PROMISES, PROMISES: EXPLORING EROTIC RHETORIC IN SEXUALLY ORIENTED ADVERTISING

Jacqueline Lambiase and Tom Reichert

Abstract

Sexual appeals in mainstream advertising have become more graphic and used for a wider variety of brands, as societal attitudes change and as trends dictate. Although researchers have explored in some depth the ways that viewers of sexual ads process information, an important perspective has not been considered: the way sex is used or promised as a benefit of buying and using the advertised brand, along with the variety of interpretations available for this transaction. This paper's rhetorical analysis uses the tools of Kenneth Burke—his dramatic pentad particularly—to analyze advertisements representing three common sexual promises. While recognizing the richness of empirical studies, part of this analysis is a conscious stepping away from empirical research to contemplate theoretical perspectives that explore visual persuasion. In essence, this interdisciplinary project: (a) creates synergy from the oscillation between rhetorical theory and empiricism to build groundwork for future research, and (b) suggests new directions in the conversation about sexually oriented advertising.

Rosewarne,2009-03-26 Despite decades of feminist awareness and activism women continue to be portrayed in outdoor advertising in a limited and sexist manner The fact that in public space audiences are exposed to such images without choice renders the issue an important public policy concern Sex in Public utilises a large outdoor advertising data collection to examine the contemporary outdoor advertising landscape documenting the routine portrayal of women as thin white young and idle This book examines why such portrayals are concerning for feminists as well as for public policy and explores the advertising self regulation systems that facilitate the display of such images This book criticises sexist outdoor advertising as a form of sexual harassment given that imagery often bearing very strong semblance to pin ups which would be outlawed in a workplace are readily displayed in public space reflecting a troublesome public policy double standard Understanding sexist outdoor advertising as a form of sexual harassment is a new framework that Sex in Public offers to understand critique and condemn such images

World Made Sexy Paul Rutherford,2007-08-11 The cult of eroticism is a pervasive force in modern society affecting almost every aspect of our daily lives In this book Paul Rutherford argues that this phenomenon is a product of one of the major commercial and political enterprises of the twentieth and twenty first centuries the creation of desire for sex for wealth and for entertainment A World Made Sexy examines museum exhibitions art books magazines films and television to explore the popular rise of eroticism in America and across the developed world Starting with a brief foray into the history of pornography Rutherford goes on to explore a sexual liberation movement shaped by the ideas of Marx and Freud the erotic styles of Salvador Dali and pop art the pioneering use of publicity as erotica by Playboy and other media and the growing concerns of cultural critics over the emergence of a regime of stimulation In one case study Rutherford pairs James Bond and Madonna in order to examine the link between sex and aggression He details how television advertising after 1980 constructed a theatre of the libido to entice the buying public and concludes by situating the cultivation of eroticism in the wider context of Michel Foucault s views on social power and governmentality and specifically how they relate to sexuality during the modern era A World Made Sexy is about power and pleasure emancipation and domination and the relationship between the personal passions and social controls that have crafted desire

Sexuality in Marketing and Consumption Athanasia Daskalopoulou,Daniela Pirani,Jacob Ostberg,2024-08-09 This volume provides an in depth examination of the role of sexuality in consumers life course and in the marketing of products and services Leading scholars in the field define the most up to date picture of theories of sexuality in marketing and consumer research mapping the topic through diverse theoretical lenses addressing queer and feminist research and putting sexuality and consumption in context The book brings together leading international marketing scholars to build on the growing interest in theories of sexuality queer theory and intersectionality which are gaining more interest among institutions and researchers interested in equality and diversity While this book builds on existing expertise in consumer culture scholarship it is the first time a marketing book focuses on sexuality adding value to the existing repertoire in gender and feminist literature The chapters are organised into three key sections Part 1 maps the marketing and consumer research field discussing how sexuality can be studied through different lenses Part 2 focuses on queer and feminist theorising drawing on LGBTQIA theory queer theory and theories of intersectionality to analyse how overlapping social categories interact to influence consumer behaviour identity and experiences in the marketplace and Part 3 explores the personal and social aspects of sexuality offering a broad overview of issues of gender and sexuality digitalisation and the sexual body This text will be of direct interest to scholars and researchers within the fields of marketing consumer research sociology and media studies The aim of this book is to help scholars and students to develop a broader understanding about the interplay between sexuality society and the market

Imagining Organizations Paolo Quattrone,Nigel Thrift,Chris Mclean,Francois-Regis Puyou,2013-06-17 Organizations rely extensively upon a myriad of images and pictorial representations such as budgets schedules reports graphs and organizational charts to name but a few Visual images play an integral role in the process of organizing This volume argues that images in organizations are performative meaning that they can be seen as performances rather than mere representations that play a significant role in all kind of organizational activities Imagining Organizations opens up new ways of imagining business through an interdisciplinary approach that captures the role of visualizations and their performances Contributions to this volume challenge this orthodox view to explore how images in business organizing and organizations are viewed in a static and rigid form Imagining Business addresses the question of how we visualize organizations and their activities as an important aspect of managerial work focusing on practices and performances organizing and ordering and media and technologies Moreover it aims to provide a focal point for the growing collection of studies that explore how various business artifacts draw on the power of the visual to enable various forms of organizing and organizations in diverse contexts

