Remembering James Agee:

Remembering James Agee David Madden, 1974 Remembering James Agee David Madden, Jeffrey Jay Folks, 1997
Novelist poet screenwriter journalist film critic and cult hero James Agee was a man of many talents This collection examines Agee's achievements from the perspective of family members friends and contemporaries to create a multifaceted portrait of a dynamic and influential man Included are recollections and commentary from Agee's widow his lifelong friend and teacher Father Flye his editor David McDowell and other notables including John Huston Andrew Lytle and Walker Evans with whom Agee collaborated on Let Us Now Praise Famous Men For this edition the editors have added new insights from such luminaries as Robert Fitzgerald Dwight Macdonald and Frederick Manfred along with Agee critics Scott Bates Edward Carlos James Lee Edwin M Sterling and William Stott In addition editor Jeffrey J Folks has contributed a new preface outlining the state of Agee criticism in the years since the first edition was published in 1974 With liveliness and candor Remembering James Agee evokes the life and personality of a writer and critic who holds a unique place in American letters Agee Ross Spears, 1985 James Agee and the Legend of Himself Alan Spiegel, 1998 James Agee's literary reputation has grown enormously since his death in 1955 He wrote novels short stories poetry film criticism screenplays and investigative journalism but these accomplishments earned him only a modest public reputation during his brief life Ironically Agee's greatest recognition as a writer came posthumously when his novel A Death in the Family won the Pulitzer Prize In James Agee and the Legend of Himself Alan Spiegel examines these accomplishments and treats Agee not simply as a celebrity journalist or Depression writer but as a self-interrogating literary artist who created a homemade legend from his earliest family memories sifting his experience through an automythology composed of his mother his father and himself New Critical Essays on James Agee and Walker Evans C. Blinder, 2010-08-30 Coinciding with the increasing intersections between visual and literary studies this timely reappraisal of Let Us Now Praise Famous Men sheds light on the book's unclassifiable status as part imaginative fiction documentary effort ethnographic study and modernist prose Agee at 100 Michael A. Lofaro, 2012-02-25 Drawn mainly from the centennial anniversary symposium on James Agee held at the University of Tennessee in the fall of 2009 the essays of Agee at 100 are as diverse in topic and purpose as is Agee's work itself Often devalued during his life by those who thought his breadth a hindrance to greatness Agee's achievements as a poet novelist journalist essayist critic documentarian and screenwriter are now more fully recognized With its use of previously unknown and recently recovered materials as well as established works this groundbreaking new collection is a timely contribution to the resurgence of interest in Agee's significance The essays in this collection range from the scholarly to the personal and all offer insight into Agee's writing his cultural influence and ultimately Agee himself Dwight Garner opens with his reflective essay on Why Agee Matters Several essays present almost entirely new material on Agee Paul Ashdown writes on Agee's book reviews which unlike Agee's film criticism have received scant attention With evidence from two largely unstudied manuscripts Jeffrey Couchman sets the record straight on Agee's contribution to the screenplay for The African Queen and delves as well into his television miniseries screenplay Mr Lincoln John Wranovics treats Agee's lesser known films the documentaries In the Street and The Quiet One and the Filipino epic Genghis Khan Jeffrey J Folks wrestles with Agee's culture of repudiation while James A Crank investigates his perplexing treatment of race in his prose Jesse Graves and Andrew Crooke provide new analyses of Let Us Now Praise Famous Men and Michael A Lofaro and Philip Stogdon both discuss Lofaro's recently restored text of A Death in the Family David Madden closes the collection with his short story Seeing Agee in Lincoln an imagined letter from Agee to his longtime confidante Father Flye The contributors to Agee at 100 utilize materials new and old to reveal the true importance of Agee's range of cultural sensibility and literary ability Film scholars will also find this collection particularly engrossing as will anyone fascinated by the work of the author rightly deemed the sovereign prince of the English language

