating events that shaped B.C. This multifaceted photographic history album depicts almost 150 years of the City of New Westminster. "Architecture, Design and Craft in Toronto 1900-1940" Alla Myzelev, 2017-07-05

Toronto, the largest and one of the most multicultural cities in Canada, boasts an equally interesting and diverse architectural heritage. Architecture, Design and Craft in Toronto 1900-1940 tells a story of the significant changes in domestic life in the first 40 years of the twentieth century. Adopting a multidisciplinary approach to studies of residential spaces, the author examines how questions of modernity and modern living influenced not only architectural designs but also interior furnishings, modes of transportation and ways to spend leisure time. The book discusses several case studies, some of which are known both locally and internationally, for example Casa Loma, while others such as Guild of All Arts or Sherwood have been virtually unstudied by historians of visual culture. The overall goal of the book is to put Toronto on the map of scholars of urban design and architecture and to uncover previously unknown histories of design, craft and domesticity in Toronto. This study will be of interest not only to the academic community, namely architects, designers, craftspeople and scholars of these disciplines along with social historians but also the general public interested in local history and or visual culture Art Et Architecture Au Canada Loren Ruth Lerner, Mary F.
