Dynamic Leadership Models for Global Business: Enhancing Digitally Connected Environments Smith, Peter A. C.,Cockburn, Tom,2013-01-31 As global business systems are becoming ever more complex and they continue to grow and expand it is increasingly more difficult to stand out as an effective and efficient leader Dynamic Leadership Models for Global Business Enhancing Digitally Connected Environments describes various models on how to become an outstanding leader in today s rapidly growing global business environments This book seeks to provide positive instruction which illuminates a practical path to becoming a successful leader in such large and competitive markets The approach is consistent with any existing leadership development program or it may be undertaken as an individual initiative      Harvard Business School Core Collection 1995 Baker Library,1995      Perspectives on Global Biodiversity Scenarios and Environmental Services in the 21st Century Chourasia, Naveen Kumar,Chahal, Kavita,2023-11-01 Quantitative models are increasingly being used to assess the impact of socioeconomic development pathways on biodiversity and environmental services. Regardless of the scenario the decline of biodiversity will continue throughout the 21st century. Land use changes drive biodiversity changes in terrestrial systems while overfishing drives changes in marine systems and climate change affects all realms. The loss of habitats will lead to local population decreases and global extinctions will occur at unpredictable rates due to the lag between environmental changes and their effects. To address this we need to focus more on the relationship between the decline of ecosystem services and the position of species responsible for that function in the trophic hierarchy. Perspectives on Global Biodiversity Scenarios and Environmental Services in the 21st Century makes biodiversity scenarios understandable, relevant, and valuable to stakeholders by using effective language and focused communication techniques. Instead of merely showing the potential effects of global change on biodiversity, scenarios should consider the feedback connecting environmental forces. Biodiversity provides numerous essential environmental services crucial to human well-being both now and in the future. The climate is a critical component of ecosystem functioning and directly and indirectly affects human health. The target audience includes biology and environmental science students and faculty, scientists, social workers who generate and collaborate on biodiversity scenarios, policymakers, and corporations with a basic science understanding.

International Management in Service Firms Dirk Klimkeit, Pengji Wang, Huiping Zhang, 2024-05-22. This textbook examines how service firms manage their international operations. For the first time it brings together insights from the fragmented literature on this subject into an accessible textbook. Further, it is unique in its focus on service firms' internationalization and international management. Beginning with an overview of the international environment in which service firms operate, it subsequently describes multinational service firms and their internationalization processes, strategies, and organization. Unlike most texts on international services, the book goes beyond internationalization to address the ongoing management of service firms. It not only addresses functions such as global service marketing, financial management, and human resource management but also discusses aspects such as global account management, global service delivery, and international project management, as well as the topical issue of managing distributed virtual teams. A dedicated chapter focuses on offshore shared services and business process outsourcing. These chapters are complemented by a discussion on international corporate governance and corporate social responsibility. The book is intended for students preparing for international careers in the service sector. Each chapter includes case studies, illustrations, highlighted definitions, a chapter summary, and exercises.

Global Leaders for the Twenty-First Century Michael J. Marquardt, Nancy O. Berger, 2000-09-07. Identifies eight new competencies that will be required by twenty-first century leaders and profiles twelve up and coming leaders who exemplify them.

Manufacturing Competitiveness Frontiers, 1991.

Science and the Global Environment Alan McIntosh, Jennifer Pontius, 2016-09-03. Case Studies for Integrating Science and the Global Environment is designed to help students of the environment and natural resources make the connections between their training in science and math and today's complex environmental issues. The book provides an opportunity for students to apply important skills, knowledge, and analytical tools to understand, evaluate, and propose solutions to today's critical environmental issues. The heart of the book includes four major content areas: water resources, the atmosphere and air quality, ecosystem alteration, and global resources and human needs. Each of these sections features in-depth case studies covering a range of issues for each resource, offering rich opportunities to teach how various scientific disciplines help inform the issue at hand. Case studies provide readers with experience in interpreting real data sets and considering alternate explanations for trends shown by the data. This book helps prepare students for careers that require collaboration with stakeholders and co-workers from various disciplines. Includes global case studies using real data sets that allow readers to practice interpreting data and evaluating alternative explanations. Focuses on critical skills and knowledge, encouraging readers to apply science and math to real-world problems. Employs a system-based approach linking air, water, and land resources to help readers understand that cause-effect may be complex and solutions to environmental problems require multiple perspectives. Includes special features such as links to video clips of scientists at work, boxed information, a solutions section at the end of each case study, and practice exercises.

Youth Policies and Services in Chinese Societies Steven Sek-yum Ngai, Chau-kiu Cheung, Ngan-pun Ngai, 2018-02-02. In recent decades, much of youth research in Chinese societies has sought to understand the transformation of the younger generation and their social environment in the context of globalization, deindustrialization, and economic insecurity. The epochal events of the global economic transformation and financial crisis, along with long-term Chinese social trends such as rising unemployment, income disparity, and migration, are in the process of creating new structural relations between young people and related social actors. Accordingly, this book charts the current conditions of youth services and policies in Chinese societies by examining case studies in Beijing, Jinan, Shanghai, Tianjin, and Hong Kong. The chapters address the related issues stemming from unemployment, volunteering, internal migration, economic disadvantages, school, social work, and leadership training. Through comparative analyses of the aforementioned issues, the collection highlights contemporary issues in Chinese youth policies and services, including work commitment, social inclusion, social support from family, and teachers' volunteering and leadership training. The book argues that the strengthening of empowerment and social inclusion in Chinese youth services offers a solution to problems of alienation, powerlessness, and underclass status. The quest for social inclusion therefore merits renewed attention in the youth policies and services of Chinese societies. This was originally published as a special issue of the International Journal of Adolescence and Youth.