The Making of James Agee Hugh Davis, 2008 Wildly productive during his short life James Agee 1909-1955 is today perhaps best remembered as a novelist his posthumously published A Death in the Family won a Pulitzer Prize in 1958 but he was also a poet screenwriter journalist essayist book reviewer and movie critic In The Making of James Agee Hugh Davis takes a comprehensive look at Agee's career showing the interrelatedness of his concerns as a writer A full view of Agee's oeuvre Davis argues illuminates its deeply political nature as well as a debt to various sources particularly European surrealism that have been little noted by previous Agee scholars Davis challenges the view of Agee that has persisted since his death that he is best understood primarily as a romantic individualist at odds with convention and the literary mainstream and argues that this myth was largely constructed by friends and associates who were so immersed in the tenets of modernism that they distorted Agee's work and aesthetic intent in an attempt to purify it in modernist terms In revealing a writer of far greater complexity than the Agee myth allows Davis explores for example the leftist poetry that Agee wrote in the 1930s which was almost completely suppressed by his editors He also throws a fresh light on Agee's collaboration with photographer Walker Evans on Let Us Now Praise Famous Men and reevaluates A Death in the Family in light of recent scholarship that has produced an almost entirely new version of the novel one much closer to Agee's original intentions A much needed corrective to the many misconceptions about Agee Davis's study is a provocative and lucidly written work that is certain to spark new dialogues about one of the most fascinating figures in twentieth century American literature

Brown, 2024-01-12 One of the most gifted of America's writers James Rufus Agee 1909-1955 spent a third of his short life in Tennessee yet no biographical treatment until this one has so fully explored his roots in the state In Rufus Paul F. Brown draws deeply on a trove of journals letters interviews and contemporaneous newspaper accounts to produce a captivating portrait of Agee's boyhood Brown meticulously delineates Agee's family history his earliest years as a sensitive child growing up in Knoxville's Fort Sanders neighborhood and the traumatic event that marked his sixth year his father's death in an automobile accident Young Rufus as his family always called him revered his father and would use his memories of the tragedy to create his most enduring work of fiction the Pulitzer Prize winning A Death in the Family Just a few years after his father was killed Agee's mother placed him in the St. Andrew's School for Mountain Boys near Sewanee Tennessee where he would meet his mentor and lifelong friend Father James Flye these experiences would inspire Agee's poignant novella The Morning Watch Another year in Knoxville followed and then his mother newly remarried whisked him away to New England where he would complete his education at Phillips Exeter Academy and Harvard Brown's account deftly reconstructs various settings the young Agee encountered including not only turn of the century Knoxville and St. Andrew's but also the mountain hamlet of LaFollette his father's hometown and the complex family relationships that swirled around the young writer to be Brown also explores Knoxville's belated discovery of its famous son initiated when Hollywood came to town in 1962 to film All the Way Home an adaptation of A Death in the Family Notable commemorations including academic seminars a public park and a street named in Agee's honor would come later as the writer's posthumous reputation bloomed And now with Rufus we have the definitive account of how it all began

Agee James Agee, Robert Coles, 1985 James Agee in Context Michael A. Lofaro, 2023-01-17 It's difficult to overestimate the impact of the many new works by James Agee uncovered and published in the last twenty years These previously unknown primary works have in turn encouraged a parallel explosion of critical evaluation and reevaluation by scholars to which James Agee in Context is the latest contribution This superb collection from well-known James Agee scholars features myriad approaches and contexts for understanding the author's fiction poetry journalism and screenwriting The essays bring the reader from the streets of James Agee's New York to travel with the author from Alabama to Hollywood to Havana Contributors explore overlapping and sometimes unique subjects themes and accomplishments or lack thereof in Agee's uncovered works and highlight the diversity of interest that Agee's complete body of work inspires The insightful scholarship on influence examines connections between Agee and Wright Morris Helen Levitt John Dos Passos Ernest Hemingway and Stephen Crane Such juxtapositions serve to illustrate how Agee drew on literary influences as a young man how he used his work as a journalist to craft fiction as he was about to turn thirty and his influence upon others The volume concludes with three poems and a short story by Agee all previously unknown It seems astonishing that so much remains to be discovered about this protean author his materials and his circle Yet the recovery and analysis of neglected texts and information mined from newspapers and magazines proves the extent to which Agee kept his mind and his work as he himself put it patiently concentrated upon the essential quietudes of the human soul Life Sketches John
