Moore, 2000 An ambitious and original work which uses early film theory anthropological insights and avant garde film to explore the relation of cinema to ritual healing Modernism and Magic Leigh Wilson, 2015-10-01 Explores the interplay between modernist experiment and occult discourses in the early twentieth century

The Cinema of Attractions Reloaded Wanda Strauven, 2006 Twenty years ago noted film scholars Tom Gunning and Andr Gaudreault introduced the phrase cinema of attractions to describe the essential qualities of films made in the medium's earliest days those produced between 1895 and 1906 Now The Cinema of Attractions Reloaded critically examines the term and its subsequent wide ranging use in film studies The collection opens with a history of the term tracing the collaboration between Gaudreault and Gunning the genesis of the term in their attempts to explain the spectacular effects of motion that lay at the heart of early cinema and the pair's debts to Sergei Eisenstein and others This reconstruction is followed by a look at applications of the term to more recent film productions from the works of the Wachowski brothers to virtual reality and video games With essays by an impressive collection of international film scholars and featuring contributions by Gunning and Gaudreault as well The Cinema of Attractions Reloaded will be necessary reading for all scholars of early film and its continuing influence This Thing of Darkness Joan Neuberger, 2019-03-15 Sergei Eisenstein's unfinished masterpiece Ivan the Terrible was no ordinary movie Commissioned by Joseph Stalin in 1941 to justify state terror in the sixteenth century and in the twentieth the film's politics style and epic scope aroused controversy even before it was released In This Thing of Darkness Joan Neuberger offers a sweeping account of the conception making and reception of Ivan the Terrible that weaves together Eisenstein's expansive thinking and experimental practice with a groundbreaking new view of artistic production under Stalin Drawing on Eisenstein's unpublished production notebooks diaries and manuscripts Neuberger's riveting narrative chronicles Eisenstein's personal creative and political challenges and reveals the ways cinematic invention artistic theory political critique and historical and psychological analysis went hand in hand in this famously complex film Neuberger's bold arguments and daring insights into every aspect of Eisenstein's work during this period together with her ability to lucidly connect his wide ranging late theory with his work on Ivan show the director exploiting the institutions of Soviet artistic production not only to expose the cruelties of Stalin and his circle but to challenge the fundamental principles of Soviet ideology itself Ivan the Terrible she argues shows us one of the world's greatest filmmakers and one of the twentieth century's greatest artists observing the world around him and experimenting with every element of film art to explore the psychology of political ambition uncover the history of recurring cycles of violence and lay bare the tragedy of absolute power Drone Age Cinema Steen Ledet Christiansen, 2016-11-29 At a time when technological advances are transforming cultures and supporting new automated military operations action films engage the senses and in doing so allow viewers to embody combat roles This book argues that through film the viewer adapts to an ecology of fear one that reflects global panic at the near constant threat of conflict and violence Often overwhelming in its audiovisual assault action cinema attempts to overpower our bodies with its own through force and intensity In this book Steen Ledet Christiansen identifies five aspects central to how action films produce such physical movements and responses through vectors droning kinetics telesomatics and volatility and in so doing unveils new modes of perception that acclimatise us for warfare Drawing on theories from film philosophy and a consideration of the aesthetics and phenomenology of war this is an innovative study of the evolving action movie and its role in the targeted address of battle Chapters investigate new modes of cinematic experience through in depth case studies of Iron Man Avatar and the Jason Bourne trilogy through to The Hurt Locker and Mad Max Fury Road

