Construction photographer Stanley Greenberg explores the anatomy and engineering of some of our most unusual new buildings helping us to understand our own fascination with what makes buildings stand up and what makes them fall down As designs for new constructions are revealed and the public watches closely as architects and engineers challenge each other with provocative new forms and equally audacious ideas Greenberg captures penetrating images that reveal the complex mystery and beauty found in the transitory moments before the skin of a building covers up the structures that hold it together Framed by a historical and critical essay by Joseph Rosa and including an afterword by the author the eighty captivating and thought provoking images collected here which focus on some of the most high profile design projects of the past decade including buildings designed by Norman Foster Frank Gehry Steven Holl Daniel Libeskind Thom Mayne and Renzo Piano among others are not to be missed by anyone with an eye for the almost invisible mechanisms that continue to define our relationship with the built world
