Ritchie, 2005-03-15 Donald Ritchie offers a vibrant chronicle of news coverage in our nation's capital from the early days of radio and print reporting and the heyday of the wire services to the brave new world of the Internet Beginning with 1932 when a newly elected FDR energized the sleepy capital Ritchie highlights the dramatic changes in journalism that have occurred in the last seven decades We meet legendary columnists including Walter Lippmann Joseph Alsop and Drew Pearson as well as the great investigative reporters from Paul Y Anderson to the two green Washington Post reporters who launched the political story of the decade Woodward and Bernstein We read of the rise of radio news fought tooth and nail by the print barons and of such pioneers as Edward R Murrow H V Kaltenborn and Elmer Davis Ritchie also offers a vivid history of TV news from the early days of Meet the Press to Huntley and Brinkley and Walter Cronkite to the cable revolution led by C SPAN and CNN In addition he compares political news on the Internet to the alternative press of the 60s and 70s describes how black reporters slowly broke into the white press corps helped mightily by FDR's White House discusses path breaking woman reporters such as Sarah McClendon and Helen Thomas and much more From Walter Winchell to Matt Drudge the people who cover Washington politics are among the most colorful and influential in American news Reporting from Washington offers an unforgettable portrait of these figures as well as of the dramatic changes in American journalism in the twentieth century      Journalism at the End of the American Century, 1965-Present James Brian McPherson, 2006-06-30 McPherson captures the best and worst aspects of American journalism since 1965 The press has evolved into a conglomeration of entities that today can be described as pervasive entertaining and justifiably mistrusted In some ways today's press offers the best journalism Americans have ever seen In other ways the modern news media fall short of the ideals held by most of those who care about journalism and far short of the promise they once seemed to offer in terms of helping create an enlightened democracy Neither a paean to the press nor an exercise in media bashing this book finds much to criticize and to praise about recent American journalism while illustrating that traditional journalistic values have diminished in importance not just for many of those who control the media but also for the media consumers who most need good journalism Chapters are devoted to various themes that include social unrest the influence of entertainment values technological shifts media consolidation and corporatization issues of content versus context new kinds of news media and why the 1970s may have been the high point of American journalism Events and issues given extra attention include the rise of television news and later CNN the Civil Rights Movement and other race related issues the Women s Movement various forms of alternative journalism wars in Vietnam and Iraq investigative journalism the World Trade Center attacks the Clinton Lewinsky scandal the 2000 and 2004 presidential campaigns and elections civic journalism and journalism scandals Weaponized Lies Daniel J.

Character Deborah L. Rhode, 2019-08-02 Americans claim to care about character Over four fifths want it taught in public schools and 95 percent think that a president's character is important And historically philosophers educators politicians religious leaders judges and the general public have agreed that character should be valued and reinforced Yet in the United States the institutions charged with that mission have consistently fallen short Simply put too little effort has been made to understand the importance of character and the strategies that can best develop and support it After first exploring the history of the concept over time Deborah Rhode turns her focus to the institutions that have traditionally fostered good character families schools youth organizations civic groups and political organizations However as we have increasingly de-emphasized the subject a trend that is most evident in our politics our awareness of its shaping influence has waned Indeed we often focus on the wrong things when it comes to fostering good character For instance almost a third of the workforce is covered by licensing laws requiring good moral character even occupations where the need for screening is not self-evident florist fortune teller and frog farmers Character also plays a pivotal role in the criminal justice system in defining guilt punishment and eligibility for parole All too often these legal requirements are idiosyncratic inequitable and subject to race and class bias Millions of Americans who have convictions for minor offenses are excluded from a vast range of occupations and benefits without evidence that such exclusion serves the public interest We can do better she stresses and outlines a powerful program for reform Rhode punctuates the book through a series of portraits of exemplary individuals whose good character made them who they were Ida B Wells Jane Addams Martin Luther King Mother Teresa Nelson Mandela Albert Schweitzer and Thurgood Marshall All of these individuals had flaws but through their commitments to both social justice and helping the less fortunate they all demonstrate the power and importance of strong character

information is at last coming to an end in large part because journalists continue to deny the bias that infects their news coverage His unrivaled expertise allows him to show readers exactly how the media landscape is changing and to expose the even bigger changes that are coming Marshaling an astonishing amount of evidence Bozell documents exactly how the news media deliberately attempt to set the national agenda through their slanted coverage In the process he destroys the arguments that Franken and many other left wing commentators have put forward regarding media bias Weapons of Mass Distortion also reveals How the liberal media s slanted coverage of President George W Bush will play a huge role in the 2004 elections Why liberals claims about the influence of Fox News and the conservative media are wrong and deliberately misleading How the mainstream press has waged war on the war on terrorism Never before told stories of how leading journalists behind the scenes betray the liberal bias they so forcefully deny in public incidents that Bozell has witnessed firsthand How the same journalists who condemn the Right for hate speech regularly launch and get away with vicious personal attacks on conservatives Clear evidence that the major news outlets are hemorrhaging viewers readers and listeners precisely because of their liberal bias By dominating the news media for so long liberals have been able to control what we see and hear But as Bozell makes clear the Left will lose that control soon enough Heterodoxy ,1998
