Settlement Encounter Geographical Studies Presented To Sir Grenfell Price:

Settlement & Encounter Archibald Grenfell Price, 1969 Article by Fay Gale listed separately Includes bibliography of works by Sir Grenfell Price Settlement and Encounter; Geographical Studies Presented to Sir Grenfell Price. Edited by Fay Gale and Graham H. Lawton Fay ed Gale, The Shaping of America: A Geographical Perspective on 500 Years of History D. W. Meinig, 1986-01-01 This study discusses how an immense diversity of ethnic and religious groups became sorted into a set of distinct regional societies in North America Geographers T. W. Freeman, 2016-01-28 An annual collection of studies of individuals who have made major contributions to the development of geography and geographical thought Subjects are drawn from all periods and from all parts of the world and include famous names as well as those less well known explorers independent thinkers and scholars Each paper describes the geographer's education life and work and discusses their influence and spread of academic ideas Each study includes a select bibliography and brief chronology The work includes a general index and a cumulative index of geographers listed in volumes published to date Geography and National Identity David Hooson, 1994-10-20 This volume of especially commissioned essays explores the geography of and the role of geography in national and proto national identity Place and national identity are bound together Attachment to the one is almost always inseparable from the sense of the other Yet as this volume shows the articulated self conscious linking of place and identity is by and large a modern phenomenon that took root in nineteenth century Europe The formation of supranational states and the much vaunted globalization of culture led many to believe there would be a progressive dilution of national identities and a growing agglomeration of places and nations into larger state units Precisely the reverse has taken place This book explores the connections between identity and homeland showing how a place may be perceived as archetypal endowed with love and celebrated in music and poetry yet be a pretext for violence and war It examines the evolution of ideas about identity and their manifestations in a wide variety of settings from the former Soviet Union to the island states of the South Pacific Foundational Fictions in South Australian History Carolyn Collins, Paul Sendziuk, 2018-10-15 In this lively provocative collection some of Australia's leading historians and a Miles Franklin shortlisted historical novelist challenge established myths narratives and beautiful lies about South Australia's past Some are unmasked as false stories that mask brutal realities like colonial violence while others are revealed as simplistic versions of more complex truths Each generation writes history that speaks to its own interests and concerns write historians Paul Ashton and Anna Clark In Foundational Fictions in South Australian History which grew out of a series of public lectures at the University of Adelaide an impressive range of contributors suggest different ways in which familiar narratives of South Australia can be interpreted These essays tap into wider debates too about the nature and purpose of history and the history wars first flamed by John Howard Stuart Macintyre highlights South Australia's central role in several national events Humphrey McQueen questions the origins and influence of the money behind South Australia's so called progressive founding Lucy Treloar suggests historians can learn from novelists when it comes to understanding the past Steven Anderson argues that Don Dunstan's achievement in abolishing capital punishment owed much to a historical movement And Carolyn Collins highlights the role of anti conscription group Save Our Sons SOS in not just ending the Vietnam War but broadening the appeal of the anti war movement Genocide and Settler Society A. Dirk Moses, 2005-03-01 Colonial Genocide has been seen increasingly as a stepping stone to the European genocides of the twentieth century yet it remains an under researched phenomenon This volume reconstructs instances of Australian genocide and for the first time places them in a global context Beginning with the arrival of the British in 1788 and extending to the 1960s the authors identify the moments of radicalization and the escalation of British violence and ethnic engineering aimed at the Indigenous populations while carefully distinguishing between local massacres cultural genocide and genocide itself These essays reflect a growing concern with the nature of settler society in Australia and in particular with the fate of the tens of thousands of children who were forcibly taken away from their Aboriginal families by state agencies Long considered a relatively peaceful settlement Australian society contained many of the pathologies that led to the exterminatory and eugenic policies of twentieth century Europe The Country of Streams and Grottoes Richard von Glahn, 2020-03-17 A study of the Han expansion in southern Sichuan during the Song dynasty It seeks to discover the economic forces and political relationships that produced a characteristic regional society and landscape out of the meeting of two unlike civilizations and especially to demonstrate how pressures from the centers of Han power and culture affected life on the frontier

