Cancer Causes and Control Volumes in this series will summarize the state of the science from causes to prevention of cancer. The scope will be international. The past 20 years has seen an explosion of epidemiologic material on the causes of cancer. Examples include the growing number of studies of physical activity and colon cancer which have emerged and the numerous studies of components of diet such as alcohol and the risk of specific cancers. Major shifts in resource allocation now focus on translation of this new knowledge to actual cancer prevention programs. Researchers, practicing clinicians and those who write and implement public health policy need this information summarized in an easily accessible format. The abundance of knowledge increasing understanding of how to communicate risk of cancer to the public and greater public awareness of cancer make the coming years ones in which we will see many new attempts at widespread cancer prevention programs. For example, the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention launched a national colon cancer awareness campaign in early 1999.

Occupational Cancers Sisko Anttila, Paolo Boffetta, 2020-02-10. This revised and updated new edition of a successful book is a multidisciplinary comprehensive guide to occupational factors of malignant diseases. Building on the first edition, new research discoveries and their consequences in our understanding on carcinogenic mechanisms, diagnosis and attribution of occupational cancers are discussed. Examples of such discoveries are germline and acquired mutations of BAP1 in malignant mesothelioma which have led to changes in diagnostic criteria and carcinogen specific genetic and epigenetic alterations in lung cancer. There are several new chapters including gastrointestinal cancers, epidemiology of lung cancer, cancer of thyroid and the role of primary health care in occupational cancer control. Occupational Cancers is aimed at experienced and trainee oncologists, pathologists, clinicians in occupational health and pulmonologists as well as epidemiologists, clinical researchers, lawyers and public health officials.
