Sappho and Tulle Martial Alpha, Were Romy, 2005-01-01 Imitative Series and Clusters from Classical to Early Modern Literature Colin Burrow, Stephen J. Harrison, Martin McLaughlin, Elisabetta Tarantino, 2020-09-07 This volume shows the pervasiveness over a millennium and a half of the little studied phenomenon of multi tier intertextuality whether as linear window reference where author C simultaneously imitates or alludes to a text by author A and its imitation by author B or as multi directional imitative clusters It begins with essays on classical literature from Homer to the high Roman empire where the feature first becomes prominent then comes late antiquity a lively area of research at present and after a series of essays on European neo Latin literature from Petrarch to 1600 another area where developments are moving rapidly the volume concludes with early modern vernacular literatures Italian French Portuguese and English Most papers concern verse but prose is not ignored The introduction to the volume discusses the relevant methodological issues An Afterword outlines the critical history of window reference and includes a short essay by Professor Richard Thomas of Harvard University who coined the term in the 1980s Sappho Alphonse Daudet, 1899 *The Works of Alphonse Daudet: Sappho, to which is added Between the flies and the footlights; tr. by G. Between the flies and the footlights. Arlatan's treasure Alphonse Daudet, 1898 Consider Sappho Burning Nicholas Delbanco, 1969 Pages from the Life of a Pagan Mrs. Walter Tibbits, 1921 The Gendered 'T' in Ancient Literature Lisa Cordes, Therese Fuhrer, 2022-10-24 Considering the ubiquity of rhetorical training in antiquity the volume starts from the premise that every first person statement in ancient literature is in some way rhetorically modelled and aesthetically shaped Focusing on different types of Greek and Latin literature poetry and prose from the Archaic Age to Late Antiquity the contributions analyse the use and modelling of gender specific elements in different types of first person speech be it that the speaker is represented as the author of a work be it that they feature as characters in the work narrating their own story or that of others In doing so they do not only offer new insights into the rhetorical strategies and literary techniques used to construct a gendered I in ancient literature They also address the form and function of first person discourse in classical literature in general touching on fields of research that have increasingly come into focus in recent years such as authorship studies studies concerning the ancient notions of the literary persona as well as a historical narratology that discusses concepts such as the narrator or the literary character in ancient literary theory and practice

The last thirty years of intellectual and artistic creativity in the 20th century have been marked by gender issues Translation practice translation theory and translation criticism have also been powerfully affected by the focus on gender As a result of feminist praxis and criticism and the simultaneous emphasis on culture in translation studies translation has become an important site for the exploration of the cultural impact of gender and the gender specific influence of culture With the dismantling of universal meaning and the struggle for women's visibility in feminist work and with the interest in translation as a visible factor in cultural exchange the linking of gender and translation has created fertile ground for explorations of influence in writing rewriting and reading Translation and Gender places recent work in translation against the background of the women's movement and its critique of patriarchal language It explains translation practices derived from experimental feminist writing the development of openly interventionist translation strategies the initiative to retranslate fundamental texts such as the Bible translating as a way of recuperating writings lost in patriarchy and translation history as a means of focusing on women translators of the past
