Nights With Uncle Remus: Myths and Legends of the Old Plantation Joel Chandler Harris,2020-09-28 The volume containing an instalment of thirty four negro legends which was given to the public three years ago was accompanied by an apology for both the matter and the manner Perhaps such an apology is more necessary now than it was then but the warm reception given to the book on all sides by literary critics as well as by ethnologists and students of folk lore in this country and in Europe has led the author to believe that a volume embodying everything or nearly everything of importance in the oral literature of the negroes of the Southern States would be as heartily welcomed The thirty four legends in the first volume were merely selections from the large body of plantation folk lore familiar to the author from his childhood and these selections were made less with an eye to their ethnological importance than with a view to presenting certain quaint and curious race characteristics of which the world at large had had either vague or greatly exaggerated notions The first book therefore must be the excuse and apology for the present volume Indeed the first book made the second a necessity for immediately upon its appearance letters and correspondence began to pour in upon the author from all parts of the South Much of this correspondence was very valuable for it embodied legends that had escaped the author s memory and contained hints and suggestions that led to some very interesting discoveries The result is that the present volume is about as complete as it could be made under the circumstances though there is no doubt of the existence of legends and myths especially upon the rice plantations and Sea Islands of the Georgia and Carolina seacoast which owing to the difficulties that stand in the way of those who attempt to gather them are not included in this collection It is safe to say however that the best and most characteristic of the legends current on the rice plantations and Sea Islands are also current on the cotton plantations Indeed this has been abundantly verified in the correspondence of those who kindly consented to aid the author in his efforts to secure stories told by the negroes on the seacoast The great majority of legends and stories collected and forwarded by these generous collaborators had already been collected among the negroes on the cotton plantations and uplands of Georgia and other Southern States This will account for the comparatively meagre contribution which Daddy Jack the old African of the rice plantations makes towards the entertainment of the little boy

Sara's first day of school is full of surprises but the biggest one of all is that there is more than one way to say hello. So during the holidays she sets off on a journey around the country in a hot air balloon to learn them all. This delightful story of rhyming verse accompanied by charming illustrations is a must for all young South African children.      Latina/o/x Education in Chicago Isaura Pulido, Angelica Rivera, Ann M. Aviles, 2022-08-09

In this collection local experts use personal narratives and empirical data to explore the history of Mexican American and Puerto Rican education in the Chicago Public Schools CPS system. The essays focus on three themes: the historical context of segregated and inferior schooling for Latina o x students; the changing purposes and meanings of education for Latina o x students from the 1950s through today; and Latina o x resistance to educational reforms grounded in neoliberalism. Contributors look at stories of student strength and resistance, the oppressive systems forced on Mexican American women, the criminalization of Puerto Ricans fighting for liberatory education, and other topics of educational significance. As they show, many harmful past practices remain the norm or have become worse. Yet Latina o x communities and students persistently engage in transformative practices, shaping new approaches to education that promise to reverberate not only in the city but nationwide. Insightful and enlightening. Latina o x Education in Chicago brings to light the ongoing struggle for educational equity in the Chicago Public Schools.

Hunter-trader-trapper, 1906      Mayday Karen Harrington, 2016-05-24

In the tradition of Counting By 7s and The Thing About Jellyfish, a heartwarming coming of age story about grief, family, friendship, and the importance of finding your voice. Wayne Kovok lives in a world of After After. His uncle in the army was killed overseas. After Wayne and his mother survived a plane crash while coming back from the funeral, After he lost his voice, Wayne has always used his love of facts to communicate. Did you know more people die each year from shaking a vending machine than from shark attacks? Without his voice, how will he wow the prettiest girl in school? How will he stand up to his drill sergeant grandfather? And how will he share his hopes with his deadbeat dad? It's not until Wayne loses his voice completely that he realizes how much he doesn't say. Filled with Karen Harrington's signature heart and humor, Mayday tackles an unforgettable journey of family and friendship.      Nickels Christine Stark, 2011-01-01

Nickels follows a biracial girl named Little Miss So and So from age 4 1 2 into adulthood. Told in a series of prose poems, Nickels' lyrical and inventive language conveys the dissociative states born of a world formed by persistent and brutal incest and homophobia. The dissociative states enable the child's survival and ultimately the adult's healing. The story is both heartbreaking and triumphant.
