Lanham, MD: University Press Of America (February 26, 1998)

This book is a study of the interaction between liberal economic and political reforms in Nigeria between 1983 and 1993. The work investigates the causes and outcome of the Nigerian state's decision to undertake a simultaneous, dual transition. It considers the role of the state, multilateral organizations and domestic politics as potential causes of policy and the dynamic interaction between economic and political processes during the transition as determinants of the outcome. Few studies focus on the interaction between the role of the multilaterals, external creditors, and the state as well as the state and powerful domestic actors as determinants of development strategy on contemporary Africans. Nigeria's dual transition reveals complex power struggles by these domestic and international actors. By providing evidence of the dynamic interaction between state, society, and external forces during a period of grave economic crisis, the underlying power relations which shaped the possibility of economic recovery and democracy become evident. This book advances interdisciplinary, theoretical dialogue and contributes to policy studies by analyzing the interaction of policymaking with socioeconomic and political outcomes.

Sapped Democracy:

The New African Diaspora in North America Kwadwo Konadu-Agyemang, Baffour K. Takyi, John A. Arthur, 2006-01-01 The New African Diaspora in North America brings together sociologists social workers geographers economists anthropologists and others to explore the African immigrant experience from a multi disciplinary perspective The contributors shed light on the factors behind the increasing wave in African immigration to the U S and Canada the socio economic characteristics of African immigrants their spatial distribution obstacles and contributions Despite their increasing presence African immigrant groups in the U S and Canada have engendered relatively little scholarly research on their pre and post migration experience This collection helps fill that void and will be valuable reading for anyone interested in African Diaspora studies African Traditions in the Study of Religion, Diaspora and Gendered Societies Ezra Chitando, 2016-04-01 The historiography of African religions and religions in Africa presents a remarkable shift from the study of Africa as Object to Africa as Subject thus translating the subject from obscurity into the global community of the academic study of religion This book presents a unique multidisciplinary exploration of African Traditions in the Study of Religion Diaspora and Gendered Societies The book is structured under two main sections The first provides insights into the interface between Religion and Society The second features African Diaspora together with Youth and Gender which have not yet featured prominently in studies on religion in Africa Contributors drawn from diverse African and global contexts situate current scholarly traditions of the study of African religions within the purview of academic encounter and exchanges with non African scholars and non African contexts African scholars enrich the study of religions from their respective academic and methodological orientations Jacob Kehinde Olupona stands out as a pioneer in the socio scientific interpretation of African indigenous religion and religions in Africa and the new African Diaspora This book honours his immense contribution to an emerging field of study and research India's Nuclear Debate Priyanjali Malik, 2014-03-21 Making the right wing Bharatiya Janata Party s nuclear tests in 1998 its starting point this book examines how opinion amongst India s attentive public shifted from supporting nuclear abstinence to accepting and even feeling a need for a more assertive policy by examining the complexities of the debate in India on nuclear policy in the 1990s The study seeks to account for the shift in opinion by looking at the parallel processes of how nuclear policy became an important part of the public discourse in India and what it came to symbolise for the country s intelligentsia during this decade It argues that the pressure on New Delhi in the early 1990s to fall in line with the non proliferation regime magnified by India s declining global influence at the time caused the issue to cease being one of defence making it a focus of nationalist pride instead The country s nuclear programme thus emerged as a test of its ability to withstand external compulsions guaranteeing not so much the sanctity of its borders as a certain political idea of it that of a modern scientific and most importantly sovereign state able to defend its policies and set its goals Dewey's Critical Pragmatism Alison Kadlec, 2007-01-01 Dewey s Critical Pragmatism centers on the idea that Dewey is a more radical thinker than he has

State Fragility, State Formation, and Human Security in Nigeria M. Okome, 2013-04-17 Since the 1990s attempts at democratic transition have generated hopes for civil society as well as ambivalence about the state The interdisciplinary studies gathered here explore this dynamic through the complex interactions of state fragility self help and self organization in Nigeria Nigeria stands as a particularly interesting case as its multifaceted associational life extends far beyond civil society organizations CSOs and non governmental organizations NGOs as this volume reveals there is a third sector of Nigerian society encompassing everything from community self help programs to ethno religious affiliations to militias Some of these formations have narrow pragmatic aims while others have an explicit socio cultural or political agenda most can be understood as compensating for the state s failure to deliver services and maintain regulatory frameworks By examining the emergence of broader forms of civil society this volume considers their successes while also assessing their costs and contradictions West African Migrations M.

