Qualls, 2018-07-05 Sevastopol located in present day Ukraine but still home to the Russian Black Sea Fleet and revered by Russians for its role in the Crimean War was utterly destroyed by German forces during World War II In From Ruins to Reconstruction Karl D Qualls tells the complex story of the city's rebuilding Based on extensive research in archives in both Moscow and Sevastopol architectural plans and drawings interviews and his own extensive experience in Sevastopol Qualls tells a unique story in which the periphery bests the Stalinist center the city's experience shows that local officials had considerable room to maneuver even during the peak years of Stalinist control Qualls first paints a vivid portrait of the ruined city and the sufferings of its surviving inhabitants He then turns to Moscow's plans to remake the ancient city on the heroic socialist model prized by Stalin and visited upon most other postwar Soviet cities and towns In Sevastopol however the architects and city planners sent out from the center went native deviating from Moscow's blueprints to collaborate with local officials and residents who seized control of the planning process and rebuilt the city in a manner that celebrated its distinctive historical identity. When completed postwar Sevastopol resembled a nineteenth century Russian city with tree lined boulevards wide walkways and buildings street names and memorials to its heroism in wars both long past and recent. Though visually Russian and still containing a majority Russian speaking population Sevastopol was in 1954 joined to Ukraine which in 1991 became an independent state. In his concluding chapter Qualls explores how the Russianness of the city and the presence of the Russian fleet affect relations between Ukraine Russia and the West. 6538 Amber Books Ltd, Hans Seidler, 2011-10-15

This volume by Hans Seidler tells of the ferocious battle between German and Russian forces during World War II. Brimming with photographs this work takes the reader through Erich von Manstein's campaign to capture the naval fortress of Sevastopol. A Visit to the Camp Before Sevastopol (Classic Reprint) Richard C. McCormick, 2016-10-12

Excerpt from A Visit to the Camp Before Sevastopol. It was not until after my recent return from the East that I entertained the most distant idea of giving this form or publicity to the observations made during my visit to the camp before Sevastopol. I have consequently been deprived of such detailed memoranda as under other circumstances might have been at my command and occupied by a multitude of engagements rendered the more pressing by a protracted absence from home. I have been quite unable to bestow that care upon the compilation which I should otherwise have done. Satisfied however that I have not drawn upon imagination or ventured to exaggerate in any particular I am ready to believe that a considerate public will give its most lenient criticism to the plain statement of facts found in the following pages which owe their origin to the urgent solicitation of many of my best friends both at home and abroad.
