The Religious Life of the Zuni Child Matilda Coxe Stevenson, 1887 The Religious Life of the Zuni Child Stevenson Matilda Coxe Evans, 2016-06-23 The Religious Life of the Zuni Child Tilly E. Stevenson, 19?? The Religious Life of the Zuni Child Matilda Coxe Stevenson, 1888 The Religious Life of the Zuni Child Tilly E. Stevenson, Frank Hamilton Cushing, 2010-12-18 Large 17 pt font 3 books in one vol Previous to the birth of a child if a daughter be desired the husband and wife proceed together to the mother rock and at her feet make offerings and prayers imploring her to intercede with the great father the Sun to give to them a daughter and that this daughter may grow to be all that is good in woman that she may be endowed with the power of weaving beautifully and may be skilled in the potter's art Should a son be desired the couple repair to the shrine above and here at the breast and heart of the father rock prayers and plume sticks are offered that a son may be given them and that he may have power to conquer his enemies and that he may become distinguished in the Kok ko and other orders and have power over the field to produce abundant crops In both cases the sacred meal is sprinkled and should the prayer not be answered there is no doubt that the heart of one or the other was not earnest when the prayer was offered The Zuni child is born amid ceremony At its birth only the maternal grandmother and two female doctors are present After the birth of the child the paternal grandmother enters bearing as offerings to the new born babe a large pottery bowl and inside of it a tiny blanket She then prepares warm suds of yucca root in the bowl in which she bathes the infant at the same time repeating a prayer of thanks for the life that has been given them and praying for the future of the child She then rubs the entire body of the child except the head with warm ashes held in the palm of the hand and moistened with water This process is repeated every morning during infancy and the same paste is put upon the face of the child until it is several years old The Religious Life of the Zuni Child Matilda Coxe Stevenson, Frederick Webb Hodge, 2015-08-12 This work has been selected by scholars as being culturally important and is part of the knowledge base of civilization as we know it This work was reproduced from the original artifact and remains as true to the original work as possible Therefore you will see the original copyright references library stamps as most of these works have been housed in our most important libraries around the world and other notations in the work This work is in the public domain in the United States of America and possibly other nations Within the United States you may freely copy and distribute this work as no entity individual or corporate has a copyright on the body of the work As a reproduction of a historical artifact this work may contain missing or blurred pages poor pictures errant marks etc Scholars believe and we concur that this work is important enough to be preserved reproduced and made generally available to the public We appreciate your support of the preservation process and thank you for being an important part of keeping this knowledge alive and relevant The Religious Life of the Zuni Child Matilda Coxe Stevenson, 1888 Religious Life of the Zuni Child Stevenson Mrs. Tilly E., 2019 The Religious Life of the Zuni Child (Classic Reprint) Tilly E. Stevenson, 2016-09-04 Excerpt from The Religious Life of the Zuni Child Having heard of the wonderful cave in this mountain our little party visited the place prepared to explore it Mr Stevenson and Mr H L Turner entered the fissure in the rock and squeezed through the crevice for sixteen or eighteen feet to where the rock was so solid that they both determined no human creature could penetrate farther They examined the place most carefully by means of an artificial light Through a small aperture stones could be thrown to a depth from which no sound returned but excepting this solitary Opening all was solid immovable rock In this cave many plume sticks were gathered Near the opening of the cave or fissure is a shrine to the Kok ko which must be very old and over and around it are hundreds of the plume sticks and turquoise and shell beads About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works

Anthropology is by definition about others but in this volume the phrase refers not to members of observed cultures but to significant others spouses lovers and others with whom anthropologists have deep relationships that are both personal and professional The essays in this volume look at the roles of these spouses and partners of anthropologists over the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries especially their work as they accompanied the anthropologists in the field Other relationships discussed include those between anthropologists and informants mentors and students cohorts and partners and parents and children The book closes with a look at gender roles in the field demonstrated by the marriage in the late nineteenth century of the male Anthropological Society of Washington to the Women s Anthropological Society of America Revealing relationships that were simultaneously deeply personal and professionally important these essays bring a new depth of insight to the history of anthropology as a social science and human endeavor
