Ransom, Petra Kaczensky, 2016-06 Readers will find new insight into the lives of the world's horses zebras and asses understand the basis of our relationships with these animals and develop a greater understanding of where equids come from and why they are worth conserving Included in this book are detailed state of the science syntheses on Social structure behavior and cognition Habitat and diet Ecological niches Population dynamics Roles of humans in horse distribution through time Human dimensions and the meaning of wild Management of free roaming horses Captive breeding of wild equids Conservation of wild equids Conservation of migrations Reintroductions Genetics and paleogenetics Reintroduction of Top-Order Predators Matt W. Hayward, Michael Somers, 2009-05-06 Large predators are among the most threatened species on the planet and ways of conserving them in the face of increasing human populations and associated resource requirements are becoming critical This book draws upon the experiences of some of the world's foremost large carnivore specialists to discuss the numerous issues associated reintroducing large predators back into their natural habitats Reviews of internationally renowned reintroduction programs for wolves European lynx and African wild dog reveal the successes and failures of these actions Experts on tigers snow leopards and jaguars contend that there are other conservation options of higher priority that will ensure their security in the long term Other experts discuss more theoretical aspects such as whether we know enough about these species to be able to predict their behavioural or ecological response to the reintroduction process Social economic political and genetic considerations are also addressed Cattle, Their Predators and Geomatics Research Michael O'Neal Campbell, 2025-08-06 Cattle are currently the most important domesticated mammals with populations numbering in the hundreds of millions and occupying large tracts of land while the conservation of large mammalian carnivores is becoming a dominant discourse in modern geopolitics also claiming large portions of the Earth's land surface Computer based surveying and communication systems including geomatics Big Data and Big Tech are becoming an essential part of human communication and environmental assessments and are critical to large scale assessments of land conflicts A current critical potent but neglected issue concerns the measurement of the interfaces of large carnivore and cattle ecologies in a cross continental format This book offers a novel approach to the interfaces of the sciences of conservation biology animal ecology agricultural development and geomatics which are increasingly interconnected in modern global development scenarios For animal ecology and conservation biology it is about the management systems that have developed from ecological and human parameters For agricultural development topics concern ancestral development physiological characteristics ecological requirements and predation opportunities and conflicts of cattle breeds For geomatics the topics concern the image based and survey based technologies that enable more critical environmental assessments The book takes a novel approach by examining the ancestry of cattle including the aurochs and current wild buffalos gaur banteng yaks bison the process of domestication into taurine and indicine cattle the semi domestication of yaks and water buffalo the ecologies of ancestral and modern large carnivores including bears big cats and canids and how the requirements of these large charismatic mammals conflict with the requirements of cattle and agricultural development in Asia Europe Africa North America and South America This integrative approach contributes to the interests of academic researchers students practitioners and policy makers and general readers Wild Beasts Evade

Laura Anderson,AI,2025-02-27 Wild Beasts Evade explores the sophisticated survival strategies employed by forest animals to avoid predators emphasizing the critical roles of noise perception and spatial awareness These animals aren t just relying on instinct they ve developed finely tuned mechanisms to interpret auditory cues and assess distances turning potential threats into manageable risks The book reveals how animals differentiate between harmless sounds and the telltale signs of predators using spatial reasoning to navigate escape routes This approach integrates auditory and spatial cognition moving beyond the traditional emphasis on visual cues Each chapter builds upon the previous starting with fundamental concepts of predator prey interactions and progressing to specific aspects of auditory predator detection and distance assessment The book synthesizes findings from field observations and experimental studies providing a comprehensive overview of predator prey dynamics and offering valuable insights into animal behavior ecology and conservation efforts Apex Predators:

Africa's Big Five and Other Wildlife Filmmakers Jean Hartley, 2010 Jean Hartley born in Kenya is acknowledged as being the first to legitimise fixing for wildlife film crews Over the last 25 years she has worked on over a thousand films the vast majority being about wildlife and nature She features five of the great film makers who all started their careers in Kenya in the 1950s legends whom she is proud to call personal friends Watching all of their films and many more she became fascinated by the history of film making in Kenya and determined to find out when it all started In this insightful book she traces the roots of wildlife film back a hundred years drawing on accounts of the original film makers and the professional hunters who guided those early safaris She tracks the changes from those grainy speeded up silent films through to the technologically perfect High Definition and 3D films that are being made today

