DeBernardi,2006 The Way That Lives in the Heart is a richly detailed ethnographic analysis of the practice of Chinese religion in the modern multicultural Southeast Asian city of Penang Malaysia The book conveys both an understanding of shared religious practices and orientations and a sense of how individual men and women imagine represent and transform popular religious practices within the time and space of their own lives This work is original in three ways First the author investigates Penang Chinese religious practice as a total field of religious practice suggesting ways in which the religious culture including spirit mediumship has been transformed in the conjuncture with modernity Second the book emphasizes the way in which socially marginal spirit mediums use a religious anti language and unique religious rituals to set themselves apart from mainstream society Third the study investigates Penang Chinese religion as the product of a specific history rather than presenting an overgeneralized overview that claims to represent a single Chinese religion

South Asian Religions Karen Pechilis, Selva J. Raj, 2013 The religious landscape of South Asia is complex and fascinating While existing literature tends to focus on the majority religions of Hinduism and Buddhism much less attention is given to Jainism Sikhism Islam or Christianity While not neglecting the majority traditions this valuable resource also explores the important role which the minority traditions play in the religious life of the subcontinent covering popular as well as elite expressions of religious faith By examining the realities of religious life and the ways in which the traditions are practised on the ground this book provides an illuminating introduction to religion in South Asia
