Realms Of The Egyptian Dead 19:

Light on the Path Mark S. Morrisson, 2025-12-02 In the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries the US and UK experienced an occult revival a flourishing occulture that signalled the increasing presence of the occult in the popular imagination This period also witnessed another major cultural development a rapid expansion of print culture that offered a dizzying array of new magazines pulp fiction cheap single volume and paperback novels and emerging forms of genre fiction all designed to meet and create the demands of a growing fiction readership In Light on the Path Mark S Morrisson explores the surprising interdependence of these two phenomena As supernatural fiction moved in increasingly occult directions modern occultism itself became so entangled with popular fiction that it can almost be seen as a literary phenomenon Morrisson recounts the strategic efforts by modern occultists including Mabel Collins Aleister Crowley Dion Fortune Kenneth Morris and Talbot Mundy to use popular fiction to wrest esotericism away from its traditional modes of secrecy and make esoteric experiences of self transformation widely accessible Through experiments to forge a new esoteric fiction genre from already existing genres these occultists intended their novels to open gates for readers to offer an occult gnosis through the simple act of reading a novel In so doing they transformed genre fiction into a tool with which to launch new religious movements that persist today

Cosmologies of Pure Realms and the Rhetoric of Pollution Yohan Yoo, James W. Watts, 2021-05-30 This collaboration between two scholars from different fields of religious studies draws on three comparative data sets to develop a new theory of purity and pollution in religion arguing that a culture's beliefs about cosmological realms shapes its pollution ideas and its purification practices The authors of this study refine Mary Douglas's foundational theory of pollution as matter out of place using a comparative approach to make the case that a culture's cosmology designates which materials in which places constitute pollution By bringing together a historical comparison of Ancient Near Eastern and Mediterranean religions an ethnographic study of indigenous shamanism on Jeju Island Korea and the reception history of biblical rhetoric about pollution in Jewish and Christian cultures the authors show that a cosmological account of purity works effectively across multiple disparate religious and cultural contexts They conclude that cosmologies reinforce fears of pollution and also that embodied experiences of purification help generate cosmological ideas Providing an innovative insight into a key topic of ritual studies this book will be of vital interest to scholars and graduate students in religion biblical studies and anthropology