A History of the Faculty of Arts at the University of Adelaide 1876-2012 Nick Harvey, Jean Fornasiero, Greg McCarthy, Clem Macintyre, Carl Crossin, 2012 The Bachelor of Arts BA was the first recognised degree at the University of Adelaide Although informal classes for some subjects were held at the University between 1873 and 1875 the first official University lecture was a Latin lecture at 10 am on Monday 28 March 1876 This was followed by lectures in Greek English and Mental Philosophy By 1878 the first BA student Thomas Ainslie Caterer completed his studies for the BA degree and in 1879 became the first graduate of the University of Adelaide Even though the BA was the first degree it was not until eight years later in 1887 that the Faculty of Arts was inaugurated after the Faculty of Law in 1884 a Board of Studies in Music in 1885 and the Faculty of Medicine in 1885 Following the creation of a separate science degree in 1882 many scientific subjects were removed from the BA For the next five years the subjects were Latin Greek Mathematics Natural Philosophy Logic English History and Comparative Philology Later other subjects such as French German and Political Economy were added toward the end of the nineteenth century In 1897 the Elder Conservatorium of Music was created as the first music school of its type in Australia although at that time it was not part of the Faculty of Arts In the first 50 years of the University's existence less than ten BA students graduated each year At the start of the 21st century this figure had climbed to over 300 BA graduates per year but what is interesting is that by 2010 the number of BA graduates was equalled by the number of graduates from separate named degrees within the Faculty plus 70 Music graduates In addition during the first decade of the twenty first century there were over 60 coursework postgraduates plus more than 40 research postgraduates graduating each year

The Earth as Transformed by Human Action B. L. Turner, William C. Clark, Robert W. Kates, John F. Richards, Jessica T. Mathews, William B. Meyer, 1993-01-29 The Earth as Transformed by Human Action is the culmination of a mammoth undertaking involving the examination of the toll our continual strides forward technical and social take on our world The purpose of such a study is to document the changes in the biosphere that have taken place over the last 300 years to contrast global patterns of change to those appearing on a regional level and to explain the major human forces that have driven these changes The first section deals strictly with the major human forces of the past 300 years and the second is a detailed account of the transformations of the global environment wrought by human action The final section examines a range of perspectives and theories that purport to explain human actions with regard to the biosphere

Land Degradation and Society Piers Blaikie, Harold Brookfield, 2015-07-30 Why does land management so often fail to prevent soil erosion deforestation salination and flooding How serious are these problems and for whom This book first published in 1987 sets out to answer these questions which are still some of the most crucial issues in development today using an approach called regional political ecology This approach acknowledges that the reason why land management can fail are extremely varied and must include a thorough understanding of the changing natural resource base itself the human response to this and broader changes in society of which land managers are a part Land Degradation and Society is essential reading for all students of geography agriculture social sciences development studies and related subjects

Always Hungry, Never Greedy Miriam Kahn, 1993-12-30 The Wamira people of Papua New Guinea display what outsiders would describe as an obsession with food Who owns how many pigs how much taro grows in whose garden and who contributes what food at a feast are all questions uppermost in their thoughts Wamirans account for this preoccupation by saying that they suffer from perpetual famine They explain this by means of an elaborate and colorful myth about Tamodukorokoro a monster who would have brought them abundant food but whom in typical Wamiran style of fearing what they desire they chased away In this carefully crafted and beautifully evocative book Kahn who lived with the Wamira people for two and a half years argues that Wamirans famine has in fact little to do with the belly For Wamirans concepts of food and hunger are cultural constructs By means of food they objectify emotions balance relations between men and women communicate rivalries among men and ultimately control the ambivalent desires that they fear would otherwise control them Effectively combining analyses of myths and symbols with analytical accounts of subsistence and ritual behavior Kahn writes with a degree of nuance that takes the reader beyond academic analyses into the experience of the ethnographer and the daily lives of the people with whom she resided
