Lejeune Blythe Bartlett, 2012-04-15 This well documented and hard hitting biography of the thirteenth commandant of the U S Marine Corps succeeds in converting John A Lejeune from a near mythical figure in corps history to a flesh and blood officer who helped build the service from a small appendage of the U S Navy to an important arm of naval warfare Commandant from 1920 to 1929 when he retired from military service to become president of Virginia Military Institute Major General Lejeune is regarded by many as the man most responsible for the establishment of the modern Marine Corps

In capturing the life and times of this visionary leader who directed the corps toward major amphibious operations Merrill Bartlett provides vivid insight into the political and military giants of the era and shows Lejeune to be an adroit player of Washington politics and a shrewd manipulator who marshalled the energies and loyalties of his senior officers to accomplish his vision Pioneers of Amphibious Warfare, 1898-1945 Leo J. Daugherty III, 2009-06-08 The planning that allowed for the successful amphibious landings at the end of World War II actually began during the 1880s as the Marine Corps sought to define its role in the new Steel Navy Officers braved skepticism indifference and outright opposition to develop an amphibious warfare doctrine with each service contributing From the 1898 war with Spain through the disastrous 1915 Australian landing to the successful World War II assaults in the Pacific and northwest France this chronological history explores the successes and failures pivotal to the concept of amphibious warfare through the lives and careers of fourteen officers instrumental to its development Profiles include General George S Patton Jr Rear Admiral Walter C Ansel USN Lieutenant General John A Lejeune USMC Admiral William Sims USN and Colonel Robert W Huntington USMC You'll Be Sorry! John M. Eardley, 2009-09 During World War II the Marine Corps' Second Division was known for courage and tenacity in some of the major battles of the South Pacific Tarawa Saipan and Tinian This is the story of one of its members Private First Class John Eardley a radio man from Grand Rapids Michigan who fought in the battles of Saipan and Tinian He had been a sensitive and sickly child raised by a single mother along with his twin brother James and their sister Virginia This book depicts the struggles the family faced during the Great Depression and the boys decision to join the Marine Corps influenced by the film From the Shores of Tripoli after high school When the troop buses rolled into Camp Pendleton in California young John heard the seasoned recruits chanting You'll Be Sorry It was a refrain that would echo in his mind throughout the difficult months ahead Quantico, Crossroads of the Marine Corps Charles A. Fleming, Charles A. Braley, Robin L. Austin, 1978 The Leatherneck, 1996 The Marines' Fight for Survival Rod Andrew Jr., 2025-10-20 Only five years after Marines raised the American flag on Iwo Jima the United States Marine Corps was close to becoming a hollow force A parsimonious Truman administration and a hostile defense secretary Louis Johnson had reduced the Corps to a handful of understrength infantry battalions assorted supporting artillery and tank units and twelve aircraft squadrons Its future hung in the balance In The Marines Fight for Survival historian and retired Marine Corps Colonel Rod Andrew Jr guides readers through the dramatic twists and turns of the campaign waged by a handful of senior Marines citizens legislators and journalists to defend the Corps and prevent its elimination or forced irrelevance Through politicking intrigue deception and extreme moral courage the Corps defenders waged a bitter battle of policy and publicity in the halls of power and the national media But while this campaign of persuasion moved the needle in some important ways the final victory for the Marines future was ultimately won on the battlefields of Korea Andrew argues that it was the gritty performance of the frontline Marines and their supporting airmen in Korea that ultimately saved the Corps The elite reputation that they created for themselves and the affection they had garnered from the public throughout the twentieth century would not have been possible without the valor and the victories of frontline Marines The Corps place in the national defense structure was sealed with the Douglas Mansfield Act of 1952 in which Congress granted a legal voice to the USMC Commandant on the Joint Chiefs of Staff and made the Corps the only service branch to have a permanent minimal strength protected by law By, For, and About Marines Lt Col Sidney Atwater US Marine Corps,2021-07-08 By For and About Marines is a nonfiction collection of notable quotes giving voice to U S Marines throughout its storied and illustrious history Each quote is set in historical context to give the reader a better understanding of where when and why the quote is included Reminiscences and Remembrances E.