Okome, 2012-01-30 Drawing on the interdisciplinary research projects of scholars from various social science and humanities disciplines this book explores how African migration to Western countries after the neo liberal economic reforms of the 1980s transformed West African states and their new transnational populations in Western countries Janata, 1959 Between Citizens and the State Christopher P. Loss, 2014-04-07 This book tracks the dramatic outcomes of the federal government s growing involvement in higher education between World War I and the 1970s and the conservative backlash against that involvement from the 1980s onward Using cutting edge analysis Christopher Loss recovers higher education s central importance to the larger social and political history of the United States in the twentieth century and chronicles its transformation into a key mediating institution between citizens and the state Framed around the three major federal higher education policies of the twentieth century the 1944 GI Bill the 1958 National Defense Education Act and the 1965 Higher Education Act the book charts the federal government's various efforts to deploy education to ready citizens for the national bureaucratized and increasingly global world in which they lived Loss details the myriad ways in which academic leaders and students shaped and were shaped by the state's shifting political agenda as it moved from a preoccupation with economic security during the Great Depression to national security during World War II and the Cold War to securing the rights of African Americans women and other previously marginalized groups during the 1960s and 70s Along the way Loss reappraises the origins of higher education's current day diversity regime the growth of identity group politics and the privatization of citizenship at the close of the twentieth century At a time when people's faith in government and higher education is being sorely tested this book sheds new light on the close relations between American higher education and politics

Europe Reset Richard Youngs, 2017-10-24 In the last decade the EU has been hit by a series of crises most recently the UK's decision to leave the union following the Brexit referendum In light of this questions have been raised about the need to reform the whole model of European integration with the aim of making the union more flexible and more accountable In this book Richard Youngs proposes an alternative vision of European co-operation and shows how the EU must re-invent itself if it is to survive He argues that citizens should play a greater role in European decision making that there should be radically more flexibility in the process of integration and that Europe needs to take a new more coherent approach to questions of defence and security In proposing this model for a reset version of Europe Youngs reinvigorates the debate around the future of Europe and puts forward a new agenda for the future of the EU

Worldly Philosopher Jeremy Adelman, 2014-10-26 The life and times of one of the most provocative thinkers of the twentieth century Worldly Philosopher chronicles the times and writings of Albert O Hirschman one of the twentieth century's most original and provocative thinkers In this gripping biography Jeremy Adelman tells the story of a man shaped by modern horrors and hopes a worldly intellectual who fought for and wrote in defense of the values of tolerance and change This is the first major account of Hirschman's remarkable life and a tale of the twentieth century as seen through the story of an astute and passionate observer Adelman's riveting narrative traces how Hirschman's personal experiences shaped his unique intellectual perspective and how his enduring legacy is one of hope, open mindedness and practical idealism The Worlds of Herman Kahn Sharon Ghamari-Tabrizi, 2009-06-30

Herman Kahn was the only nuclear strategist in America who might have made a living as a standup comedian. Indeed galumphing around stages across the country joking his way through one grotesque thermonuclear scenario after another, he came frighteningly close. In telling the story of Herman Kahn whose 1960 book On Thermonuclear War catapulted him into celebrity, Sharon Ghamari Tabrizi captures an era that is still very much with us, a time whose innocent, gruesome nuclear humor and outrageous but deadly serious visions of annihilation have their echoes in the known unknowns and unknown unknowns that guide policymakers in our own embattled world. Portraying a life that combined aspects of Lenny Bruce, Hitchcock and Kubrick, Ghamari Tabrizi presents not one Herman Kahn but many, one who spoke the suffocatingly dry argot of the nuclear experts, another whose buffoonery conveyed the ingenious absurdity of it all, and countless others who capered before the public, ambiguous, baffling, always open to interpretation. This then is a story of one thoroughly strange and captivating man as well as a cultural history of our moment. In Herman Kahn's world is a critical lesson about how Cold War analysts learned to fill in the ciphers of strategic uncertainty and thus how we, as a nation, learned to live with the peculiarly inventive quality of strategy in which uncertainty generates extravagant threat scenarios. Revealing the metaphysical behind the dryly deliberate, apparently practical discussion of nuclear strategy, this book depicts the creation of a world where clever men fashion something out of nothing and establishes Herman Kahn as our first virtuoso of the unknown unknowns.