African Predators M. G. L. Mills, Martin Harvey, 2001 The large carnivores reign supreme in the African wild superior powerful skillful and feared From the big cats to the endangered wild dog and Ethiopian wolf the often maligned hyenas and the opportunistic jackal these hunters captivate fascinate and excite and provide the raw drama of Africa sought after by many wildlife lovers This text brings many years of study and practical research in revealing the origins the present struggle for survival and the uncertain future of Africa's predatory mammals. The examination of their behaviour, social make up, relations and interactions is supported by dramatic photography. The Palgrave Handbook of African Colonial and Postcolonial History Martin S. Shanguhya, Toyin Falola, 2018-01-28. This wide ranging volume presents the most complete appraisal of modern African history to date. It assembles dozens of new and established scholars to tackle the questions and subjects that define the field ranging from the economy, the two world wars, nationalism, decolonization and postcolonial politics to religion, development, sexuality and the African youth experience. Contributors are drawn from numerous fields in African studies including art, music, literature, education and anthropology. The themes they cover illustrate the depth of modern African history and the diversity and originality of lenses available for examining it. Older themes in the field have been treated to an engaging re-assessment while new and emerging themes are situated as the book's core strength. The result is a comprehensive vital picture of where the field of modern African history stands today. The Rise of Conservation in South Africa William Beinart, 2008-05-29. A major contribution to the environmental history of settler societies. William Beinart's innovative study analyses the development of conservationist ideas over the long term in South Africa, examining them as a response to the rapid transformation of natural pastures brought about as the Cape became a major exporter of wool.

Proceedings of the Congress of the International Union of Game Biologists, XXII Congress International Union of Game Biologists. Congress, 1996. This volume contains 104 papers divided in 5 sections: 1. Ornithofauna, 2. Wild mammals, 3. Game management, 4. Game diseases, 5. History and culture of hunting. Most papers are in English, some in German, French and Russian. A colour supplement presents information on hunting societies and forests in Bulgaria, discussing management and culling techniques as well as village level eco-preservation. The Biology and Conservation of Wild Canids David W. Macdonald, Claudio Sillero-Zubiri, 2004-06-24. No group of wild mammals so universally captures the emotions of people world wide than do wild canids. That emotion can be enchantment and fascination but it can also be loathing because the opportunism that is the hallmark of the dog family also leads them into conflict with humans. In the developed world at least the fascination with wild canids doubtless stems from people's captivation with domestic dogs; everybody feels they are an expert on canids. While most people may be familiar with only the better known members of the dog family such as the grey wolf and the red fox, there are in fact 36 species of wolves, dogs, jackals and foxes. They attract hugely disproportionate interest from academics, conservationists, veterinarians, wildlife managers and the general public. This book brings together in single volume an astonishing synthesis of research done in the last twenty years and is the first truly compendious synthesis on wild canids. Beginning with a complete account of all 36 canid species, there follow six review chapters that emphasise topics most relevant to canid conservation science including evolution and systematics, behavioural ecology, population genetics, diseases, conflict control of troublesome species and conservation tools. Fifteen detailed case studies then delve deeply into the very best species investigations currently available, written by all the leading figures in the field. Much of the material is previously unpublished and will make fascinating reading far beyond the confines of canid specialists. These chapters portray the unique attributes of wild canids, their fascinating and conflictive relationship with man, and suggestions for future research and conservation measures for the Canidae. While most canid species are widespread and thrive in human-dominated landscapes, several are in severe jeopardy: habitat loss, illegal hunting, persecution by farmers, and disease all imperil dwindling populations. A final chapter analyses the requirements of and approaches to practical conservation with lessons that go far beyond the dog family. It concentrates particular attention on priorities for the protection of the most threatened canid species, including the red wolf, African wild dog, Ethiopian wolf, Island fox, and Darwin's fox. The wild canids provide examples that will thrill the evolutionary biologist and theoretician, enthral the natural historian, and challenge the conservationist and wildlife manager. Anybody interested in evolutionary and behavioural biology in mammals in the environment or in conservation will find much that is new and enriching in this book.
