The Role of Advertising Agencies in Canada's Service Sector Kristian S. Palda,1988 From the back cover Despite its modest size total revenues about 1 5 billion the sector s member firms play a crucial role in disseminating market information in Canada s economy That role is described and analyzed here with the backing of private and public statistics No similar study of U S advertising agencies is available The industry is well endowed with human capital is technologically progressive and is probably as productive as its U S counterpart The principal challenge it faces is not freer trade but the global standardization of advertising from the foreign headquarters of multinational enterprises Canadian Books in Print.
