Seven Women: Great Painters Winthrop Neilson, Frances Fullerton Neilson, 1968      Women Artists in Paris, 1850-1900 Laurence Madeline, Pauline Willis, 2017-01-01 Paris was the epicenter of art during the latter half of the nineteenth century luring artists from around the world with its academies museums salons and galleries Despite the city's cosmopolitanism and its cultural stature Parisian society remained strikingly conservative particularly with respect to gender Nonetheless many women painters chose to work and study in Paris at this time overcoming immense obstacles to access the city's resources Women Artists in Paris 1850-1900 showcases the remarkable artistic production of women during this period of great cultural change revealing the breadth and strength of their creative achievements Guest Curator Laurence Madeline Chief Curator at Musées d'art et d'histoire Geneva has selected close to seventy compelling paintings by women of varied nationalities ranging from well known artists such as Berthe Morisot Mary Cassatt and Rosa Bonheur to lesser known figures such as Kitty Kielland Louise Breslau and Anna Ancher      London's Women Artists, 1900-1914 Mengting Yu, 2020-09-16 Drawing on untapped archives as well as aggregating a wide range of existing published sources this book recalibrates the understanding of women artists roles outputs and receptions in London during what was indubitably a vibrant and innovative period in the history of British art and in which the work of their male contemporaries is so well understood The book takes its starting point from Alicia Foster's article Gwen John's Self Portrait Art Identity and Women Students at the Slade School published in 2000 where the expression a talented and decorative group was coined to describe common attitudes towards women artists in the late 19th and early 20th century London This pejorative attribution strongly implied a status less significant to that of their male counterparts The author challenges this statement's basic tenet by casting a wide net in examining women's art education from the Slade School of Fine Art through to the role of its graduates within a selection of London's exhibition groups societies and publications This book also reconstructs from scratch the role of the Women's International Art Club WIAC hitherto entirely overlooked in art historical studies of the era This book will be of interest to students and researchers in art and cultural history gender studies and in sociological studies of pre War World War Britain

Women Artists on the Leading Edge Joan M. Marter, 2019-10-07 How do students develop a personal style from their instruction in a visual arts program Women Artists on the Leading Edge explores this question as it describes the emergence of an important group of young women artists from an innovative post war visual arts program at Douglass College The women who studied with avant garde artists at Douglas were among the first students in the nation to be introduced to performance art conceptual art Fluxus and Pop Art These young artists were among the first to experience new approaches to artmaking that rejected the predominant style of the 1950s Abstract Expressionism The New Art espoused by faculty including Robert Watts Allan Kaprow Roy Lichtenstein Geoffrey Hendricks and others advocated that art should be based on everyday life The phrase anything can be art was frequently repeated in the creation of Happenings multi media installations and video art Experimental approaches to methods of creation using a remarkable range of materials were investigated by these young women Interdisciplinary aspects of the Douglass curriculum became the basis for performances videos photography and constructions Sculpture was created using new technologies and industrial materials The Douglass women artists included in this book were among the first to implement the message and direction of their instructors Ultimately the artistic careers of these young women have reflected the successful interaction of students with a cutting edge faculty From this BA and MFA program in the Visual Arts emerged women such as Alice Aycock Rita Myers Joan Snyder Mimi Smith and Jackie Winsor who went on to become lifelong innovators Camaraderie was important among the Douglass art students and many continue to be instructors within a close circle of associates from their college years Even before the inception of the women s art movement of the 1970s these women students were encouraged to pursue professional careers and to remain independent in their approach to making art The message of the New Art was to relate one s art production to life itself and to personal experiences From these directions emerged a proto feminist art of great originality identified with women s issues The legacy of these artists can be found in radical changes in art instruction since the 1950s the promotion of non hierarchical approaches to media and acceptance of conceptual art as a viable art form

International Women Artists and War, 1560-2023 Deborah A. Deacon,2024-09-19 Like many of their male peers women artists have used their chosen mediums to explore and express their reactions to the violence of war which they frequently experienced firsthand The 345 named artists discussed in this book come from diverse backgrounds across hundreds of years The book divides the 652 covered works of art into five general categories those that provide support for the war effort those that oppose war and or support peace those that document the impacts of war on the individuals who fight and the civilians who experience it those that commemorate and memorialize the events and participants in war and general representations of those who fight While most of the women who documented the impact of war on those who experienced it were professional artists self taught artists have told equally compelling stories in their works Whether working in a studio or on the battlefield the women s professionalism and dedication allowed them to convey the impact of war powerfully *Catalog of Copyright Entries.
