Civic Ceremony and Religion in Medieval Bruges c.1300-1520 Andrew Brown,2011-03-10 Public religious practice lay at the heart of civic society in late medieval Europe In this illuminating study Andrew Brown draws on the rich and previously little researched archives of Bruges one of medieval Europe s wealthiest and most important towns to explore the role of religion and ceremony in urban society The author situates the religious practices of citizens their investment in the liturgy commemorative services guilds and charity within the contexts of Bruges highly diversified society and of the changes and crises the town experienced Focusing on the religious processions and festivities sponsored by the municipal government the author challenges much current thinking on for example the nature of civic religion Re evaluating the ceremonial links between Bruges and its rulers he questions whether rulers could dominate the urban landscape by religious or ceremonial means and offers new insight into the interplay between ritual and power of relevance throughout medieval Europe

A Printed Icon in Early Modern Italy Lisa Pon,2015-03-23 In 1428 a devastating fire destroyed a schoolhouse in the northern Italian city of Forl leaving only a woodcut of the Madonna and Child that had been tacked to the classroom wall The people of Forl carried that print now known as the Madonna of the Fire into their cathedral where two centuries later a new chapel was built to enshrine it In this book Lisa Pon considers a cascade of moments in the Madonna of the Fire s cultural biography when ink was impressed onto paper at a now unknown date when that sheet was recognized by Forl s people as miraculous when it was enshrined in various tabernacles and chapels in the cathedral when it or one of its copies was and still is carried in procession In doing so Pon offers an experiment in art historical inquiry that spans more than three centuries of making remaking and renewal

Confession and Criminal Justice in Late Medieval Italy Lidia Luisa Zanetti Domingues,2021-08-26 In medieval Italy the practice of revenge as criminal justice was still popular amongst members of all social classes yet crime also was increasingly perceived as a public matter that needed to be dealt with by the government rather than private citizens Confession and Criminal Justice in Late Medieval Italy sheds light on this contradiction through an in depth comparison of lay and religious sources produced in Siena between 1260 and 1330 on criminal justice conflict and violence Confession and Criminal Justice in Late Medieval Italy argues that religious people were an effective pressure group with regards to criminal justice thanks both to the literary works they produced and their direct intervention in political affairs and that their contributions have not received the attention they deserve It shows that the dichotomy between theories and practices of private and of public justice should be substituted by a framework in which three models or discourses of criminal justice are recognised as present in medieval Italian communes with the addition of a specifically religious discourse based on penitential spirituality Although the models of criminal justice were competing they also influenced each other
