Hominin Postcranial Remains from Sterkfontein, South Africa, 1936-1995 Bernhard Zipfel, Brian G. Richmond, Carol V. Ward, 2020-05-07 The 1924 African discovery of an early hominin child's skull referred to as Australopithecus africanus by Raymond Dart was a major event in the history of paleoanthropology This provided the first evidence of early hominins in Africa and overturned conventional ideas about human evolution Subsequent discoveries of A. africanus fossils notably from cave deposits at Sterkfontein yielded the first evidence that early hominins were habitual bipeds Fifty years after this the discovered wealth of fossil evidence in eastern Africa of the slightly older and craniodentally more primitive taxon A. afarensis catalyzed debates about the origin and evolution of human gait and the phylogenetic relationships among early hominins This formed the main basis of our understanding of early hominin bipedality and paleobiology Little attention has been paid to the variation among species in postcranial anatomy and locomotion although intriguing hints are beginning to appear in the literature Did multiple varieties of bipedality evolve Did australopith species differ in positional or manipulative abilities body proportions or patterns of sexual dimorphism These are critical questions for understanding the evolution of australopiths and hominin locomotion In this book Bernhard Zipfel Brian Richmond Carol Ward and the most knowledgeable scholars in their respective fields provide groundbreaking accounts for each postcranial fossil and expert examinations into the background of each fossil The chapters include standardized high quality photographs and anatomical descriptions to allow readers to read the book entirely or learn by comparing features across chapters Hominin Postcranial Remains from Sterkfontein South Africa 1936 1995 is an evolutionary history of South African hominins and it offers readers an orientation and introduction to the field This is an important reference book for professional paleontologists paleobiologists anthropologists geologists students and historians interested in human evolution *S. Ghazanfar, 2012-08-16 This edited volume is the first of its kind to bridge the epistemological gap between primate ethologists and primate neurobiologists Leading experts in several fields review work ranging from primate foraging behavior to the neurophysiology of motor control from vocal communication to the functions of the auditory cortex Improving Medical Education Institute of Medicine, Board on Neuroscience and Behavioral Health, Committee on Behavioral and Social Sciences in Medical School Curricula, 2004-07-28 Roughly half of all deaths in the United States are linked to behavioral and social factors The leading causes of preventable death and disease in the United States are smoking, sedentary lifestyle along with poor dietary habits and alcohol consumption To make measurable improvements in the health of Americans physicians must be equipped with the knowledge and skills from the behavioral and social sciences needed to recognize, understand and effectively respond to patients as individuals not just to their symptoms What are medical schools teaching students about the behavioral and social sciences In the report the committee concluded that there is inadequate information available to sufficiently describe behavioral and social science curriculum content, teaching techniques and assessment methodologies in U.S. medical schools and recommends development of a new national behavioral and social science database The committee also recommended that the National Board of Medical Examiners ensure that the U.S. Medical Licensing Examination adequately cover the behavioral and social science subject matter recommended in this report Primate Comparative Anatomy Daniel L. Chinese Spirit-Medium Cults in Singapore Alan Elliott, 2020-08-19 The concentration of this monograph on Chinese spirit

mediumship in Singapore is chiefly a device for focussing attention upon the most typical although rather extreme manifestation of the major religious orientation of the overseas Chinese The accounts given here may chiefly be of value as a detailed record of religious rites but it is hoped that the rites shown in their institutional context can also throw some light upon the wider ramifications of culture and society among the Chinese The Contemporary Family in Singapore Eddie C. Y. Kuo,Aline K. Wong,1979 Twelve essays on the sociology of the family in Singapore in the modern period The Political Theory of Tyranny in Singapore and Burma Stephen McCarthy,2006-04-18 Covering various fields in political science this new book presents an historical and political cultural analysis of Buddhism and Confucianism Using Singapore and Burma as case studies the book questions the basic assumptions of democratization theory examining the political science of tyranny and exploring the rhetorical manipulation of religion for the purpose of political legitimacy A welcome addition to the political science and Asian studies literature McCarthy addresses many of the current issues that underlie the field of democratization in comparative politics and discusses the issue of imposing Western cultural bias in studying non Western regimes by analyzing rhetorical traits that are universally regular in politics The Making of Singapore Sociology Tong Chee-Kiong,Lian Kwen-Fee,2021-11-08 This book presents a collection of essays of how the city state of Singapore s societal dynamics have evolved from the time of its birth as a nation in 1965 to the present Key areas of Singapore society are explored contributing to the understanding of the social organisation of the city This study reveals a shift from the modernisation studies in the 1970s to a more political economic turn as a consequence of the influence of dependency and world systems theories Topics covered include urban studies family education medical care class and social stratification work language ethnic groups religion and crime and deviance Program of Section I-IX ... ,1915 The First Humans Frederick E. Grine,John G Fleagle,Richard E. Leakey,2009-05-24 There are some issues in human paleontology that seem to be timeless Most deal with the origin and early evolution of our own genus something about which we should care Some of these issues pertain to taxonomy and systematics How many species of Homo were there in the Pliocene and Pleistocene How do we identify the earliest members the genus Homo If there is more than one Plio Pleistocene species how do they relate to one another and where and when did they evolve Other issues relate to questions about body size proportions and the functional adaptations of the locomotor skeleton When did the human postcranial Bauplan evolve and for what reasons What behaviors and what behavioral limitations can be inferred from the postcranial bones that have been attributed to Homo habilis and Homo erectus Still other issues relate to growth development and life history strategies and the biological and archeological evidence for diet and behavior in early Homo It is often argued that dietary change played an important role in the origin and early evolution of our genus with stone tools opening up scavenging and hunting opportunities that would have added meat protein to the diet of Homo Still other issues relate to the environmental and climatic context in which this genus evolved
