Samuel Hartlib And Universal Reformation:

Samuel Hartlib and Universal Reformation Mark Greengrass, Michael Leslie, Timothy Raylor, 2002-05-16 Samuel Hartlib was a key figure in the intellectual revolution of the seventeenth century Originally from Elbing in Prussia Hartlib settled permanently in England from the late 1620s until his death in 1662 His aspirations formed a distinctive and influential strand in English intellectual life during those revolutionary decades This volume reflects the variety of the theoretical and practical interests of Hartlib's circle and presents them in their continental context The editors of the volume are all attached to the Hartlib Papers Project at the University of Sheffield a major collaborative research effort to exploit the largely untapped resources of the surviving Hartlib manuscripts In an introduction to the volume they explore the background to the Hartlib circle and provide the context in which the essays should be read Reformation, Revolution, Renovation Lyke de Vries, 2021-12-13 At the centre of the Rosicrucian manifestos was a call for general reformation In Reformation Revolution Renovation the first book length study of this topic Lyke de Vries demonstrates the unique position of the Rosicrucian call for reform in the transformative context of the early seventeenth century The manifestos commonly interpreted as either Lutheran or esoteric are here portrayed as revolutionary mission statements which broke dramatically with Luther's reform ideals Their call for reform instead resembles a variety of late medieval and early modern dissenting traditions as well as the heterodox movement of Paracelsianism Emphasising the universal character of the Rosicrucian proposal for change this new genealogy of the core idea sheds fresh light on the vexed question of the manifestos authorship and helps explain their tumultuous reception by both those who welcomed and those who deplored them Calvinism on the Frontier, 1600-1660 Graeme Murdock, 2000-08-03 This is the first book to examine one of Europe's largest Protestant communities in Hungary and Transylvania It highlights the place of the Hungarian Reformed church in the international Calvinist world and reveals the impact of Calvinism on Hungarian politics and society Calvinism attracted strong support in Hungary and Transylvania where one of the largest Reformed churches was established by the early seventeenth century Understanding of this Hungarian Reformed church remains the most significant missing element in the analysis of European Calvinism The Hungarian Reformed church survived on narrow ground between the Habsburgs and Turks thanks to support from Transylvania's princes and local nobles They worked with Reformed clergy to maintain contact with western co-religionists to combat confessional rivals to improve standards of education and to impose moral discipline However there were also tensions within the church over further reforms of public worship and church government and over the impact of puritanism This book examines the development of the Hungarian church within the international Calvinist community and the impact of Calvinism on Hungarian politics and society Ramism and the Reformation of Method Simon J. G. Burton, 2024 Ramism and the Reformation of Method explores the popular early modern movement of Ramism and its ambitious attempt to transform Church and society It considers the relation of Ramism to Reformed Christianity and its development as a divine logic attuned to understanding both Scripture and the world In doing so it reveals how Ramists rejected the notion of a philosophy or worldview independent of God and sought to encompass everything under an overarching Christian philosophy indebted to Franciscan ideals The supreme goal of the Ramists was the remaking of the world in the image of the Triune God      Adam Boreel (1602-1665): A Collegiant's Attempt to Reform Christianity Francesco Quatrini,2020-11-09 In Adam Boreel 1602 1665 A Collegiant s Attempt to Reform Christianity Francesco Quatrini offers a reassessment of the life and thought of Adam Boreel a leading member of the Dutch nonconformist Collegiant movement Usually regarded as a less important member of this religious group Boreel is described as a forerunner whose ideas influenced later Collegiants Drawing on both archival and published sources Francesco Quatrini provides the first modern biography of Boreel as well as a critical analysis of his writings He corrects misconceptions about Boreel who appears here as an intriguing figure who drew his views from several different sources In this way Francesco Quatrini revealed that Boreel was a major leader in the era s intellectual discourse      The Republic of Letters and the Levant ,2005-12-01 The eleven articles in this book seek to document the interest in the Levant that prevailed in the Republic of Letters from the Renaissance to the late eighteenth century The emphasis is on those collectors of manuscripts and antiquaries who either travelled in the Middle East the Vecchietti brothers John Greaves and Patrick Russell or who remaining in Europe acted through agents and correspondents scholars such as Peiresc John Selden and Robert Boyle But themes such as the discussion prompted by European translations of the Quran and by scholarly enterprises in the East such as the Mutaferrika printing press in Istanbul also come to the fore in a volume which contributes to the history of oriental studies in early modern Europe Contributors include Maurits H van den Boogert Alastair Hamilton Charles G D Littleton Peter N Miller Hannah Neudecker Francis Richard Jan Schmidt Zur Shalev and G J Toomer      Archival Afterlives ,2018-07-10 Archival Afterlives explores the posthumous fortunes of scientific and medical archives in early modern Britain If early modern natural philosophers claimed all knowledge as their province theirs was a paper empire But how and why did naturalists engage with archives and in particular with the papers of their dead predecessors This volume makes a firm case for expanding what counts as scientific labour integrating scribes archivist library keepers editors and friends and family of deceased naturalists into the history of science It shows how early modern natural philosophers pursued new natural knowledge in dialogue with their recent material past Finally it demonstrates the sustaining importance of archival institutions in the growth and development of the New Sciences Contributors are Arnold Hunt Michael Hunter Vera Keller Carol Pal Anna Marie Roos Richard Serjeantson Victoria Sloyan Alison Walker and Elizabeth Yale      "A Man Very Well Studied" Katherine Murphy,Richard Todd,2008 This volume of essays on Thomas Browne aims to set the man and his works in new contexts Drawing on new research into his reading readers biography manuscripts and politics a new picture of Browne and his writing emerges clarifying his relationship to seventeenth century English and European culture      The Renaissance Utopia Chloë Houston,2016-02-24

