Family Britain, 1951-1957 David Kynaston,2010-12-01 As in his highly acclaimed Austerity Britain David Kynaston invokes an astonishing array of vivid intimate and unselfconscious voices to drive his narrative of 1950s Britain The keen eyed Nella Last shops assiduously at Barrow Market as austerity and rationing gradually give way to relative abundance housewife Judy Haines relishing the detail of suburban life brings up her children in Chingford the self absorbed civil servant Henry St John perfects the art of grumbling These and many other voices give a rich unsentimental picture of everyday life in the 1950s Well known figures are encountered on the way such as Doris Lessing joining and later leaving the Communist Party John Arlott sticking up on Any Questions for the rights of homosexuals and Tiger s Roy of the Rovers making his goal scoring debut for Melchester All this is part of a colourful unfolding tapestry in which the great national events the Tories returning to power the death of George VI the Coronation of Queen Elizabeth the Suez Crisis jostle alongside everything that gave Britain in the 1950s its distinctive flavour Butlin s holiday camps Kenwood food mixers Hancock s Half Hour Ekco television sets Davy Crockett skiffle and teddy boys Deeply researched David Kynaston s Family Britain offers an unrivalled take on a largely cohesive ordered still very hierarchical society gratefully starting to move away from the painful hardships of the 1940s towards domestic ease and affluence

Austerity Britain, 1945-1951 David Kynaston,2010-12-01 As much as any country England bore the brunt of Germany s aggression in World War II and was ravaged in many ways at the war s end Celebrated historian David Kynaston has written an utterly original and compellingly readable account of the following six years during which the country rebuilt itself Kynaston s great genius is to chronicle the country s experience from bottom to top coursing through through the book therefore is an astonishing variety of ordinary contemporary voices eloquently and passionately evincing the country s remarkable spirit Judy Haines a Chingford housewife gamely endures the tribulations of rationing Mary King a retired schoolteacher in Birmingham observes how well fed the Queen looks during a royal visit Henry St John a persnickety civil servant in Bristol is oblivious to anyone s troubles but his own Together they present a portrait of an indomitable people and Kynaston skillfully links their stories to bigger events thought the country Their stories also jostle alongside those of more well known figures like celebrated journalist to be John Arlott making his first radio broadcast Glenda Jackson and Doris Lessing newly arrived from Africa and struck by the leveling poverty of post war Britain Kynaston deftly weaves into his story a sophisticated narrative of how the 1945 Labour government shaped the political economic and social landscape for the next three decades

Men and masculinities in modern Britain Matt Houlbrook,Katie Jones,Ben Mechen,2024-01-16 Men and masculinities provides an engaging accessible and provocative introduction to histories of masculinity for all readers interested in contemporary gender politics The book offers a critical overview of ongoing historiographical debates and the historical making of men's lives and identities and ideas of masculinity between the 1890s and the present day. In setting out a new agenda for the field it makes an ambitious argument for the importance of writing histories which are present centred and politically engaged. This means that the book engages head on with ferocious debates about men's social position and the status of masculinity in contemporary public life. In establishing a critical genealogy for the proliferation of this crisis talk it sets out new ways of understanding how men's lives and ideas of masculinity have changed over time while patriarchy and male power have persisted.

Lesbianism and the Criminal Law Caroline Derry, 2020-01-11 This book offers a comprehensive examination of the ways in which the criminal justice system of England and Wales has regulated and failed or refused to regulate lesbianism. It identifies the overarching approach as one of silencing lesbianism; has not only been ignored or regarded as unimaginable but was deliberately excluded from legal discourses. A series of case studies ranging from 1746 to 2013 from parliamentary debates to individual prosecutions shed light on the complex process of regulation through silencing. They illuminate its evolution over three centuries and explore when and why it has been breached. The answers Derry uncovers can be fully understood only in the context of surrounding social and legal developments which are also considered. Lesbianism and the Criminal Law makes an important contribution to the growing bodies of literature on feminism, sexuality and the law and the legal history of sexual offences.

Women in Twentieth-Century Europe Ann Allen, 2007-11-19 Women's lives changed more in the 20th century than in any previous century. It was a period of transformation not only of the political realm but also the household, family and workplace. Ranging widely over Europe this fascinating account is one of the first comprehensive surveys of its kind.

Family Men Laura King, 2015-01-15 Fathers are often neglected in histories of family life in Britain. Family Men provides the first academic study of fathers and families in the period from the First World War to the end of the 1950s. It takes a thematic approach examining different aspects of fatherhood from the duties it encompassed to the ways in which it related to men's identities. The historical approach is socio-cultural; each chapter examines a wide range of historical source materials in order to analyse both cultural representations of fatherhood and related social norms as well as exploring the practices and experiences of individuals and families. It uncovers the debates surrounding parenting and family life and tells the stories of men and their children. While many historians have examined men's relationship to the home and family in histories of gender, family life, domestic spaces and class cultures, more generally few have specifically examined fathers as crucial family members as historical actors and as emotional individuals. The history of fatherhood is extremely significant to contemporary debate; assumptions about fatherhood in the past are constantly used to support arguments about the state of fatherhood today and the need for change or otherwise in the future. Laura King charts men's changing experiences of fatherhood suggesting that although the roles and responsibilities fulfilled by men did not shift rapidly, their relationships, position in the family and identities underwent significant change between the start of the First World War and the 1960s.

Reproduction by Design Angus McLaren, 2012-02-01 Modernity in interwar Europe frequently took the form of a preoccupation with mechanizing the natural fears and fantasies revolved around the notion that the boundaries between people and machines were collapsing Reproduction in particular became a battleground for those debating the merits of the modern world That debate continues today and to understand the history of our anxieties about modernity we can have no better guide than Angus McLaren In Reproduction by Design McLaren draws on novels plays science fiction and films of the 1920s and 30s as well as the work of biologists psychiatrists and sexologists to reveal surprisingly early debates on many of the same questions that shape the conversation today homosexuality recreational sex contraception abortion euthanasia sex change operations and in vitro fertilization Here McLaren brings together the experience and perception of modernity with sexuality technology and ecological concerns into a cogent discussion of science's place in reproduction in British and American cultural history