Deepening Structural Reform in Africa Ms. Laura Wallace, 1997-05-13
As Africa looks for ways to deepen and accelerate the economic reform process, what lessons can East Asia offer? This book, edited by Laura Wallace, records the proceedings of a seminar that involved a dynamic exchange of experiences by policy makers and senior government officials from Africa and East Asia and senior staff of international organizations. The seminar addressed themes such as the sequencing and pacing of structural reforms, the need for a broad political and social acceptance of change and reform, and the need for transparency and accountability in economic management. Democracy's Lawyer John Roderick Heller, J. Roderick Heller III, 2010-06
A central political figure in the first post-Revolutionary generation, Felix Grundy (1775-1840) epitomized the American democrat who so famously fascinated Alexis de Tocqueville. Born and reared on the isolated frontier, Grundy rose largely by his own ability to become the Old Southwest's greatest criminal lawyer and one of the first radical political reformers in the fledgling United States. In Democracy's Lawyer, the first comprehensive biography of Grundy since 1940, J. Roderick Heller reveals how Grundy's life typifies the archetypal post-founding fathers generation that forged America's culture and institutions. After his birth in Virginia, Grundy moved west at age five to the region that would become Kentucky, where he lost three brothers in Indian wars. He earned a law degree, joined the legislature, and quickly became Henry Clay's main rival. At age thirty-one, after rising to become chief justice of Kentucky, Grundy moved to Tennessee, where voters soon elected him to Congress In Washington Grundy proved so voracious a proponent of the War of 1812 that a popular slogan of the day blamed the war on Madison Grundy and the Devil A pivotal U S senator during the presidency of Andrew Jackson Grundy also served as Martin Van Buren s attorney general and developed a close association with his law student and political prot g James K Polk Grundy championed the ideals of the American West and as Heller demonstrates his dominating belief equality in access to power motivated many of his political battles Aristocratic federalism threatened the principles of the Revolution Grundy asserted and he opposed fetters on freedom of opportunity whether from government or entrenched economic elites Although widely known as a politician Grundy achieved even greater fame as a criminal lawyer Of the purported 185 murder defendants that he represented only one was hanged At a time when criminal trials served as popular entertainment Grundy s mere appearance in a courtroom drew spectators from miles around and his legal reputation soon spread nationwide One nineteenth century Nashvillian declared that Grundy could stand on a street corner and talk the cobblestones into life Shifting seamlessly within the worlds of law entrepreneurship and politics Felix Grundy exemplified the questing mobile society of early nineteenth century America With Democracy s Lawyer Heller firmly establishes Grundy as a powerful player and personality in early American law and politics Globalization and Marginalization Olufemi

Vaughan,2005 Africans in Global Migration John A. Arthur,Joseph Takougang,Thomas Owusu,2012-08-31 Four overarching themes underscore the essays in this book These are the creation of African diaspora community and institutional structures the structured and shared relationships among African immigrants host and homeland societies the construction and negotiation of diaspora spaces and domains racial ethnic class consciousness including identity politics and finally African migrant economic integration occupational and labor force roles and statuses and impact on host societies Each of the thematic themes has been chosen with one specific goal in mind to depict and represent the critical components in the reconstitution of the African diaspora in international migration We contextualized the themes in the African diaspora as a dynamic process involving what Paul Zeleza called the diasporization of African immigrant settlement communities in global transnational spaces These themes also reflect the diversities inherent in the diaspora communities and call attention to the fluid and dynamic boundaries within which Africans create diffuse and engage host and home societies In this context the themes outlined in this book embody the diaspora tapestries woven by the immigrants to center African social and cultural forms in their host societies and communities Collectively the themes represent pathways for the elucidation of understanding African immigrant territorialization Our purpose is to map out and identify the sources and sites for the contestations of the myriad of cultural manifestations of the new African diaspora and its depictions within the totality of the shared meanings and appropriations of the essences of African ness or African blackness The vulnerabilities struggles threats internal or external to the immigrant community and opportunities emanating from the diasporic relationships that these immigrants create are accentuated within the nexus of African global migrations We view the African diaspora in terms of spatial and geographic constructions and propagations of African cultural identities and institutional forms in global domains whose boundaries are not static but rather dynamic complex and multidimensional Simply stated we approach the African diaspora from a perspective that incorporates the historical as well as contemporary postmodern constructions of the Africa s dispersed communities and their associated transnational identity forms