The Routledge Companion to Marketing and Feminism Pauline Maclaran,Lorna Stevens,Olga Kravets,2022-02-25 This comprehensive and authoritative sourcebook offers academics researchers and students an introduction to and overview of current scholarship at the intersection of marketing and feminism In the last five years there has been a resurrection of feminist voices in marketing and consumer research This mirrors a wider public interest in feminism particularly in the media as well as the academy with younger women discovering that patriarchal structures and strictures still limit women s development and life opportunities The F word is back on the agenda made high profile by campaigns such as MeToo and TimesUp There is a noticeably renewed interest in feminist scholarship especially amongst younger scholars and significantly insightful interdisciplinary critiques of this new brand of feminism including the identification of a neoliberal feminism that urges professional women to achieve a work family balance on the back of other women s exploitation Consolidating existing scholarship while exploring emerging theories and ideas which will generate further feminist research this volume will be of interest to researchers academics and students in marketing and consumption studies especially those studying or researching the complex inter relationship of feminism and marketing

Male and Female Violence in Popular Media Elisa Giomi, Sveva Magaraggia, 2022-10-06 Male and Female Violence in Popular Media brings into focus the apparently symmetrical phenomena of men's violence against women and women's violence against men explaining the profound differences in their actual features as well as in their representations which over the last few years have been proliferating in a vast array of global media contents Elisa Giomi and Sveva Magaraggia consider popular media including crime TV series such as The Killing Denmark 2007 2012 The Fall UK 2013 2016 and True Detective USA 2015 factual entertainment such as Who the bleep Did I Marry Investigation Discovery 2010 2015 and Italian pop music in order to examine popular culture's depictions of men and women in their opposite yet complementary roles of perpetrators and victims They reveal how TV shows pop songs news and commercials that populate global audiences daily life fuel false beliefs about love and sexuality that either legitimate or stigmatise violence depending on the perpetrators and victims gender

Psychoanalytic Accounts of Consuming Desire John Desmond, 2012-11-28 Provides an accessible introduction to psychoanalytic explanations of consumer desire Topics are drawn widely to reflect the scope of Freud's vision and include dreams, sexuality and hysteria. Discussion is widened to selectively include authors such as Melanie Klein and Jacques Lacan and to include evaluation of current research. Female Fans of the NFL Anne

Cunningham Osborne, Danielle Sarver Coombs, 2015-09-16 In the past sport particularly football has been defined as a male domain. Women's interest stereotypically ranges from gentle tolerance to active resistance. But increasingly women are proudly identifying themselves as supporters of their teams and have become highly desirable audiences for sport organizations and merchandisers. Football provides a unique site at which to examine the complex interplay between three theoretical areas: identity formation and maintenance, commercialization of cultural practices and gender hegemony. This book explores how women experience their fandom and what barriers exist for the female fan. Mass Media Revolution

Identity in the New Russia Graham Roberts, 2016-04-14 As shopping has been transformed from a chore into a major source of hedonistic pleasure, a specifically Russian consumer culture has begun to emerge that is unlike any other. This book examines the many different facets of consumption in today's Russia, including retailing, advertising and social networking. Throughout, emphasis is placed on the inherently visual, not to say spectacular, nature both of consumption generally and of Russian consumer culture in particular. Particular attention is paid to the ways in which brands, both Russian and foreign, construct categories of identity in order to claim legitimacy for themselves. What emerges is a fascinating picture of how consumer culture is being reinvented in Russia today in a society which has one nostalgic eye turned towards the past and the other utopian eye set firmly on the future. Borrowing concepts from both marketing and cultural studies, the approach throughout is interdisciplinary and will be of considerable interest to researchers, students and practitioners wishing to gain invaluable insights into one of the most lucrative and exciting of today's emerging markets. The Better Mousetrap Simon Pont, 2012-11-03 Advertising can be great. Great advertising that is. Brands live or die on the power of their advertising and the advertiser's role is to build better mousetraps. But why do we love certain brands and passionately or indifferently reject the rest? What do our brands say about us? And why do we feel so compelled to use digital brands to say even more? Advertising has always been the hard sell and subtle hustle that piques our interest and gets us thinking I WANT that, but in a world that now moves with binary speed, the Brand Game is taking ever new and remarkable turns in its pursuit of better and faster mice. A provocative and insightful look at the chase. The Better Mousetrap lifts the lid on the brand and advertising strategies of leading companies who in a world redefined by digital media are setting the best traps for these ever quicker mice.