A study of European utopias in context from the early years of Henry VIII's reign to the Restoration this book is the first comprehensive attempt since J C Davis Utopia and the Ideal Society 1981 to understand the societies projected by utopian literature from Thomas More's Utopia 1516 to the political idealism and millenarianism of the mid seventeenth century Where Davis concentrated on understanding utopias historically Renaissance Utopia also seeks to make sense of utopia as a literary form offering both a new typology of utopia and a new history of European humanist utopianism This book examines how the utopia was transformed from an intellectual exercise in philosophical interrogation to a serious means of imagining practical social reform In doing so it argues that the relationship between Renaissance utopia and Renaissance dialogue is crucial the utopian mode of discourse continued to make use of aspects of dialogue even when the dialogue form itself was in decline Exploring the ways in which utopian texts assimilated dialogue Renaissance Utopia complements recent work by historians and literary scholars on early modern communities by providing a thorough investigation of the issues informing a way of modelling a very particular community and literary mode the utopia William Petty Ted McCormick, 2009-09-17 The first comprehensive intellectual biography of William Petty 1623-1687 the inventor of political arithmetic and a key figure in the English colonization of Ireland the institutionalization of experimental science and early social science

Empires of Knowledge Paula Findlen, 2018-10-26 Empires of Knowledge charts the emergence of different kinds of scientific networks local and long distance informal and institutional religious and secular as one of the important phenomena of the early modern world It seeks to answer questions about what role these networks played in making knowledge how information traveled how it was transformed by travel and who the brokers of this world were Bringing together an international group of historians of science and medicine this book looks at the changing relationship between knowledge and community in the early modern period through case studies connecting Europe Asia the Ottoman Empire and the Americas It explores a landscape of understanding and misunderstanding nature through examinations of well known intelligencers such as overseas missions trading companies and empires while incorporating more recent scholarship on the many less prominent go-betweens such as translators and local experts which made these networks of knowledge vibrant and truly global institutions Empires of Knowledge is the perfect introduction to the global history of early modern science and medicine Casualties of Credit Carl Wennerlind, 2011-11-30 With a circulating credit currency a modern national debt and sophisticated financial markets England developed a fiscal military state that instilled fear and facilitated the first industrial revolution Yet this new system of credit was precarious and prone to accidents and it depended on trust public opinion and ultimately violence Were We Ever Protestants? Sivert Angel, Hallgeir Elstad, Eivor Andersen Oftestad, 2019-09-23 This anthology discusses different aspects of Protestantism past and present Professor Tarald Rasmussen has written both on medieval and modern theologians but his primary interest has remained the reformation and 16th century church history In stead of a traditional Festschrift honouring the different fields of research he has contributed to this will be a focused anthology treating a specific theme related to Rasmussen's research profile. One of Professor Rasmussen's most recent publications, a little popularized book in Norwegian titled What is Protestantism, reveals a central aspect of research interest, namely the Weberian interest in Protestantism's cultural significance. Despite difficulties, he finds the concept useful as a Weberian Idealtypus enabling research on a phenomenon combining theological, historical, and sociological dimensions. Thus, he employs Protestantism as an integrative concept to trace the makeup of today's secular societies. This profiled approach is a point of departure for this anthology, discussing important aspects of historiography in reformation history. Continuity and breaks surrounding the reformation's contemporary significance of reformation history research traces of the reformation in today's society. The book relates to current discussions on Protestantism and is relevant to everyone who wants to keep up to date with the latest research in the field.

England's Troubles Jonathan Scott, 2000-05-25. In this path-breaking study first published in 2000, Jonathan Scott argues that seventeenth-century English history was shaped by three processes. The first was destructive: that experience of political instability which contemporaries called our troubles. The second was creative: its spectacular intellectual consequence in the English revolution. The third was reconstructive: the long restoration voyage toward safe haven from these terrifying storms. Driving the troubles were fears and passions animated by European religious and political developments. The result registered the impact upon fragile institutions of powerful beliefs. One feature of this analysis is its relationship of the history of events to that of ideas. Another is its consideration of these processes across the century as a whole. The most important is its restoration of this extraordinary English experience to its European context.

Teaching the Reformation Amy Nelson Burnett, 2006-10-12. Though the Reformation was sparked by the actions of Martin Luther, it was not a decisive break from the Church in Rome but rather a gradual process of religious and social change. As the men responsible for religious instruction and moral oversight at the village level, parish pastors played a key role in the implementation of the Reformation and the gradual development of a Protestant religious culture, but their ministry has seldom been examined in the light of how they were prepared for the pastorate. Teaching the Reformation examines the four generations of Reformed pastors who served the church of Basel in the century after the Reformation, focusing on the evolution of pastoral training and Reformed theology, the theory and practice of preaching, and the performance of pastoral care in both urban and rural parishes. It looks at how these pastors were educated and what they learned, examining not only the study of theology but also the general education in languages, rhetoric, and dialectic that future pastors received at the city's Latin school and in the arts faculty of the university. It points to significant changes over time in the content of that education, which in turn separated Basel's pastors into distinct generations. The study also looks more specifically at preaching in Basel, demonstrating how the evolution of dialectic and rhetoric instruction, and particularly the spread of Ramism, led to changes in both exegetical method and homiletics. These developments combined with the gradual elaboration of Reformed theology resulted in a distinctive style of Reformed

Orthodox preaching in Basel The development of pastoral education also had a direct impact on how Basels clergy carried out their other duties catechization administering the sacraments counseling the dying and consoling the bereaved and overseeing the moral conduct of their parishioners The growing professionalization of the clergy the result of more intensive education and more stringent supervision contributed to the gradual implantation of a Reformed religious culture in Basel
