Religion Intergroup Relations And Social Change In South Africa:

Religion, Intergroup Relations, and Social Change in South Africa G. C. Oosthuizen, 1988 A complex and unpredictable factor in the explosive South African conflict the Christian churches will almost certainly play a key role in its ultimate resolution This book which is based on a four year research project explores the possible dimensions of that role through a systematic examination of the connections between religion and the social political and economic life of the nation Focusing on critical issues in the current debate the authors look at how religion and religious attitudes function in facilitating or restraining social change and what consequences this may hold for South Africa s future The authors begin by describing the social role fo religion in South Africa together with the particular issues that have drawn churches into the debate They provide comprehensive profiles of the patterns of religious affiliation and attitudes that characterize contemporary South Africa Next they assess the social impact of various denominations and movements including Afrikaner civil religion the Black indigenous churches and pietistic religious groups Ongoing theological debates on human rights racial equality the power structure of society and the question of violence are considered in detail The concluding chapter integrates the findings of the study and considers religious values as an instrument for developing social consciousness and a commitment to universal justice This authoritative analysis of the broader dimensions of religion in South Africa makes a significant contribution to our understanding of religion as a factor in contemporary social and political processes It will be of interest to students and specialists in African studies and to scholars concerned with the role of religion in the modern world

Study of Religion in Southern Africa Johannes Smit, Pratap Kumar, 2018-08-14 This collection of essays is brought together in the honour of Gerhardus Cornelis Pippin Oosthuizen on his eighty third birthday Pippin has been one of the most significant religion researchers and prolific Humanities publishers South Africa has ever produced Among his friends and colleagues are some of the most important scholars of religion in South Africa and elsewhere With his critical acumen and insightful understanding of the ebb and flow of the South African socio political landscape of the last fifty odd years he has been a distinguished leader in research and has been honoured with Honorary doctorates from South Africa s leading universities This collection constitutes a small token of appreciation for his more than fifty years in academia and his academic leadership

Explorations in the Sociology of Language and Religion Tope Omoniyi, Joshua A. Fishman, 2006-08-17 The Sociology of Language and Religion SLR is still in its infancy as a sub discipline in the macrosociolinguistic tradition It is therefore no coincidence that the editorial collaboration to produce its first definitive text Explorations in the Sociology of Language and Religion has involved Joshua A Fishman often cited in the literature as one of the founders of the Sociology of Language Tope Omoniyi brings to the collaboration an insightful and incisive critical eye for engaging with diversity in the treatment of language and religion Together as editors they have successfully midwived the birth of SLR The studies and debates contained in this volume revisit those themes that both of the contributory disciplines of Sociology of Language and Religion have common interest in The contributing authors explore new methodologies and paradigms of analysis that they deem appropriate for this interesting and complex interface in an attempt to demonstrate how the shared interests of these disciplines impact social practices in various communities around the world The ultimate objective of the discussions is to fashion tools for creating a body of new knowledge that supports the emergence of a better society Towards this end the authors have harnessed resources from varied geographical cultural linguistic and religious constituencies without compromising analytical depth In the process they have opened up new areas of sociolinguistic inquiry The volume is thus presented as a highly useful reference resource both for undergraduate and postgraduate scholarship Religious

Conversion Christopher Lamb,M. Darroll Bryant,1999-10-01 Conversion has been an important issue for most of the universal religions those usually associated with a founder such as Christianity Buddhism Islam and Judaism which have a mission to spread their message Other religions have been less concerned with conversion except in so far as it has been a negative force for them to confront This study explores how conversion has been understood by different religions during different eras and includes a survey of the textual legal ritual historic and experiential dimensions of the phenomenon of conversion Christianity Amidst Apartheid Martin Prozesky,1990-03-15 This book contains chapters by 14 prominent figures offering information on key issues concerning the Christian faith in South Africa Three quarters of South Africans regard themselves as Christians The story of the gospel of love and its interplay with politics is the theme pursued here

Religious Plurality in Africa Jacob K. Olupona,Sulayman S. Nyang,2013-03-01 The series Religion and Society RS contributes to the exploration of religions as social systems both in Western and non Western societies in particular it examines religions in their differentiation from and intersection with other cultural systems such as art economy law and politics Due attention is given to paradigmatic case or comparative studies that exhibit a clear theoretical orientation with the empirical and historical data of religion and such aspects of religion as ritual the religious imagination constructions of tradition iconography or media In addition the formation of religious communities their construction of identity and their relation to society and the wider public are key issues of this series Religious Human Rights in Global Perspective John Witte,Johan D. van der Vyver,2023-07-24 In this Dickensian century of human rights the world has cultivated the best of religious rights protections but witnessed the worst of religious rights abuses In this volume Jimmy Carter John T Noonan Jr and a score of leading jurists assess critically and comparatively the religious rights laws and practices of the international community and of selected states in the Atlantic continents This volume and its companion Religious Human Rights in Global Perspective Religious Perspectives are products of an ongoing project on religion human rights and democracy undertaken by the Law and Religion Program at Emory University Law and Religion in Africa Pieter Coertzen,M Christiaan Green,Len Hansen,2015-05-01 In our time the study of law and religion is emerging as a wide ranging and vital academic discipline with increasingly urgent implications for society at large Lying at the intersection of a variety of other disciplines law theology religious studies political science sociology and anthropology to name only the most obvious the field of law and religion is generating a burgeoning volume of interdisciplinary and trans disciplinary research and study The current volume is proof of this The discussion of the relationship between law and religion as seen from a variety of perspectives in Africa underscores the critical importance of the issues involved in the everyday life of all citizens It is accordingly vital for governments to take note of the scholarly results that are produced We hope that this volume will contribute to this aim

Values and Radical Social Change Edmund Wnuk-Lipiński, 1998 Power and Beliefs in South Africa Klaus Nürnberger, 1988 Sociopolitical Changes and the Challenge to Christianity in South Africa University of South Africa. Research Institute for Theology and Religion. Symposium, 1994 This collection of papers was presented at the eighteenth symposium of the Research Institute for Theology and Religion Unisa in 1994 The transition to a full democracy has been something of a bloodless revolution in South Africa but a post apartheid society can only remain bloodless if it is complemented by many smaller revolutions These smaller revolutions are mainly concerned with the reconstruction process which takes place not only on a physical level but also has to do with changed attitudes and a reconstruction of minds The contributions in this book deal with very real issues like societal trends economic and legal realities and the psychological effects of change on people This book explores the problems and the opportunities of the challenge to Christianity in South Africa that sociopolitical change poses The Scriptures of the amaNazaretha of EKuphaKameni Isaiah Shembe, 1993 Considerable controversy has been generated about the exact nature of the movements known as African Independent Churches Are they as some writers suggest simply African adaptations of Christianity or are they new religions in their own right To date most of the people arguing about these issues have lacked access to the sacred scriptures of the movements they claim to study This translation presents for the first time in English the major scriptures of the best known of all African Independent Churches the amaNazaretha of South Africa The translation of the Zulu prophet Isaiah Shembe's work was made by his grandson Londa Shembe who succeeded his father as the third Shembe prophet of the church at the holy city of EKuphaKameni Now the key scriptures of the amaNazaretha of EKuphaKameni are available in English Cultural Synergy in South Africa Melissa E.