Thinking in the Dark Jeremy Blatter, 2015-10-16 Today's film scholars draw from a dizzying range of theoretical perspectives they're just as likely to cite philosopher Gilles Deleuze as they are to quote classic film theorist Andr  Bazin To students first encountering them these theoretical lenses for viewing film can seem exhilarating but also overwhelming Thinking in the Dark introduces readers to twenty one key theorists whose work has made a great impact on film scholarship today including Rudolf Arnheim Sergei Eisenstein Michel Foucault Siegfried Kracauer and Judith Butler Rather than just discussing each theorist's ideas in the abstract the book shows how those concepts might be applied when interpreting specific films by including an analysis of both a classic film and a contemporary one It thus demonstrates how theory can help us better appreciate films from all eras and genres from Hugo to Vertigo from City Lights to Sunset Blvd and from Young Mr Lincoln to A.I. and Wall E The volume's contributors are all experts on their chosen theorist's work and furthermore are skilled at explaining that thinker's key ideas and terms to readers who are not yet familiar with them Thinking in the Dark is not only a valuable resource for teachers and students of film it's also a fun read one that teaches us all how to view familiar films through new eyes Theorists examined in this volume are Rudolf Arnheim B la Bal zs Roland Barthes Andr  Bazin Walter Benjamin Judith Butler Stanley Cavell Michel Chion Gilles Deleuze Jean Douchet Sergei Eisenstein Jean Epstein Michel Foucault Siegfried Kracauer Jacques Lacan Vachell Lindsay Christian Metz Hugo M nsterberg V.F. Troubled Everyday Alison Taylor, 2017-04-28 Extreme violence in contemporary European art cinema is generally interpreted for its affective potential but what about the significance of the everyday that so often frames and forms the majority of these films Why do the sudden moments of violence that punctuate films like Catherine Breillat s Fat Girl 2001 Gaspar Noe s Irreversible 2002 and Markus Schleinzer s Michael 2011 seem so reliant on everyday routines and settings for their impact Addressing these questions through a series of case studies and considering notorious films in their historical and philosophical context Troubled Everyday offers the first detailed examination of the relationship between violence and the everyday in European art cinema It calls for a re evaluation of what gives these films such affective force and such a prolonged grip on our imagination

Religion and Film S. Brent Plate, 2017-09-05 Religion and cinema share a capacity for world making ritualizing mythologizing and creating sacred time and space Through cinematography mise en scene editing and other production activities film takes the world out there and refashions it Religion achieves similar ends by setting apart particular objects and periods of time telling stories and gathering people together for communal actions and concentrated focus The result of both cinema and religious practice is a re-created world a world of fantasy a world of ideology a world we long to live in or a world we wish to avoid at all costs Religion and Film introduces readers to both religious studies and film studies by focusing on the formal similarities between cinema and religious practices and on the ways they each re-create the world Explorations of film show how the cinematic experience relies on similar aesthetic devices on which religious rituals have long relied sight sound the taste of food the body and communal experience Meanwhile a deeper understanding of the aesthetic nature of religious rituals can alter our understanding of film production Utilizing terminology and theoretical insights from the study of religion as well as the study of film Religion and Film shows that by paying attention to the ways films are constructed we can shed new light on the ways religious myths and rituals are constructed and vice versa This thoroughly revised and expanded new edition is designed to appeal to the needs of courses in religion as well as film departments In addition to two new chapters this edition has been restructured into three distinct sections that offer students and instructors theories and methods for thinking about cinema in ways that more fully connect film studies with religious studies Practices of

Projection Gabriel Menotti, Virginia Crisp, 2020-02-05 To many the technological aspects of projection often go unnoticed only brought to attention during moments of crisis or malfunction For example when a movie theater projector falters the audience suddenly looks toward the back of the theater to see a sign of mechanical failure The history of cinema similarly shows that the attention to projection has been most focused when the whole medium is hanging in suspension During Hollywood's economic consolidation in the 30s projection defined the ways that sync sound technologies could be deployed within the medium Most recently the digitization of cinema repeated this process as technology was reworked to facilitate mobility These examples show how projection continually speaks to the rearrangement of media technology Projection therefore needs to be examined as a pivotal element in the future of visual media's technological transition In Practices of Projection Histories and Technologies volume editors Gabriel Menotti and Virginia Crisp address the cultural and technological significance of projection Throughout the volume chapters reiterate that projection cannot and must not be reduced to its cinematic functions alone Borrowing media theorist Siegfried Zielinski's definition Menotti and Crisp refer to projection as the heterogeneous array of artefacts technical systems and particularly visual praxes of experimentation and of culture From this readers can understand the performative character of the moving image and the labor of the different actors involved in the utterance of the film text Projection is not the same everywhere nor equal all the time Its systems are in permanent interaction with environmental circumstances neighboring structures local cultures and social economies Thus the idea of projection as a universal fully autonomous operation cannot hold Each occurrence of projection adds nuance to a wider understanding of film screening technologies
